MANILA, P. I., Dec. 10 [Wednesday].—United States bombers have done heavy damage to Japanese naval units, scoring direct hits on three transports, one of which capsized, it was reported today in a communique issued from the headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander in the Philippines.

The communique also said that Japanese troops were in "heavy force off the northern coast of Luzon [island], extending from Vigan to Aparri."

Ship Yards at Vigan.

Previously, the Philippine constabulary reported that Japanese forces had landed at Vigan, on the west coast of Luzon, approximately 200 miles north of Manila, and at Aparri, about 100 miles farther northeast. Manila is situated on Luzon and some of the most vital Philippine defenses also are located on the island.

Vigan, a city of 19,939, is the capital of Ilocos Sur province. It is the center of an agricultural area which produces rice, sugar cane and cotton. The port has yards for the construction of small vessels.

Aparri, situated at the northernmost tip of Luzon island, is the only safe port on that coast. The town, at the mouth of the Aparri river, has a population of about 20,000.

Uncover Fifth Columnist Plot.

The announcement came soon after authorities had uncovered a fifth columnist plot that set off two false air raid alarms and pointed the way to military targets with lights on the ground while Japanese planes first were attacking the Philippines.

Other reports that the Japanese landing efforts had been made on Batan Island, between Luzon and the Japanese island of Formosa, still were unconfirmed.

The army spokesman, in answer to the only question raised at the brief conference, said there was no confirmation of reports that the body of a German pilot had been found among the casualties in Monday's raid on Zambales province.

Despite a bright, almost full moon, no Japanese air attacks on the Philippines were reported overnight. A few anti-aircraft shots were heard, and American fighter planes droned steadily overhead on patrol, but there were no bombs.

2 Workers Arrested.

The fifth columnist conspiracy was under urgent investigation by the United States army and Philippines authorities. After the two false raid alarms, Alfredo Eugenio, Philippines national air raid precautions chief,

'Victory Drive' to Bring 7 Day Week—F. D. R.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—President Roosevelt today proposed a seven day production week for arms factories, and approved a gigantically expanded "victory program" that some officials estimated would entail expenditures of 150 billion dollars. Reduction of civilian consumption of metals by 50 per cent is another new sacrifice that must be borne by civilians in the all-out war effort, he declared.

About the same time the Office of Production Management, acting with wartime urgency, established machinery to requisition hoarded supplies of critical materials on a "seize first and pay later" basis. OPM officials said that hoarded supplies of scarce war materials in the hands of dealers would be "requisitioned as needed."

Agree on Victory Program.

At his first press conference since the United States went to war the President told newspapermen that the new victory program was agreed upon at a conference he held earlier in the day with the Supply Priorities and Allocations board.

The goal of the program is said to be an expanded war effort that would raise war expenditures from 2 to 4 or 5 billion dollars monthly during the next two years. Arms expenditures from June, 1940, to date have totaled approximately 17 billions. Some experts consider an annual expenditure of 45 or 50 billions the maximum the nation can bear.

The new plan would entail expansion of plant facilities with construction of new plants and additions to old ones to increase production. Officials predicted a "terrific" drive for conversion of plants from civilian to war production.

Boost Production Schedules.

In addition to working a seven day week, officials proposed a revision of production schedules upward to provide more actual deliveries in the 1942 calendar year than called for in the present program.

It was understood that the seven day week proposal referred to factories and not to their employés, altho much longer working hours for the latter might eventually be involved.

The office of Sidney Hillman, associate director of OPM, said the plan would involve operation of defense plants 160 hours weekly, with the other eight hours devoted to maintenance work. Shifts would be staggered and persons who worked Saturday and Sunday would have other days off, if the five day work week were in effect.

Seeks Anti-Strike Pact.

The President disclosed that he is considering a conference of labor and industrial leaders to work out an agreement which would preclude the necessity of anti-strike legislation.

In discussing the priorities situation, Mr. Roosevelt said the group agreed that there is a great shortage of metals to meet requirements of expanded war production. Besides boosting the original output of raw materials and metals, he said, civilian use of all metals must be reduced at least one-half which will mean that many persons will have to do without a great many metal objects to which they have been accustomed.

While details have not been worked out, officials inclined to the belief that the metals consumption cut would include the reductions already instituted from last year's levels.

MICKEY ROONEY, 21, TO WED ACTRESS, 18, EARLY IN NEW YEAR

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9 [Special].—Mickey Rooney, Hollywood's highest salaried juvenile actor, will leave the ranks of the young bachelors early next year.

His bride will be Ava Gardner, film actress, 18 years old, a native of North Carolina. Her mother, Mrs. J. B. Gardner of Rock Ridge, N. C., announced her daughter's engagement to Rooney today. She said they would be married "soon."

At the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio Rooney, who has just turned 21, was asked for verification.

"I am happy to say it is true," he replied. He said they have not set a wedding date, but that he expected it would be early next year.

About eight months ago Miss Gardner went to New York and took up modeling. Her picture was sent to M-G-M, and a screen test resulted in her being placed under contract. She has appeared in pictures with Robert Young and Norma Shearer.

Tribune Helps You Send Yule Gift to Yanks

Adopt a Yank for Christmas!

Send him a Christmas present sparkling with tinsel and holly, and a joyous message from home. Tell him with a holiday gift that you're sharing your Christmas tree with him, even tho he is spending Christmas far from home in an army camp, or guarding a national defense plant.

Let him know that he wasn't forgotten when he gave up his job, put on his country's khaki, and went away where there are only strangers and other lonely men—where there is no familiar west side, or north side, or south side.

It's Easy as This—

It's easy. It's simple. THE TRIBUNE will furnish you the name of a far-away soldier who must spend his Christmas at his post of duty. You send him a Christmas present.

Present plans are to send the gifts to the men stationed at Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn., where Illinois' own 33d division is in training.

You will know just how much joy your present brings your adopted soldier because Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commander of the 33d division, is arranging for the Yank you adopt to write you his thanks.

Delivery Is Guaranteed.

Gen. Lawton sent this message from Camp Forrest:

"I think THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S movement to encourage the folks back home to send Christmas presents is marvelous. I want to ask every person who sends a gift to give his name and address so the soldiers can write their thanks.

"Many of our men will be on guard at defense plants and public works thruout Tennessee as a result of the Japanese war. But send your gifts to the camp address we furnish. Our camp postoffice will see that they are delivered in time for Christmas."

THE TRIBUNE publishes an "Adopt a Yank for Christmas!" application blank today on page 21. If you want to adopt a Yank write your name and address on it and return it. The newspaper will send you the name of your adopted Yank, supplied by Gen. Lawton.

TWO BIG BRITISH WARSHIPS SUNK, TOKIO REPORTS

Prince of Wales and Repulse Listed.

LONDON, Dec. 10 [Wednesday] (AP).—Reuters reported today that an official Japanese communique issued in Tokio claimed that the 35,000 ton British battleship Prince of Wales and the battle cruiser Repulse had been sunk.

The communique, Reuters said, reported the warships were sunk off the east coast of the Malayan peninsula. It attributed the sinkings to the Japanese air force.

The battle cruiser Repulse is a vessel of 32,000 tons completed in 1916. Her normal complement is between 1,181 and 1,205 men.

Wales One of Newest.

The battleship Prince of Wales, which was launched in 1939, is one of the royal navy's newest vessels and went to Singapore shortly before Japan declared war on Britain and the United States.

British sources, in accordance with their usual policy, refused comment immediately on the Japanese claims.

The text of the Japanese communique said:

"The British far eastern fleet was sighted off the eastern coast of the Malay peninsula at 11:30 o'clock this morning and Japanese aircraft immediately went into action.

Sunk in Second Attack.

"The Repulse was sunk instantly by bomb hits at 1429 [2:29 p. m.].

"The Prince of Wales was hit and listed to starboard as a result of direct hits.

"She attempted to escape but at 1450 [2:50 p. m.] she received additional hits and was sunk."

The battleship Prince of Wales was the vessel which took Prime Minister Winston Churchill to his famous sea meeting with President Roosevelt Aug. 10. A sister ship of the battleship King George V., it also brought Lord Halifax to America when he became British ambassador.

It arrived at Singapore Dec. 2, at the head of British naval units transferred from the Atlantic to meet the Japanese threats. It flew the flag of Admiral Sir Tom Phillips, new commander of the British eastern fleet.

The ship was damaged in the battle in which Germany's pride, the Bismarck, was sunk in the Atlantic last May.

The battle cruiser Repulse brought the king and queen of England to America on their memorable visit in 1939.

BATTLE IN MALAY JUNGLE

SINGAPORE, Dec. 9 (AP).—Britain and Japan tonight hurled reënforcements into the jungle battle of northeastern Malaya, where heavy fighting raged for control of the important airdrome of Kota Bharu, only 400 miles from Singapore.

British bombers and fighter planes roared out over the Gulf of Siam to meet a Japanese convoy of 25 troop transports. The vessels sped south

MAPS IN COLORS

A new map of the western Pacific and the Far East appears on the back page of this issue. It shows by means of different colors what nations own or control the islands and mainland areas included in the map. It also gives distances in miles between a number of important strategic points. In tomorrow's Tribune, in all editions, will appear another color map, the third of this new series, which will show naval and air bases, present and potential, that have been placed to guard America from attacks by enemy ships and aircraft. On page 8 is a full page of war pictures.

We Are at War

An Editorial

In war there is only one place of honor and that is in the armed services. It is in recognition of that fact that the recruiting stations have been thronged these last few days with young men whose sense of duty will not permit them to wait until they are called. They know where they belong when their country is in peril.

There is no honor in holding down a safe, slacker job in Washington. Of recent months the country has seen a great many burocrats of both sexes throwing their weight about and talking big. If there ever was any excuse for that kind of behavior, it has passed. Today the OPM, the SPAB, and all the other alphabetical organizations which have enjoyed a mushroom growth in Washington must realize that they are the humble servants of the fighting forces. Self-respecting young men will lose no time in getting out of slacker jobs and into uniforms. Older men can easily be found to replace them. The burocrats who are too old to fight should cease running around the country and return to such duties as they are capable of performing.

Every young man's place is in the army, the navy, or the marine corps, there to prepare himself to meet and defeat the enemy. The training of the army must be revolutionized. There has been too much of the boarding school atmosphere about our military camps, a fact which may account for what happened at Pearl Harbor.

Our men must learn their brutal trade as quickly as they can, and that means that discipline must be severe and training must be greatly intensified. Our men must learn to stand up to the Japanese and perhaps the Germans as the British forces have signally failed to do. Our soldiers must learn to take whatever comes without yielding, to attack against overwhelming odds if ordered to do so. At the same time our army and navy must be purged of incompetent generals and Pinafore admirals who must be replaced with men of energy and discretion.

The responsibility for the Pearl Harbor incident remains to be determined, but once again the air arm has demonstrated its superiority over the surface fleet. The attacking planes appear to have been carrier borne. The result was an expectable one in view of the events of the war in European waters. After Norway and Crete and especially after the successful pursuit of the Bismarck, it must have been apparent to any one capable of receiving new ideas that the battleship is at a disadvantage in combat with airplanes and that the airplane carrier is the great new naval weapon. The point has been made repeatedly by students of naval warfare and yet our navy appears to have been slow to provide itself with carriers or to prepare adequately against them. If our admirals have not learned the strategic value of the airplane carrier they should be retired to the Army and Navy club to make room for men whose minds are not closed.

This nation is at war and its young men are eager to play their part. They don't want and don't need to be coaxed and coddled. They will welcome a stern, driving, unrelenting discipline and they will glory in it. All they ask is a keen, capable, fighting leadership.

CHICAGO 'EAGLE' TELLS DESIRE TO JOIN U. S. ARMY

BY GUY MURCHIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 9.—Pilot Officer John Innes Brown, 21, of 6920 Oglesby avenue, Chicago, today asked for his discharge from the RAF "Eagle" squadron to return to America and join the army or navy air force. He told the Tribune correspondent:

"If there were an honorable way for the Americans in the Eagle squadron to get back to America there soon would be no Eagle squadron. We all have been hoping that the United States would declare war so that we could get back to join the air corps.

"We have been pretty fed up here with the inaction. You have heard a lot of grousing from us, but it would all end the right way if we could really get into action. Most of us would have enlisted long ago in the United States army air corps if we could have."

LONDON PAPERS TELL U. S.: GAUGE JAP POWER HIGH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 10 [Wednesday].—London press comment this morning warned America, as well as Britain, not to underrate Japan's strength. The Daily Express, which interpreted Japanese strategy as an effort "to gain all it can by furious attack at the outset," said:

"We gauge Hitler still as the giant of Dunkirk. It will be well for American if she gauges Japan until the end as the naval giant which smote her at Pearl Harbor and sent her other Pacific bases up in flames."

The Daily Mirror found it "hard to understand why we are not formally allied with China, why Russia is not formally at war with Japan," and why "America does not declare war on all the axis powers."

PLEDGES FINAL VICTORY OVER ALL AXIS FOES

Admits Setback in Hawaii 'Serious.'

Text of President Roosevelt's address will be found on pages 4 and 5.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Admitting serious American reverses in the Hawaiian Islands and the Philippines, President Roosevelt tonight in a 30 minute broadcast bade the American people gird themselves for a long and costly war with Japan, and also Germany and Italy.

The United States can accept no result save victory, final and complete, said the President.

"We are going to win the war and we are going to win the peace," he added.

"We are now engaged in the midst of a war, not for conquest, not for vengeance," he said, "but for a world in which this nation and all this nation represents will be safe for our children. We expect to eliminate the danger from Japan, but it would serve us ill if we accomplished that and found the rest of the world was dominated by Hitler and Mussolini."

Predicts Two Front War.

In these words the President prepared the minds of the American people for total war—not only on the Pacific front with Japan, but on the Atlantic front with Germany and Italy. A declaration of war on the United States by Germany is expected momentarily.

The President pictured Germany as goading Japan to attack the United States on penalty of not sharing the spoils of war, including a stranglehold on the Pacific coast of the Americas. Germany and Japan, he said, are making war on the principle that all nations not helping them are their enemies. Germany and Italy, he asserted, consider themselves at war with the United States now.

All News So Far "Bad."

The President admitted that in the war with Japan that began Sunday morning "all the news has been bad." The United States has "suffered a serious setback in Hawaii." The Philippines are being bombarded. It is likely that Japan has captured Guam and Wake and the Midway Islands. He said the casualty lists will be large.

For not going into greater details regarding the naval situation in the Hawaiian Islands, the President gave two reasons. One was that the information given to the public should be definitely and officially confirmed. The other was that information should not "prove valuable to the enemy directly or indirectly."

The President urged his countrymen to "reject all rumors." These "ugly little hints of complete disaster" fly thick and fast in wartime, he said, and must be appraised.

Damage Not Fully Weighed.

For example, he went on, he did not have sufficient information to state exactly what damage was done to our fleet in Pearl Harbor by the Japanese bombing planes Sunday.

"Admittedly," said the President, "the damage is serious" and nobody can say how serious until it is possible to say how much of the damage can be repaired and how long it will take.

This was as close as the President came to dealing with reports current on Capitol hill that American reverses in Hawaii have been greater than admitted.

Indirectly the President denied the Japanese claim that as a result of their victorious assault on the Pacific fleet in Pearl Harbor they have gained naval supremacy in the Pacific. Mr. Roosevelt pronounced it "an old trick of propaganda" frequently resorted to by the Nazis for the purpose of spreading fear and confusion and goading us into "revealing military information" valuable to our enemies.

SENATORS TOLD AEF IN ASIA MAY BE NECESSARY

Move to Lift Restriction from Draft Act.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—The senate today heard the prediction that, to achieve final victory over Japan, it may be necessary for the United States to land expeditionary forces at many points in Asia, thousands of miles from American shores, including Indo-China, Thailand, Dutch East Indies, as well as Japan itself.

The prediction was made by Sen. Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.], chairman of the senate military affairs committee, during a colloquy with Sen. Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], the minority leader, over proposed legislation to suspend hemisphere restrictions on the use of conscripts and National Guardsmen for the duration of the war and six months afterward.

Naval Force Not Enough.

Under existing law the President is forbidden to send conscripts and National Guardsmen outside the western hemisphere except to territories and possessions of the United States, including the Philippines. Asked by McNary where, in addition to the Philippines and Hawaii, he believes the troops might be sent, Reynolds replied that he is "impressed and imbued" with the fact that this country cannot bring about a complete victory over Japan merely by the utilization of American naval and air forces.

"Ultimately, if we bring about the victory we deserve as a result of the unwarranted, the dastardly, treacherous, and murderous assault made upon citizens of the United States," Reynolds declared, "we can but expect that victory by actually sending men of the armed forces of the United States upon the soil of such lands as where we may then find those who actually made this dastardly assault."

May Have to Go to Indo-China.

"I shall say to the senator that in order to bring about the victory we may be called upon in an emergency to endeavor to land our soldiers upon the island of Hongkong, in Indo-China, perhaps in Thailand, the Malay States, Samoa, as well as the islands of Japan proper, and in all probability we shall we called upon to send troops in American interests to the Dutch East Indies if the Japanese should succeed in their attempt to become masters of the Netherlands territories."

Reynolds, explaining that he was acting at the request of the war department, had called up the measure the usual committee consideration. In for immediate senate action without this, he was blocked by McNary, who insisted that the bill go thru the regular legislative channels.

"The committees having jurisdiction should consider these vital issues which have been before the congress for a good many weeks," he said. "A matter so important should go to the committee on military affairs for consideration. I object to any action taken at this time on the floor of the senate. It is not good legislation."

Reynolds announced later that he will bring the measure back on the floor tomorrow after it has been approved by the committee. He said his group started work on the legislation this afternoon and will meet again in the morning to smooth out minor technicalities.

Approved by House Group.

The house military affairs committee approved the measure today as that chamber began handling the first war bills and it is scheduled to be called up for passage in the house tomorrow at the same time the senate is acting upon it.

It merely states that the provisions in the conscription law and the National Guard training act, insofar as they restrict the territorial use of conscripts and Guardsmen "of the land and naval forces of the United States," are suspended during the existence of any war in which this country is engaged and for six months afterward.

"Freeze" Naval Service.

Mention of the naval forces was interpreted to mean that the administration is considering the advisability of diverting conscripts to the navy whenever the need arises.

A second section of the measure would extend the periods of service of all members of the land and sea forces, including conscripts and Guardsmen, for six months beyond the duration of war. Existing law permits the President to extend their terms of service for only 18 months.

The house today also passed a bill by a voice vote authorizing the secretary of navy to retain enlisted men in the navy, marine corps, and coast guard for as long as he deems advisable in the interests of national defense. The maximum extension, if the men do not voluntarily renew their enlistments, would be six months "after the termination of the condition which originally caused their retention," in this case the war with Japan.

Those who voluntarily reënlist would draw enlistment bonuses of from $200 to $600, depending upon the length of time for which they sign up. This measure was passed by the senate yesterday and now goes to the White House for the President's signature.

U. S. CENSORSHIP OF ALL WAR NEWS TO BE 'COMPLETE'

Plan Communiques on British Pattern.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—President Roosevelt today indicated an administration plan to clamp a complete censorship on all military news. He disclosed the army and navy are considering release of information thru a series of official communiques patterned after the British system.

Mr. Roosevelt outlined the British system of news releases and described it as having been received with general satisfaction in Britain and in America. He said it had been praised in newspaper offices.

Three British Series.

Britain issues three series of war communiques—one each for the army, navy, and air corps. These in turn are broken down into general fields.

The British navy has Mediterranean and Atlantic communiques, and now will have a Pacific series. The air force has a Libyan series, an Italian series and one for raids over Germany. The army also has its communiques split into various war theaters.

In the United States only two broad divisions of communiques will be needed, Mr. Roosevelt said, because the battle forces are divided into the army and navy and there is no separate air corps.

May Merge NYA and CCC.

At the first press conference since the declaration of war by and against Japan Mr. Roosevelt opened by discussing the latest attack on the Philippines and then volunteered the information that he favors a proposal to merge the National Youth administration and the Civilian Conservation corps into a new alphabetical unit to be known as the Civilian Youth administration.

Asked if any revamping of the transportation system is being considered, such as the creation of a federal coördinator of transportation to facilitate defense shipments and military movements, he said he had not considered such a move.

Mexico in Danger, Camacho Tells His People on Radio

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 9 (AP).—President Manuel Avila Camacho declared in a nine minute radio speech to the nation tonight that Mexico, which broke relations with Japan yesterday, could best help the United States by increasing industrial and agricultural production. He twice repeated, "Mexico is in danger!" and pledged that the United States could rely on Mexico's "solidarity and coöperation."

ROBBED OF $1,030 IN JEWELRY.

Miss Marie Litsch, 1036 Rosemont avenue, reported to police yesterday that thieves had broken into her apartment, and stolen jewelry valued at $1,030. She is a secretary.

CONGRESS ASKS FOR DETAILS ON HAWAIIAN RAID

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Unofficial reports, picturing as exceedingly grave the toll taken in ships, men, and defense facilities by Japan's wide area assaults on the Pacific on Sunday, today threw both senate and house into hot debate, sharpened by criticism of the navy for "being caught asleep" and demands for full, detailed public information on what happened.

Before the exchanges ended, however, those in key posts, arguing on the basis of conferences with naval and military leaders, prevailed upon irate colleagues to reserve judgment pending calmer siftings of facts.

A proposal by Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] for the establishment of an official war liaison between the executive branch and the congress—somewhat after the pattern of that set up in Washington during the Civil war—was received favorably. No action was taken.

Both Houses Mark Time.

The senate and the house marked time and waited for President Roosevelt's radio report to the American people, which he gave tonight.

There remained in the senate record, tho, warnings that Japan and other axis powers might strike at any moment at or from bases off our shores. The government was urged to give serious and immediate consideration to the seizing of "every piece of soil" from which any power might operate.

"Mr. President," said Sen. Tom Stewart [D., Tenn.], "I think we ought to seize Martinique. I think French Guiana in South America should be taken over, as well as every other spot upon which an enemy airplane which would do damage to our shores could land.

"We are in war, it is no time to parley.

"A mistake has been made. I am willing to wipe it out and forget it, and to look forward and see that it does not occur again; and do the things that are necessary for the protection of the American people, to the end that American blood shall not be shed needlessly."

Secret Committee Session.

For an hour and a half the senate naval affairs committee met in secret session this morning, discussing with Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], its chairman, what he had learned yesterday in conference with Adm. Harold B. Stark, chief of naval operations, regarding the situation in the Pacific.

Members left this session saying they were "stunned" by what they had heard. Tho some committeemen had indicated that they went to the meeting prepared to criticize, they left pledging full coöperation in meeting new navy requests.

The house naval affairs committee, whose chairman, Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], accompanied Sen. Walsh to yesterday's conference, requested Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox and Adm. Stark to appear before it tomorrow in secret session for a confidential presentation of such information as they deem proper to release.

The secretary, it was learned later, was away from the city. Adm. Stark notified the committee that he would have to postpone his appearance for a day or so.

Even before either house of congress convened, a charge that the navy had been "asleep" broke into house naval affairs committee proceedings and spread into the chamber as that body's session opened.

Rep. John D. Dingell [D., Mich.] announced he would demand court martial proceedings against five ranking military and naval officers. Mr. Vinson denounced this demand as "a cheap effort to get newspaper publicity." Other members joined quickly in censuring their Michigan colleague.

Counsels Cautious Action.

"This," said Mr. Vinson, "is no time to rock the boat. I strongly resent the effort of people who come up here without a scintilla of evidence to indict these men who are offering their lives to their country's service."

Meanwhile, in the senate, Sen. Walsh arose to address that body. He had been requested by many members, he said, for information regarding the extent and scope of the Sunday naval operations in and about Hawaii.

While he had expected to report, he said, Adm. Stark had suggested that the quest for further information be deferred until after the President spoke tonight.

A series of exchanges followed in which the Sunday engagement in the Pacific was called "a debacle," in which it was asserted that the "Gibraltar of the Pacific" appeared "for the time being to have been rendered useless," and in which Hawaii was pronounced at the mercy of Japan.

Abandoning his previous calm, Sen. Walsh retorted, as Sen. Charles W. Tobey, Republican of New Hampshire, taunted Secretary Knox for having reported that "the navy is ready."

Asks Work, Not Talk.

"All I can say about that, is that talk ought to cease now, and work and effort and energy and enthusiasm ought to be manifested by all the officials of our government, and by the congress, and by the American people, and I hope loose talk will cease."

"As one member of this body and a humble citizen of this country of ours," Tobey said, "it seems to me it is imperative that the American people and their representatives in congress be fully informed of what has been done.

"I can well understand the need of secrecy as to the movement of ships; that is patent to any person, but when a thing it fait accompli and when, as reported on the floor of the senate in conversation today that a large portion of the Pacific fleet is wiped out, and that is fait accompli, the enemy certainly knows that. The American people and their representatives in congress should know it."

"It is extremely important," returned Sen. Walsh, "that we should show a united front at this time in the very beginning of a war that is of momentous consequence to the future of our country.

"In my opinion we should not show any disposition to direct the commander-in-chief or to criticize what has been done or what ought to have been done up to now."

Sen. Tobey said he agreed with that, but added:

"I point out that only 24 hours before this debacle in the Pacific—for I believe that is what it should be called—the secretary of the navy, Mr. Frank Knox, sent out to the people of the United States a great statement, the gist of which—the terse, epigramatic statement—was, 'The navy is ready.'

"And the pride of the American people in their navy and their confidence in some officials has been terribly hurt in the last 24 hours."

"I hope," observed Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], "the senator from New Hampshire will lay down his arms until tonignt, at least, when the President will have an opportunity to speak.

"How Did It Happen?"

Sen. Stewart said he believed "a little constructive criticism" was "not out of place."

"The whole country," he said, "is asking, 'How did this happen?' since we had all understood that it simply could not happen to quite such an extent as seems to have happened.

"A mistake was made apparently—many seem to think so—which has resulted in tremendous damage to a great fortification on which our country has spent millions upon top of multiplied millions of dollars.

"Our enemies have not destroyed the Gibraltar of the Pacific, but they appear to have for the time being rendered it useless so far as we are concerned. It might as well be completely in the possession of the Japanese forces.

"I think it may be, as some one has suggested, that the navy and the army were simply caught asleep out there."

Celler Precipitates Outburst.

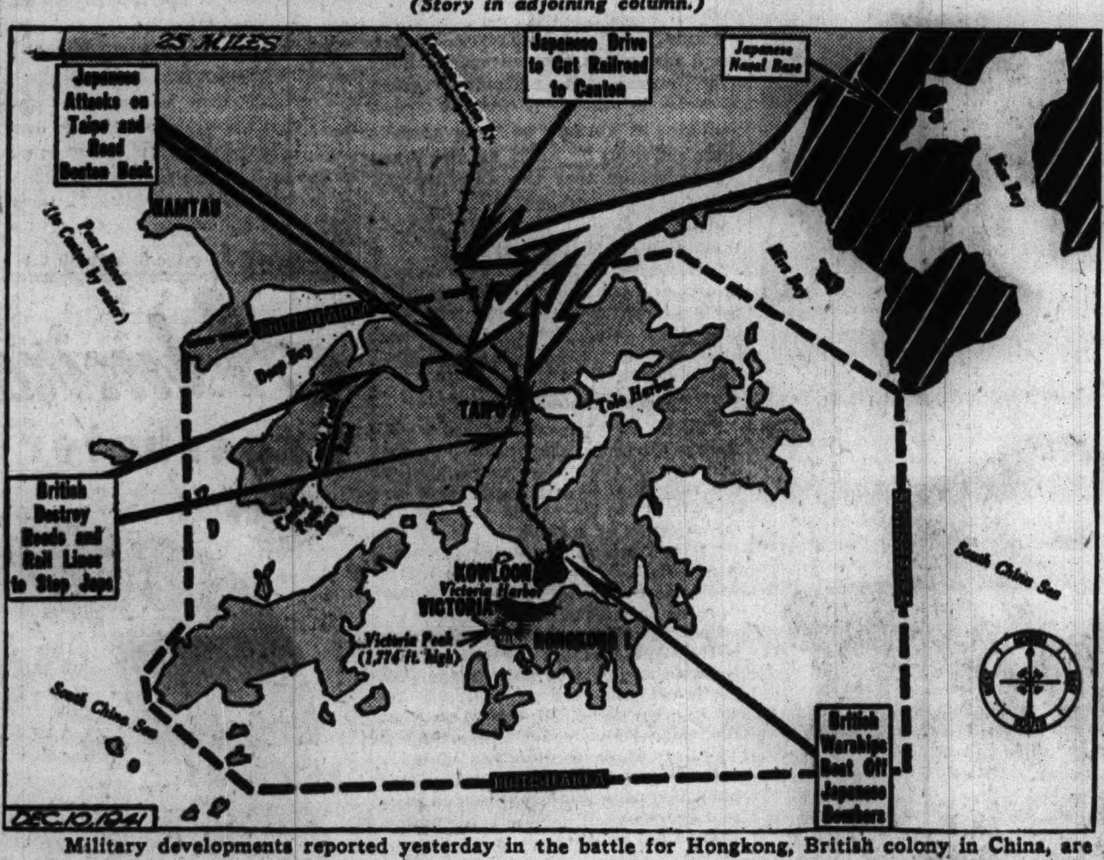
Rep. Emanuel Celler [D., N. Y.] precipitated such a heated outburst in the house late today that that body was adjourned abruptly to cut it short. He declared that isolationists should "apologize to President Roosevelt" for having accused him of trying to take the country into war.

Boos broke out thru the chamber. Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.], who had opposed the President's foreign policy, termed Mr. Celler's proposal "shocking."

Rep. William P. Cole [D., Md.] arose, noted the absence of a quorum, and, seeing more trouble in the offing, moved adjournment.

Hongkong Beats Off Attack by Japanese

(Story in adjoining column.)



Military developments reported yesterday in the battle for Hongkong, British colony in China, are told in captions.

India Rounds Up Japanese; One Is Disciple of Gandhi

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 9 (AP).—A roundup of Japanese in India netted fewer than 200 today, most of them having left after Britain's credit freezing. One of those placed in a detention camp was a Japanese monk, Kesho Tenzaki, a disciple of Mohandas K. Gandhi. He had lived near Wardha for the last four years.

HONGKONG GUNS REPEL JAPANESE LAND INVASION

British Blow Up Roads as Foe Strikes.

HONGKONG, Dec. 9 (AP).—Japanese land forces attempting to invade this British crown colony were brought to a sudden halt tonight by searing artillery fire from the strongly manned mainland defenses, it was announced officially.

"All defenses of the mainland are being successfully maintained," a communique stated.

The Japanese land assault began at dawn on Monday. The British blew up roads and railways to stop the Japanese. Then the British loosed artillery blasts from the perimeter of mainland defenses which have been under preparation since 1938.

Two Points of Attack.

The larger part of the colony lies on the mainland, altho the main city of some 2 million is on an island just offshore.

The two main points of attack were the neighborhood of Taipo and along the Castle Peak road, on the western coast of the mainland. The Japanese moved cautiously, and up to tonight the land operations were in the nature of skirmishes.

One patrol, however, ran into an ambush laid by a Bren [machine] gun carrier patrol along the Castle Peak road, and was wiped out.

Praise for Canadians.

"Canadian troops were in great fettle," said one unamplified headquarters report.

There was no other reference to the Canadian force which landed at Hongkong last month.

The Hongkong headquarters, with dry humor, related the story of a Japanese scout who was seen signaling from a mound on the edge of the British mainland defenses.

Mound Blown Up.

"In reality," the statement said, "it [the mound] was one of our concealed mines, which was immediately touched off. The signaler vanished."

There was a brief air raid on Hongkong this afternoon, causing slight damage and a few casualties.

Air raids described officially as desultory went on thruout the day. There were no serious casualties, the night communique said.

British warships beat off Japanese bombers with anti-aircraft fire. No warship was hit.

All American citizens in the colony were safe.

Bomb British Destroyers.

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP).—A Domei, Japanese news agency, broadcast heard here said Japanese naval planes bombed British destroyers at Hongkong this afternoon, seriously damaging one, and later destroyed hangars and other facilities in a raid on an airdrome.

VICHY SILENT ON JAPANESE USE OF INDO-CHINA BASES

VICHY, France, Dec. 9 (AP).—United States Ambassador Admiral William D. Leahy formally notified the Vichy government today of the state of war existing between the United States and Japan and the consequent new situation in the Pacific.

Authorized French circles declared the question of Japanese use of Indo-Chinese bases for an attack against a third power had not been foreseen by the French-Japanese treaty of last July 29 permitting "protective" Japanese occupation of the country.

In response to a further question on the attitude of the French government should Japan so use the bases, altho the treaty made no provision for such use, the authorized source replied: "I am unable to answer that question."

TEXT OF SPEECH BY PRESIDENT ON STATUS OF WAR

Admits Losses; Urges Full Effort to Win.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's radio address tonight follows:

"The sudden criminal attacks perpetrated by the Japanese in the Pacific provide the climax of a decade of international immorality.

"Powerful and resourceful gangsters have banded together to make war upon the whole human race. Their challenge has now been flung at the United States of America. The Japanese have treacherously violated the longstanding peace between us. Many American soldiers and sailors have been killed by enemy action. American ships have been sunk, American airplanes have been destroyed.

"The congress and the people of the United States have accepted that challenge.

"Together with other free peoples, we are now fighting to maintain our right to live among our world neighbors in freedom and in common decency, without fear of assault.

Relations with Japan Reviewed.

"I have prepared the full record of our past relations with Japan, and it will be submitted to the congress. It begins with the visit of Commodore Perry to Japan 88 years ago. It ends with the visit of two Japanese emissaries to the secretary of state last Sunday, an hour after Japanese forces had loosed their bombs and machine guns against our flag, our forces, and our citizens.

"I can say with utmost confidence that no Americans today or a thousand years hence need feel anything but pride in our patience and our efforts thru all the years toward achieving a peace in the Pacific which would be fair and honorable to every nation, large or small. And no honest person, today or a thousand years hence, will be able to suppress a sense of indignation and horror at the treachery committed by the military dictators of Japan, under the very shadow of the flag of peace borne by their special envoys in our midst.

"The course that Japan has followed for the last ten years in Asia has paralleled the course Hitler and Mussolini in Europe and Africa. Today it has become far more than a parallel. It is collaboration so well calculated that all the continents of the world, and all the oceans, are now considered by the axis strategists as one gigantic battlefield.

Lists Axis Aggressions.

"In 1931, Japan invaded Manchukuo—without warning.

"In 1935, Italy invaded Ethiopia—without warning.

"In 1938, Hitler occupied Austria—without warning.

"In 1939, Hitler invaded Czechoslovakia—without warning.

"Later in 1939, Hitler invaded Poland—without warning.

"In 1940 Hitler invaded Norway, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, and Luexmbourg—without warning.

"In 1940 Italy attacked France and later Greece—without warning.

"In 1941 the axis powers attacked Jugo-Slavia and Greece, and they dominated the Balkans—without warning.

"In 1941 Hitler invaded Russia—without warning.

"And now Japan has attacked Malaya and Thailand—and the United States—without warning.

"It is all of one pattern.

America Now in War.

"We are now in this war. We are all in it—all the way. Every single man, woman, and child is a partner in the most tremendous undertaking of our American history. We must share together the bad news and the good news, the defeats and the victories—the changing fortunes of war.

"So far, the news has all been bad. We have suffered a serious setback in Hawaii. Our forces in the Philippines, which include the brave people of that commonwealth, are taking punishment, but are defending themselves vigorously. The reports from Guam and Wake and Midway Islands are still confused, but we must be prepared for the announcement that all these three outposts have been seized.

"The casualty lists of these first few days will undoubtedly be large. I deeply feel the anxiety of all families of the men in our armed forces and the relatives of people in cities which have been bombed. I can only give them my solemn promise that they will get news just as quickly as possible.

Will Give Facts to Public.

"This government will put its trust in the stamina of the American people, and will give the facts to the public as soon as two conditions have been fulfilled; first, that the information has been definitely and officially confirmed; and, second, that the release of the information at the time it is received will not prove valuable to the enemy directly or indirectly.

"Most earnestly I urge my countrymen to reject all rumors. These little hints of complete disaster fly thick and fast in wartime. They have to be examined and appraised.

"As an example, I can tell you frankly that until further surveys are made, I have not sufficient information to state the exact damage which has been done to our naval vessels at Pearl Harbor. Admittedly the damage is serious. But no one can say how serious, until we know how much of this damage can be repaired and how quickly the necessary repairs can be made.

Cites Canal Zone Rumor.

"I cite as another example a statement made on Sunday night that a Japanese carrier had been located and sunk off the Canal Zone. And when you hear statements that are attributed to what they call "an authoritative source," you can be reasonably sure that under these war circumstances the "authoritative source" was not any person in authority.

"Many rumors and reports which we now hear originate with enemy sources. For instance, today the Japanese are claiming that as a result of their one action against Hawaii they have gained naval supremacy in the Pacific. This is an old trick of propaganda which has been used innumerable times by the Nazis. The purposes of such fantastic claims are, of course, to spread fear and confusion among us, and to goad us into revealing military information which our enemies are desperately anxious to obtain.

"Our government will not be caught in this obvious trap—and neither will our people.

Communication Restricted.

"It must be remembered by each and every one of us that our free and rapid communication must be greatly restricted in wartime. It is not possible to receive full, speedy, accurate reports from distant areas of combat.

"This is particularly true where naval operations are concerned. For in these days of the marvels of radio it is often impossible for the commanders of various units to report their activities by radio, for the very simple reason that this information would become available to the enemy, and would disclose their position and their plan of defense or attack.

"Of necessity there will be delays in officially confirming or denying reports of operations but we will not hide facts from the country if we know the facts and if the enemy will not be aided by their disclosure.

Warns Against Rumors.

"To all newspapers and radio stations—all those who reach the eyes and ears of the American people—I say this: You have a most grave responsibility to the nation now and for the duration of this war.

"If you feel that your government is not disclosing enough of the truth, you have every right to say so. But—in the absence of all the facts, as revealed by official sources—you have no right to deal out unconfirmed reports in such a way as to make people believe they are gospel truth.

"Every citizen, in every walk of life, shares this same responsibility. The lives of our soldiers and sailors—the whole future of this nation—depend upon the manner in which each and every one of us fulfills his obligation to our country.

Tells of America's Position.

"Now a word about the recent past—and the future. A year and a half has elapsed since the fall of France, when the whole world first realized the mechanized might which the axis nations had been building for so many years. America has used that year and a half to great advantage. Knowing that the attack might reach us in all too short a time, we immediately began greatly to increase our industrial strength and our capacity to meet the demands of modern warfare.

"Previous months were gained by sending vast quantities of our war material to the nations of the world still able to resist axis aggression. Our policy rested on the fundamental truth that the defense of any country resisting Hitler or Japan was in the long run the defense of our own country. That policy has been justified. It has given us time, invaluable time, to build our American assembly lines of production.

"Assembly lines are now in operation. Others are being rushed to completion. A steady stream of tanks and planes, of guns and ships, of shells and equipment—that is what these 18 months have given us.

Only a Beginning.

"But it is all only a beginning of what has to be done. We must be set to face a long war against crafty and powerful bandits. The attack at Pearl Harbor can be repeated at any one of many points in both oceans and along both our coast lines and against all the rest of the hemisphere.

"It will not only be a long war, it will be a hard war. That is the basis on which we now lay all our plans. That is the yardstick by which we measure what we shall need and demand; money, materials, doubled and quadrupled production—ever increasing. The production must be not only for our own army and navy and air forces. It must reinforce the other armies and navies and air forces fighting the Nazis and the war lords of Japan thruout the Americas and the world.

Two Production Policies.

"I have been working today on the subject of production. Your government has decided on two broad policies.

"The first is to speed up all existing production by working on a seven day week basis in every war industry, including the production of essential raw materials.

"The second policy, now being put into form, is to rush additions to the capacity of production by building more new plants, by adding to old plants, and by using the many smaller plants for war needs.

"Over the hard road of the past months, we have at times met obstacles and difficulties, divisions and disputes, indifference and callousness. That is now all past—and, I am sure, forgotten.

"The fact is that the country now has an organization in Washington built around men and women who are recognized experts in their own fields. I think the country knows that the people who are actually responsible in each and every one of these many fields are pulling together with

Admits Losses; Urges Full Effort to Win.

Hard Work Ahead.

"On the road ahead there lies hard work—gruelling work—day and night, every hour and every minute.

"I was about to add that ahead there lies sacrifice for all of us.

"But it is not correct to use that word. The United States does not consider it a sacrifice to do all one can, to give one's best to our nation, when the nation is fighting for its existence and its future life.

"It is not a sacrifice for any man, old or young, to be in the army or the navy of the United States. Rather it is a privilege.

"It is not a sacrifice for the industrialist or the wage earner, the farmer or the shopkeeper, the trainman or the doctor, to pay more taxes, to buy more bonds, to forego extra profits, to work longer or harder at the task for which he is best fitted. Rather it is a privilege.

"It is not a sacrifice to do without many things to which we are accustomed if the national defense calls for doing without.

"A review this morning leads me to the conclusion that at present we shall not have to curtail the normal articles of food. There is enough food for all of us and enough left over to send to those who are fighting on the same side with us.

Predicts Metal Shortage.

"There will be a clear and definite shortage of metals of many kinds for civilian use, for the very good reason that in our increased program we shall need for war purposes more than half of that portion of the principal metals which during the past year have gone into articles for civilian use. We shall have to give up many things entirely.

"I am sure that the people in every part of the nation are prepared in their individual living to win this war. I am sure they will cheerfully help to pay a large part of its financial cost while it goes on. I am sure they will cheerfully give up those material things they are asked to give up.

"I am sure that they will retain all those great spiritual things without which we cannot win thru.

Pledges Complete Victory.

"I repeat that the United States can accept no result save victory, final and complete. Not only must the shame of Japanese treachery be wiped out, but the sources of international brutality, wherever they exist, must be absolutely and finally broken.

"In my message to the congress yesterday I said that we 'will make very certain that this form of treachery shall never endanger us again.' In order to achieve that certainty, we must begin the great task that is before us by abandoning once and for all the illusion that we can ever again isolate ourselves from the rest of humanity.

"In these past few years—and, most violently, in the past few days—we have learned a terrible lesson.

"It is our obligation to our dead—it is our sacred obligation to their children and our children—that we must never forget what we have learned.

Tells "What We Have Learned."

"And what we all have learned is this:

"There is no such thing as security for any nation—or any individual—in a world ruled by the principles of gangsterism.

"There is no such thing as impregnable defense against powerful aggressors who sneak up in the dark and strike without warning.

"We have learned that our ocean girt hemisphere is not immune from severe attack—that we cannot measure our safety in terms of miles on any map.

"We may acknowledge that our enemies have performed a brilliant feat of deception, perfectly timed and executed with great skill. It was a thoroughly dishonorable deed, but we must face the fact that modern warfare as conducted in the Nazi manner is a dirty business. We don't like it—we didn't want to get in it—but we are in it and we're going to fight it with everything we've got.

"I don't think any American has any doubt of our ability to administer proper punishment to the perpetrators of these crimes.

Calls Germany the Instigator.

"Your government knows that for weeks Germany has been telling Japan that if Japan did not attack the United States, Japan would not share in dividing the spoils with Germany when peace came. She was promised by Germany that if she came in she would receive the complete and perpetual control of the whole of the Pacific area—and that means not only the far east, not only all of the islands in the Pacific, but also a stranglehold on the west coast of North, Central, and South America.

"We also know that Germany and Japan are conducting their military and naval operations in accordance with a joint plan. That plan considers all peoples and nations which are not helping the axis powers as common enemies of each and every one of the axis powers.

"That is their simple and obvious grand strategy. That is why the American people must realize that it can be matched only with similar grand strategy. We must realize for example that Japanese successes against the United States in the Pacific are helpful to German operations in Libya; that any German success against the Caucasus is inevitably an assistance to Japan in her operations against the Dutch East Indies; that a German attack against Algiers or Morocco opens the way to a German attack against South America.

What Helps United States.

"On the other side of the picture, we must learn to know that guerrilla warfare against the Germans in Serbia helps us; that a successful Russian offensive against the Germans helps us, and that British successes on land or sea in any part of the world strengthen our hands.

"Remember always that Germany and Italy, regardless of any formal declaration of war, consider themselves at war with the United States at this moment just as much as they consider themselves at war with Britain and Russia. And Germany puts all the other republics of the Americas into the category of enemies. The people of the hemisphere can be honored by that.

The true goal we seek is far above and beyond the ugly field of battle. When we resort to force, as now we must, we are determined that this force shall be directed toward ultimate good as well as against immediate evil. We Americans are not destroyers—we are builders.

Plea to End All Aggression.

"We are now in the midst of a war, not for conquest, not for vengeance, but for a world in which this nation, and all that this nation represents, will be safe for our children. We expect to eliminate the danger from Japan, but it would serve us ill if we accomplished that and found that the rest of the world was dominated by Hitler and Mussolini.

"We are going to win the war and we are going to win the peace that follows.

"And in the dark hours of this day—and thru dark days that may be yet to come—we will know that the vast majority of the members of the human race are on our side. Many of them are fighting with us. All of them are praying for us. For, in representing our cause, we represent theirs as well—our hope and their hope for liberty under God."

TWO BIG BRITISH WARSHIPS SUNK, JAPANESE CLAIM

Report Prince of Wales and Repulse Down.

along conquered Thailand's coast in an attempt to land additional Japanese troops at Kota Bharu and farther north in the Singora and Patani areas of southern Thailand.

Japanese warships, dive bombers, and pursuit planes escorted this imposing array, British aerial scouts reported.

[American made bombers scored hits on two transport ships and a troop laden barge which landed Japanese forces in northern Malaya, CBS' Singapore correspondent reported. He said the Japanese ships fled after depositing their troops on beaches. The British were declared to be mowing down the Japanese with machine gun fire on the beaches and engaging in hand to hand fighting with those who penetrated to the jungles.]

Fighting Still Confused.

A communique said the situation at Kota Bharu "still is confused." British imperial forces by noon yesterday had almost gained control of the area when the Japanese succeeded in landing additional troops.

Bitter fighting continued thruout the night and today, the communique said, adding that "reënforcements should reach there during the day."

The Tokio radio last night said that British forces had entered Thailand from Burma and were being engaged by Japanese troops.

Australians, British, Indian, and Malayan troops are scattered thruout the jungles to combat the apparent Japanese effort to sever Malaya's land bridge with Burma along the narrow Kra isthmus. Full Japanese control of Thailand, however, would automatically cut that link.

"It is yet too early to attempt to forecast what the Japanese main plan is," the communique said, "but there are indications that following the collapse of resistance in Thailand and the heavy scale of Japanese air effort from bases in Indo-China that they are prepared to engage considerable forces in an attempt to obtain control of northern Malaya.

"This move always has been foreseen as a likely one, and disposition of our forces before the outbreak of the war was designed to meet it."

Because of the lack of roads thru the jungles the British expressed confidence they could repel any Japanese drive down the isthmus from the Singora and Patani areas, which are respectively 110 and 60 miles north of the Malayan frontier.

Airport Vital Advance Base.

Kota Bharu is a town of 15,000 on the right bank of the Kelantan river, and its airdrome is a vital advance base which the Japanese could use for a spring at Singapore. It is about 300 air miles from the southern tip of Japanese occupied French Indo-China. A railway connects Kota Bharu with Singapore.

The town itself is about six miles from the coast, and the Japanese apparently had fought their way to its outskirts.

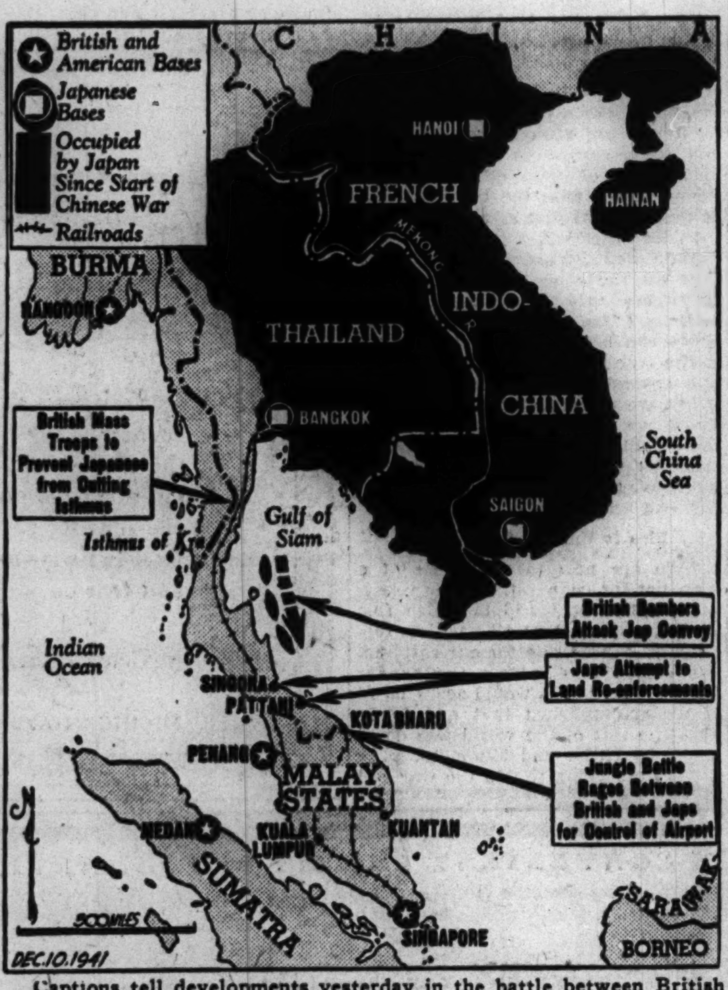
Air raid warnings were sounded in Singapore and at Kuala Lumpur, 200 miles to the north, yesterday morning and last night, but the British said no bombings had been reported.

Bomb British Islands Again.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Dec. 9 (AP).—The government of New Zealand was advised today that the British islands of Nauru and Ocean, which were bombed yesterday, were bombed again today. Nauru and Ocean islands are part of the Gilbert group.

British Battle Japs in Malaya

(Story in adjoining column.)



Captions tell developments yesterday in the battle between British and Japanese forces for the control of the Malayan peninsula, at the end of which the important British base of Singapore is located. The exact extent of penetration by the Japanese into Thailand is not known.

'Kiss of Death' Girl Held by the Oak Park Police

Margaret Mary Collins, called "the Kiss of Death" girl because several of her sweethearts were slain in gangland wars, was arrested last night by Oak Park police on a disorderly conduct charge. Police said they found 70 handkerchiefs in her possession when she was picked up at Oak Park avenue and Lake street in the suburb. She gave her name as Martha Brady, but was further identified thru fingerprints.

Panama Rearrests Germans It Seized and Released

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Dec. 9.—Germans detained by Panama authorities for investigation but later released are being rearrested, presumably because it is believed a declaration of war by Germany against the United States is expected. Because Panama joined the war against Japan, it is expected that similar action will be taken if Germany and Italy declare ware against the United States. It was reported here that the staff of the German legation burned its files.

announced the arrest of two workers and said two other persons were under surveillance.

An American army spokesman said "certain areas were marked out by light signals"—both flares and fireworks—during the raids on Nichols field, outside Manila, on Tuesday.

[Ford Wilkins, Columbia Broadcasting system correspondent in Manila, reported on Tuesday that there had been unverified reports of bombings of the Japanese island of Formosa and the cities of Tokio and Kobe on the Japanese main islands. The Japanese said there had been no air attack on Japanese territory up to Tuesday morning.]

Army May Rule Alarm System.

Strict instructions were issued by Eugenio that no alarms be sounded unless the order came from the warden's office. He also said he would recommend that the army take over the alarm system.

Tuesday night, he said, the persons in charge of the sirens sounded the two false alarms upon receiving telephone calls from unidentified persons. Eugenio expressed the belief that fifth columnists hoped to cause panic among the population and to lull people into a feeling that the alarms were not worth heeding.

Still unverified was the report that Japanese troops now were in full control of Lubang Island, southwest of Manila bay, with the help of fifth columnists.

United States naval sources denied reports last night that the seaplane tender Langley was bombed during a Japanese attack on Davao on Monday. They said the carrier was safe and carrying out routine duties.

An official army announcement said material losses in planes as a result of Monday's air fighting over the Philippines were "heavy on both sides." No figures were given. It also was confirmed that a Japanese pilot shot down at Davao was killed while trying to escape.

Residents Moving Out.

The office of Adm. Thomas C. Hart, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, said today that 18 light and medium Japanese bombers attacked Guam at 8:45 a. m. on Monday. About half a dozen planes made a second attack on the American Pacific possession at 2:45 p. m., it was said.

Thousands of Manila residents still were moving out of the capital to the countryside. Residents of the Paranaque area around Nichols field especially were ordered to leave their homes since yesterday's Japanese attack which killed one American soldier and injured 12.

Japs in Philippines

ACTS OF HEROISM EMERGE IN WAR OVER PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 9 (AP).—Gunners at a Philippine air field reported today that even in the excitement of battle with attacking Japanese planes they had time to note around them such acts of heroism as these, in the gunners' own words:

"One bird sat in the tail of a bomber on the ground and kept blazing away at those diving Japs. They shot the seat from under him and a wing of his plane, but he was still firing when they went away."

"A private in another grounded bomber kept his machine gun going until the gasoline tanks caught fire and got so hot he had to get out."

"A lieutenant in a pursuit plane got on a Jap's tail at 20,000 feet and rode him clear down into the ground."

These men said the Japanese planes were "plenty good and heavily armored."

ROBBERS RETURN LOOT.

Three robbers demanded the money of Herman Kaufman, 50 years old, 2001 Warren boulevard at Wolcott and Monroe street, last night. He gave them 5 cents. They searched him, found that he had no more money, returned the nickel, and fled.

JAPANESE SEIZE 200 SHIPS; CLAIM OFFENSIVE GROWS

U. S. Liner Is 'Captured,' Tokio Declares.

TOKIO, Dec. 9 [Official radio picked up by the Associated Press].—The Japanese tonight claimed to have captured more than 200 merchant ships of "enemy nationalities" along the China coast and in the Whangpoo river—including the 10,509 ton American liner President Harrison. At the same time the Japanese reported an extension of the Pacific offensive.

[German dispatches attributed to the Japanese army spokesmen at Shanghai a claim that Japanese troops had landed in the Philippines without losses to themselves and also had landed on Britain's Malay peninsula and in nearby Thailand without casualties.]

"U. S. Strategy Shattered."

A spokesman for the Japanese navy ministry asserted that already the balance of American-Japanese sea power had been changed to favor Japan and that attacks thus far delivered had "completely shattered all naval strategy popularized by United States naval experts."

Speaking of alleged American plans for encirclement of Japan, he added that Washington, D. C., had miscalculated Japan's strength.

"The fruit of this irresponsible estimate has been to deprive America of the very foundation—naval superiority—of its hopes of obstructing and frustrating the natural growth of the Japanese empire," the spokesman said.

[In spite of all these generalities there had been up to Tuesday night, Japanese time, no claim to a specific victory over any American ship or squadron beyond those that had been made on Monday.]

Japanese List Action.

Actions claimed by the Japanese naval and military authorities included these:

That Japanese bombers had delivered a mass attack on Nichols field, the United States air base near Manila, in which "important air facilities" had been destroyed.

That Japanese warships had shelled Midway Island, an American possession about 1,300 miles west of Honolulu, and had set aflame certain hangars and oil stores.

That nine planes had been shot down by the Japanese in attacks on Wake Island.

That Japanese troops have occupied "an important strategic point" in North Malaya.

Attack Singapore Area.

That Japanese air and land forces had begun this morning an attack upon what was described as the area of Singapore [apparently northern Malaya], and that many British planes had been destroyed at their Malaya bases.

That two contingents of Japanese troops had accomplished the occupation of Bangkok, the capital of Thailand, under the new Japanese-Thailand agreement for holding that country "against the democracies."

[Scraps of information from other sources included these: A Berlin broadcast stated that the Japanese had arrived in central Thailand while from the northern section of that country they had opened an attack intended to cut the Burma road. The Rome radio claimed that the Japanese had landed in North Borneo, site of a British naval base and a strategic area along the sea routes from the great American base at Manila to the allied Dutch East Indies.]

Attack Chinese Troops.

Of the Chinese front, Domei, the official Japanese news agency, reported that Chinese troops concentrated in southwestern Kwangtung province for an attack on Indo-China [where Japanese troops stand in force] had been dive-bombed.

It was Domei also that reported seizure of more than 200 vessels along the China coast and in the Whangpoo river. Among those identified, aside from the President Harrison, were the 3,000 ton Panamanian ship Carrier and the 2,698 ton British ship Mary Moller.

The establishment of prize courts to consider the disposition of the captured ships was approved by the cabinet.

[The German radio in a report from Shanghai said the President Harrison was captured by a Japanese destroyer as it was steaming northward to Chinwangtao to evacuate United States marines from Peking and Tientsin. New York shipping circles said the Panamanian ship was the 3,365 ton Norse Carrier. Formerly an American ship, it was a collier used to supply Shanghai with coal before the war.]

Meet the new Overcoat "champ"

Its name—"Bond Shetland". Its record—"K. O." every time out. A coat to give you that successful "sitting-on-top-of-the-world" look—to set you apart from the crowd. Big and brawny as a Northwoods lumberjack. Jaunty as "Yankee Doodle" himself. Colorful as a real "champ" should be—colorful, yet conservative. Depend on subdued Heathers and soft Camel-Tones for that. And here's the payoff—every one of these handsome Shetland overcoats is Rochester-styled and tailored. If you want a true definition of superior quality, that's it! All this is only a pale carbon copy of what you'll actually see—at Bond's, and in your mirror. It's a pleasure you shouldn't put off any longer.

STRICTER CURBS ON RUBBER AND TIN INDICATED

Restriction Depends on Present Supplies.

Tires First on List!

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The Office of Production Management drafted a program tonight to suspend for about two weeks the production of passenger automobile tires and approximately 30,000 other nonessential products in which rubber is used until a comprehensive plan for the industry can be worked out in the light of threatened cessation of supplies from the orient.

The order will not affect the sale of millions of tires now on dealers' shelves and in wholesalers' warehouses. The program was discussed with tire and tube manufacturers today and is to be taken up tomorrow with representatives of the CIO United Rubber Workers union.

The order exempts from the suspension rubber articles considered essential to civilian welfare.

New restrictions on civilian uses of rubber, tin and other necessities of war for which the United States depends heavily on far eastern sources, were indicated yesterday by defense officials at Washington, D. C.

While expressing the determination to keep supply lines open from the new theater of war "with all possible energy," the men directing the production phase of the nation's war drive indicated renewed efforts would be undertaken to increase western hemisphere production of these far eastern raw materials to lessen the dependence upon safe shipment over the long Pacific route to this country.

Supplies to Be Surveyed.

Rapid surveys of the nation's supplies of all critical materials were ordered by William L. Batt, director of the materials division of the Office of Production Management. Facts developed in the survey will determine what further curtailment or conservation steps will be taken, officials said.

A report to the Office for Emergency Management indicated the United States had made favorable progress toward the accumulation of rubber and tin. Manganese, chromite, and tungsten, employed in hardening steel, were considered the most serious problems.

More than a year's supply of rubber has been accumulated, according to recent statistics. The reclamation of used rubber has been expanded to the point where about 30 per cent of the rubber used comes from that source.

Sufficient Tin for Year.

Consumers' supplies of tin were said to be sufficient for a year's operations, with several months' additional stores in the possession of the government.

The supply of tin was placed at 116,000 tons, and since the nation consumes about 8,800 tons a month under present abnormal conditions, the supply will outlast 1942.

Singapore, Malaya, and other British and Dutch possessions in the far east play a rôle of the utmost strategic importance to the United States in the shipment of rubber and tin. Vessels carrying these raw materials to this country must pass thru areas where Japanese naval and air strength is concentrated.

Rubber Needed for Tanks.

British possessions of the area, principally Malaya, provided 50.8 per cent of the world's crude rubber supply in 1940, on the basis of recent statistics. Sumatra and other components of the Dutch East Indies supplied 38.6 per cent.

More than 600,000 tons of rubber needed for tank treads, tires, self-sealing airplane gasoline tanks and other war uses, are either stored in the United States or en route here. Rubber stocks, including government stores, were estimated at 454,711 tons on Oct. 31, with another 172,633 tons aboard ship en route to American ports.

Some industry spokesman said this supply, coupled with synthetic rubber and increased use of reclaimed rubber, could be made to last "possibly for years" under restricted civilian uses.

STORES, HOMES URGED BY KELLY TO DISPLAY FLAG

Mayor Kelly issued a proclamation yesterday urging all Chicagoans to exhibit American flags on their homes and places of business daily from sunrise to sunset. The proclamation, he said, applies to all homes, factories, offices and buildings.

"Such a demonstration will give visible evidence that Chicago is supporting America's war effort," the mayor said.

Informed of Mayor Kelly's proclamation, Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State Street council, said all places of business on State street will be requested to fly the American flag.

Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien ordered three flags, formerly used only on holidays, displayed from the third floor of the county building overlooking Clark street. A flag also is raised daily atop the county building.

3 LATIN NATIONS OPEN PORTS TO U. S. WAR CRAFT

Argentina, Uruguay and Chile Take Action.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 9 (AP).—Argentina tonight granted the use of port facilities to United States warships as her contribution to hemispheric solidarity against Japan, but declared her neutrality toward both Japan and Great Britain and maintained diplomatic relations with Tokio.

While other Latin American republics rallied against Japan with declarations of war, by breaking off relations with Tokio and by other manifestations of coöperation, Argentine decreed that the United States was a nonbelligerent.

This is the device by which American warships will be permitted to put into Argentine ports for any purpose.

Chile and Uruguay also notified the United States they would regard it as a nonbelligerent and open their ports to its warships. Uruguay froze Japanese funds. Foreign Minister Alberto Guani of Uruguay expressed belief the conference of American foreign ministers would probably be held in Rio de Janeiro late in December.

The classification of the United States as a nonbelligerent conforms with Pan-American agreements for hemispheric coöperation in case of aggression against any of the 21 republics.

Argentina's maintenance of diplomatic relations would be carried out by a new ambassador now trying to reach Tokio across the warring Pacific. The Argentine ambassador also planned to represent Great Britain in Tokio at the request of the London government.

Sends Message to Roosevelt.

Acting President Ramon Castillo telegraphed to President Roosevelt Argentina's pledge of "reciprocal assistance and defense coöperation."

Eight smaller nations—including Central America en bloc—have made forthright declarations of war on Japan. Mexico and Colombia have broken off relations with Tokio.

Large numbers of Argentines called at the United States embassy thruout the day requesting permission to enlist with the United States forces. They were thanked but sent away with the explanation that only citizens of the United States were eligible for army service.

Asked whether any other measures would be taken, Acting President Castillo replied in the negative.

"All questions linked in the Pan-American defense will be considered at the forthcoming meeting of the American foreign ministers as provided by the Havana accord," Castillo said.

Cuban Chamber Declares War.

Cuba's declaration of war on Japan was approved unanimously by the senate and chamber of deputies tonight. The chamber's vote was by acclamation.

Thousands of Cubans gathered outside the residence of United States Ambassador George S. Messersmith in Havana and cheered wildly.

President Getulio Vargas of Brazil decreed a virtual freezing of axis nationals' bank accounts. United States Ambassador Caffrey said importance of the step "could not be overestimated."

Guatemala took similar steps, freezing Japanese bank deposits, after its assembly declared war on Japan. Peru already had frozen Japanese funds, and Bolivia was considering like action.

Join Plea for Conference.

Argentina, Brazil, Bolivia, and Uruguay joined in the Chilean proposal to call a conference of the foreign ministers of all 21 American republics to formulate a common policy toward Japan. The meeting is expected to be held within 10 days at Santiago or Rio de Janeiro.

A group of deputies at Montevideo, Uruguay, prepared to submit a resolution to congress declaring war on Japan and going the full way of seven other Latin American nations—Costa Rica, Haiti, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Guatemala, and Panama.

50,000 Mexicans Parade.

In Mexico City 50,000 workers paraded in the streets carrying placards saying "the future of Mexico is with the United States and Latin America." The Mexican press published reports that the United States had offered Mexico several hundred planes.

The Colombian government was reported to have posted guards over the Japanese agricultural settlements of Corinto and Santa Clara in the Cauca valley.

President Carlos Arroyo Del Rio of Ecuador held a long conference last night with United States Minister Boaz Long. The Japanese minister was received by the foreign minister for a 10 minute interview today.

JAPS DIDN'T ASK U. S. TO 'PINK TEA,' WHEELER WARNS

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [Dem., Mont.], leading senate non-interventionist, said yesterday that he hoped the country would realize "this is no pink tea."

"I was against this country getting involved in war unless we were attacked," said the senator, while changing trains in Chicago, en route from his home to Washington. "We have been attacked, and now we are at war. We are going into this with all we have. We haven't a day to lose. We can't afford to sit back."

Asked if he thought the war would be a long one, Senator Wheeler said:

"I hope not. But we are not going to be able to lick the Japs in 30 or 60 days or six months like some people think. It's going to be difficult for us to get at them. And because we have been giving away so much of our equipment we haven't got as much as we should have.

"Make no mistake. This is no pink tea. The sooner every one realizes this, the better."

JAPAN, GERMANY HAVE SUFFICIENT OIL, SAY EXPERTS

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—From various authoritative oil industry sources came the warning today that Japan and Germany, despite huge losses of supplies, have sufficient petroleum and gasoline for at least a good many months of all-out war.

Some suggested Japan has enough for two years and that Germany still is fairly well supplied. However, they said, both nations are evidently making supreme efforts to assure themselves of future oil supplies.

These sources called "utter nonsense" the often-heard suggestions that both the aggressor powers were nearing the end of their resources of petroleum—the most valuable asset of modern military and naval forces.

Japan, it was said by some foreign oil experts to have, in the course of the last 15 years, converted herself into "an island filling station."

Bomber Crash Kills Three Canadian Air Force Flyers

FISHERVILLE, Ont., Dec. 9 (AP).—Three members of the Royal Canadian air force were killed today when their bomber crashed near here.

No More Lessons

Persons who formerly took ju-jitsu lessons at the Japanese International Judo club, on the second floor at 28 East Van Buren street, took no lessons there yesterday. Apparently the club had quietly gone to join many other things Japanese. Passers-by noticed a workman removing the club's name from the window.

340,000 JAPS IN LANDS FIGHTING THEM, THEY SAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—There are about 340,000 Japanese in the lands with which Japan is now at war, and 228,000 in South America, according to figures for 1937 in the Japanese year book.

The total of 150,000 for Hawaii indicates that the Japanese statistics include persons of Japanese extraction who are citizens of the United States. Alien registration records show only 41,000 Japanese nationals in Hawaii. The year book also shows 115,000 in the United States proper, whereas the alien registration recorded only one-half that number.

These additional estimates of Japanese living abroad appear in the book: North America [other than the United States], 26,000; Australia, 3,000; the Netherlands East Indies, 6,500; Philippines, 25,000; Oceania, 155,000.

BERLIN TO TELL ITS STAND SOON, SPOKESMEN SAY

Reichstag Will Convene Today, Is Report.

BERLIN, Dec. 10 [Wednesday] (AP).—Ominous silence prevailed in the Wilhelmstrasse early today in anticipation of a declaration by Adolf Hitler during the day on Germany's policy toward Japan's war on the United States and Britain.

There were persistent reports, apparently supported by postponement of tonight's opera performance, that the Kroll Opera house would be the scene of a reichstag session. It is here that the reichstag meets to hear important pronouncements by Hitler.

Usually well informed sources freely predicted that clarification of Germany's stand is imminent.

"Situation Has Not Changed."

An authorized spokesman said last night he could not tell whether there would be a change in German-American relations within 24 hours.

"The situation has not changed," he added.

Authorized spokesmen sought to draw parallels between what they alleged were Roosevelt's aggressive actions against Germany and those by which it was asserted that he had attempted to throttle Japan economically.

A White House statement placing upon Germany responsibility for developments in the far east was described as "immaterial" yesterday by authorized German sources, who declared:

"Nothing can change the fact that there is only one aggressor in the world—he is Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Hitler Told Six Days Ago.

LONDON, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet, quoted by Exchange Telegraph here, reported today that Gen. Hiroshi Oshima, Japanese ambassador to Germany, told Adolf Hitler six days ago war in the Pacific was imminent.

This information, the report said, caused German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to postpone a scheduled trip outside Germany.

Japan Asks Declaration.

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—The British radio quoted the official Tokio spokesman tonight as saying: "We have asked Germany to declare war on America."

This report, heard here by NBC, was similar to one relayed by London earlier in the day.

The Berlin radio declared today that "America now faces a two front war, a shooting war in the Atlantic and a rapid fire war in the Pacific, and America is unprepared."

U. S. Capitol Building's Flood Lights Blacked Out

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The capitol building's great floodlights were ordered blacked out tonight for the duration of the war. The lights have been used for years to illuminate the exterior of the structure.

RAF IN FAR EAST BOLSTERED JUST BEFORE JAP DRIVE

Completion by the British of two major preparations for air war in the far east was announced in Chicago yesterday by Graham Hutton, director here of the British Press service.

The first was a dress rehearsal held a month ago in the Singapore area, utilizing the considerable air forces based there. The other was the arrival, 48 hours before the Japanese attack last Sunday, of squadrons of Australian built Beaufort [British] bombers, which expanded to a record high the British far eastern air force.

The air battle rehearsal, held in and over the vast Malayan jungle, was directed by Air Vice Marshal Conway Walter Heath Pulford, commanding the far eastern air force from Hongkong to Ceylon.

Altho he does not minimize the British task in the orient, Pulford is confident of the ultimate outcome, according to a Singapore dispatch received by British Press here yesterday.

"The Jap pilots are superior to the Italians, but inferior to the Germans," Pulford asserted. "However, what the RAF has done in the middle east in dominating the skies, it certainly can do in the far east."

MEXICO TO MOVE TROOPS THRU U. S. TO GUARD COAST

Large Unit to Re-Enforce Lower California.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The United States has granted Mexico permission to move troops across United States territory to reinforce the defense of Lower California.

These troops, a state department announcement said tonight, will pass in transit from Nogales, Ariz., to Tia Juana, Lower Cal., via San Diego. It is expected they will begin to move Dec. 10. Officials said a considerable body of troops is involved.

Lower California is part of Mexico and is not to be confused with Southern California in the United States.

Text of Statement.

In disclosing the scheduled troop movement, the state department announcement said:

"This decision of the Mexican authorities affords a striking instance of coöperation in hemispheric defense by the nations of this hemisphere in the cause of liberty and democracy and against the forces of a treacherous aggressor.

"The government of the United States welcomes this opportunity of facilitating the journey of the troops of the sister republic and of extending to them every courtesy and assistance."

Guard Against New Surprise.

Last night's reports of enemy air activities off the Pacific coast of the United States extended from British Columbia to Southern California.

Observers took today's announcement to mean that Mexico and the United States are taking no chances on any surprise attempt by the Japanese to land a force in Lower California, sufficient to establish a temporary air base.

CLIPPER SERVICE TO NEW ZEALAND WILL CONTINUE

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 9 [Special].—It was understood here tonight that Pan-American Airways will not discontinue its service to Aukland, New Zealand, altho its bases on the route to China have been taken by the Japanese. Beyond Honolulu, for a time at least, the airline will operate in utmost secrecy, and will fly without using its radio to prevent interception by Japanese planes.

Stories of what happened to two of the company's big new Boeing 72 passenger clippers were told when the Anzac clipper returned from Hawaii. This plane was approaching Honolulu Sunday morning when word of the Jap raid was received by radio. Radio silence was instantly imposed, all lights extinguished, and shades drawn. The plane landed at a base on a different island and refueled.

Several thousand miles further west at the time of the attack was the Philippine clipper, a Martin 40 passenger plane. When word of the Hawaiian raid was received this plane, heading for Guam from Wake, turned back. It arrived at Wake after Jap bombers had visited the island. All company personnel was taken aboard. Midway Island was the next stop. From Midway the Clipper went to Honolulu, where it is now.

REINSTATE 1,000 AIRPLANE PILOTS IN CHICAGO AREA

Licenses of approximately 1,000 pilots in the Chicago area have been reinstated within the last 24 hours, Maj. Ora W. Young, superintendent of safety regulations for the Civil Aeronautics authority announced last evening. All these licenses were temporarily invalidated until their possessors made proof of citizenship and unquestioned loyalty to the United States.

The grounding of the flyers was a precaution taken by the CAA to weed out individuals whose privilege to fly might be detrimental to the nation in wartime. The order affected about 80,000 pilots, approximately 20,000 of whom are in the Chicago area, which includes eight states. There are no restrictions on flying if reinstatement has been granted, Maj. Young said.

A mass reinstatement meeting is being held at 6 o'clock this evening in the office of the Aircraft Owners and Pilots' association at 608 South Dearborn street, where any pilot may apply for license validation. Maj. Young and several other CAA inspectors will be present.

HEAD OF LEGION SENDS MESSAGE ON WAR DUTIES

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 9 (AP).—A message on the war was issued today by National Commander Lynn U. Stambaugh to the 58 departments, 11,780 posts and more than 1,106,000 members of the American Legion.

"An embattled America today needs every man and woman of the American Legion. Again we consider it a privilege to serve the country we love," his message said.

"All controversy as to why we were put in our present situation should be forgotten as we follow the lead of our government.

"We of the Legion need to tell America that there can be no easy path to victory. It will be part of the task of our older, more experienced men and women to give leadership and wisdom to younger Americans. Let us do it truthfully, calmly, honestly, and fearlessly. We are not of such soft stuff that we must have our news softened by censorship.

"Facing the brutal realities of life, we of America must go forward in all our strength, must pay the price cheerfully, and win the victory, whatever the cost in blood and treasure.

"America must be defended."

WOMAN ACCUSED AS JAP SPY CHIEF IN CUBA ARRESTED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 9.—Frau Madeline von Steinberg, who authorities declared has confessed to being chief of Japan's espionage service in Cuba, has been arrested, it was disclosed today. She had been under suspicion and surveillance for several weeks, but her identity was discovered only last night.

The authorities said a search of her home yielded many coded messages, maps, and blueprints. The prints were reported to be of the Panama canal zone, the American naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba, and of various Cuban military fortifications. There was also a long list of German, Japanese, Spanish, and other agents under her orders.

Frau von Steinberg, who speaks German, Japanese, French, and Spanish fluently, is said to have told authorities she was born in Germany but had lived in Japan since she was 6 years old. Arriving from Yokohama in 1938, she founded a German school, considered one of the best and most exclusive private schools in Havana.

After the German school was placed on Washington, D. C.'s "black list" several weeks ago, she sold the school and assumed the name Frances Clinton, claiming to be a British subject.

FALSE TEETH

Played "hob" with Daniel Dobb—
But this is how he saved his job

From door to door trudged Daniel Dobb,
His sample case in hand;
Yet all day long he made no sales,
No orders could he land.
Alas! his dingy, foul false teeth
Were more than folks could stand.

A dentist said: "Try POLIDENT,
The modern thing to do.
Although you neither rub nor scrub
Your teeth will 'look like new';
It brightens smiles; checks Denture Breath;
Is inexpensive too."

Dobb did! And now his order file
Is simply overflowing;
His pay-checks, too, are lush and fat;
His bank account is growing;
The lesson? POLIDENT can keep
Your plates clean, sweet and glowing!

Cleans, Purifies Without Brushing
Do this every day: Add a little POLIDENT Powder to half a glass of water. Stir. Put in plate or bridge 10 to 15 minutes. Rinse, and it's ready to use.

BRITISH DECREE A 50 HOUR WEEK FOR PRODUCTION

Building Industries Must Work Sundays.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 9.—As an immediate consequence of the Japanese attack on the United States and Great Britain, one fact today overshadowed all others—the utmost urgency for increased production here to make up for the loss of lend-lease supplies on which Britain and Russia are dependent.

Following the lead of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's appeal last night for far more production here, Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin and Lord Reith, minister of works and buildings, today issued a statement providing for Sunday work in building and engineering industries. Until Feb. 1 the 50 hour week is scheduled, and after then it is expected that this will be gradually increased to 60 hours.

Only one day, Christmas day, is to be observed as a holiday in England and Wales; New Year's day is to be observed in Scotland.

Parliament Hears Bevin.

Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, spent several hours consulting departmental chiefs on ways and means of bridging the gap in lend-lease supplies from America. He announced, according to the Daily Express, that Britain's commitments to Russia "must be fulfilled at all costs." The production drive for the collection of salvage, particularly scrap metal, is being intensified.

In parliament, too, all resistance to the new all-out man and woman power conscription bill has broken down and Laborite rebels have shelved their demand that this be accompanied by nationalization of all key industries.

A grimly determined house of commons heard Bevin explain how the new bill would give him authority to direct persons to civil defense or to industry and compulsory recruiting for the home guard.

He defended his decision not to use compulsory powers over married women, saying "the man on a ship in the navy expects society to look after his women while he is out there fighting."

Lady Astor Objects.

Lady Astor intervened to ask how many service men complained against the conscription of women for the services, and Bevin replied that the strongest representations have been made by the navy and air force. Lady Astor muttered, "women are being treated as chattels."

Bevin explained the government would try to "post women as near their homes as practicable," and arrange for "one woman to serve on every hardship committee, and a woman to sit as assessor when umpires hear appeals."

Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, spoke of the "real anxiety among husbands and sweethearts as to womenfolk joining the services" and said it was vital that the minister should carry out to the full the provision of amenities and welfare.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, Laborite, who recently flouted the war office ruling and started a women's home guard of her own, complained about excluding childless married women.

"Is the wedding ring to act as a magic charm to release the young owner from her obligations?" she asked.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

What do you miss the most when away from home?

WHERE ASKED.

Hyde Park Bank building, 53d street and Lake Park avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

Dr. Philip Rubens, dentist, 5135 Blackstone avenue—Whenever I make a visit or a business trip, regardless of the luxury of the place, they never seem to have a chair as comfortable as the one I have at home. The pipe isn't as enjoyable and the slippers not so comfortable. The freedom and informality just aren't there.

Dan O'Malley, steel mill worker, 7727 Cregier avenue—I've seen lots of signs advertising what I miss the most, but it's still not the real thing. And that's real home cooked meals. If I could just find a steak like my mother cooks I wouldn't get half as homesick. Of course, the familiar faces around the dinner table help, too.

Elli Beerensson, housewife, 5549 Everett avenue—It took me many years to make a personal selection of the books I have and whenever I go away I can't drag them all with me. I miss every book, their convenient arrangement in the case and even the case. The combination would almost make any house a home.

Rose Lasch, salesgirl, 5130 Dorchester avenue—When I'm away from home there are a number of things I miss and a lot more I'm glad to get away from once in awhile, but the thing I hate most to give up is my own comfortable bed. It takes me several nights to get accustomed to a different one and by that time I'm ready to go home again.

Alfred Teller, stove salesman, 7719 Essex avenue—You have to spend a lot of time in one place to create an atmosphere that's real homelike. When I'm away from home that's what I miss. There's nothing quite like it. Even if it sums up to the voices of two children having an argument. You can't find it elsewhere.

Mary McGowan, stenographer, 7820 Winchester avenue—As long as I'm kept busy and can find a lot of diversion I don't miss much. But when the lull comes on and with it the old habit to walk to the window and look out, that's when I miss the familiar view from my home window. I can get homesick thinking about it.

PHONE REQUESTS FOR NEWS RING UP TRIBUNE RECORD

An all-time record of handling telephone requests for informations was created by The Chicago Tribune public and bulletin services yesterday. Since the first attack on Hawaii by Japan Sunday more than 50,000 anxious calls for news concerning the war have been received by the two departments.

"The only comparable three days in the history of The Tribune public telephone service were those when Lindbergh flew the ocean," Miss Anne Garrow, director, said. "We received approximately 50,000 calls at that time, but now we are already over that figure. The questions range from constant requests for the latest war news to directions for blackouts. One man wanted to know where he could purchase a gas mask."

Approximately 2,000 calls for detailed information on the size of the opposing navies, armies, and air forces alone were handled by the public service department yesterday, Director John F. Gillespie said.

ITALY LOSES 2,708 FIGHTING MEN IN WAR IN A MONTH

ROME, Dec. 9 (AP).—Italian army, navy, and air force casualties in November totaled 2,708 on all fronts in November, an official announcement said tonight.

These were given as 866 killed, 946 wounded, and 896 missing, divided as follows:

Army: 345 killed, 254 wounded, and 273 missing in North Africa; 160 killed, 379 wounded, and 27 missing in Russia, and 215 died of wounds sustained in Greece and Jugo-Slavia.

Navy: 89 killed, 178 wounded, 539 missing.

ARMY DEMANDS 'IMPOSSIBLE' OF WEAPON MAKERS

Arms manufacturers in the Chicago area who have converted their peacetime plants to ordnance work were told bluntly yesterday that they will have to do better, altho they have done well. These statements came from Col. Donald Armstrong, executive officer of the Chicago ordnance district, and Maj. Gen. Robert Danford, chief of the army artillery.

"There can be no excuses from now on," Col. Armstrong said at a luncheon of the Army Ordnance association in the Stevens hotel. "We cannot and will not tolerate any flimsy excuses.

Two Contracts Canceled.

"I warn you there will be no temporizing. We already have canceled two contracts. If you people can't do it there are people who can. I remind you that there are more than 1,000 companies waiting for their first orders.

"You have not only rearmament but the reputation of your companies at stake. We must achieve balanced production. We can't go on looking at tanks lined up in factories without transmissions."

He admitted that he was asking the "impossible," but said in all warfare it is the country which does what others regard as impossible that wins. He predicted that in this Chicago ordnance district, including Wisconsin and northern Indiana, the total arms orders will increase from 580 millions to over 1,000 millions within six months.

Tank Model Displayed.

Displayed on the speakers' table which was lined with army officers and factory executives was a model of the new M-4 tank of 28 tons.

"Eventually we will be making cast steel tanks such as this, instead of the riveted M-3s," Col. Armstrong said. "They have a much more effective defensive shape than the M-3s, which have given an excellent account of themselves in Libya. We are fortunate in having a proving ground in Libya."

Gen. Danford, a native of Illinois, also impressed upon his audience that production must be speeded.

"Artillery is coming along well, but not nearly fast enough," Gen. Danford said. "We have reorganized around the 105 mm. howitzer, but there is a bottleneck on them, on the machine tools to make them, on the ammunition, and on the sights.

"We are training fairly well with World war guns, but we're eager to get the new weapons."

AIR RAIDS ON DEFENSE PLANTS.

The opening of the war has brought air raid alarms on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. The ensuing excitement may or may not be warranted. Only time can tell.

In the long run, the best opinion holds, the United States cannot be seriously hurt by air raids on its coastal areas. That does not mean that hit and run raids, such as the present alarms seem to indicate, cannot cause fatalities and, worse if possible, serious damage to war production. A single big bomb in the Boeing, Douglas, or Consolidated aircraft plants on the Pacific coast could stop production for months and cost the nation scores of the bombers that it needs so sorely.

This hazard was pointed out at least 18 months ago by THE TRIBUNE. It was interest in national defense, not in sectionalism, that caused us then to assert that the Mississippi valley is the real industrial citadel of America. Since that time a start has been made toward concentrating industry in the safer portions of the country, but a dangerously large proportion of our defense production is still too close to the oceans.

Moving a giant factory is an easier task and can be accomplished with less interruption of production than is generally realized. We have the Russian experience to go by, but even more valuable is the action of the Nazis in moving many of their defense industries out of the areas most vulnerable to British bombing.

Their method is to construct a duplicate factory and living facilities for the employés, if accommodations for the workers are not already available in the vicinity. Then the actual transfer of the machinery costs only a small amount of production, less than is hazarded by leaving the plant exposed to bombing. This method of erecting duplicate facilities should be followed in this country, for the more vital factories at least.

JOIN THE NAVY.

Those who ascribed a decline in naval enlistments a couple of weeks back to the fatalities aboard the Kearny and Reuben James have been confounded by the reaction of young men in Chicago and elsewhere to the much more serious news from Hawaii. Applications in this city for enlistments in all branches of our armed services jumped on Monday to five times the previous daily rate.

We thought at the time that that explanation of slackened enlistments was a slander on American young men, and said so. Events prove that we were right.

At this time Americans anxious to defend their country will do well to give particular thought to the navy. It and our air forces, including those under naval command, will be our first line of defense during the next year, at least. It is probable that the navy, having received the first blow, will also be the first to retaliate.

The army has the selective service act with which to fill its ranks. The United States navy has from its birth been a volunteer organization. There has been talk that because of the rapid expansion of the navy draftees might be assigned to it also. In view of navy traditions, such an action would be a reproach to American fighting men. The best way to forestall it is to join the navy.

MAIL FOR FIGHTERS ABROAD.

Recently public complaint has been made by families of soldiers stationed in Iceland that when they mailed Christmas packages to the boys they found the postal rates in many instances in excess of the value of the gifts. With the war in the Pacific, Iceland becomes a symptom of a situation that, in justice to the men in the armed services, should be corrected without delay.

The postoffice department can well afford to forego any foreign postal revenue on comforts sent to our men on foreign service. The rule should be established that on such parcels the only postage charge be that to a designated port of embarkation.

In all probability the shipment of the parcels across the sea must be handled in any event by the army or navy rather than the postoffice department. Military priorities may demand that private packages be limited in weight, but that is the sensible limitation, rather than one imposed by excessive postal charges.

NO RAILROAD BOTTLENECK.

The nation's production in the aggregate did not expand after the United States entered the war in 1917. Business activity was already at the highest level ever attained, largely as a result of the exporting business we as a neutral had been doing with the allies.

Further expansion of output last time was prevented by several influences. The factories couldn't turn out so much because a large amount of man power was diverted to the armed forces. The immigration of farm boys to the cities was discouraged by the extraordinary agricultural prosperity. Construction work, particularly of training camps in the earlier months and of shipbuilding facilities later, restricted manufacturing output.

Probably more important than any of these was the lack of sufficient transport facilities to move a larger amount of product. There was an enormous amount of inconvenience and loss all over the country because of the inability of the railroads to keep traffic moving freely. It was at first thought to be due to the lack of ships at the Atlantic ports. Subsequently there were ships at ports awaiting the delivery of their cargoes from the interior. It was not due alone to a shortage of cars, but to the fact that the scale of industry was beyond the capacity of the loading, unloading, switching, and terminal facilities of the country.

This time it seems very unlikely that the railroads will constitute a bottleneck which will prevent the increase of our production of defense materials. The output of American industry is now twice as great as it was at the peak of the last war. The railroads have been able to transport this vast amount of freight without the slightest strain. They planned to handle a million cars in the peak week in October. The total business presented was only 922,884 cars.

Reduction of factory working forces by the draft will keep any further increase in our total production from increasing much more than 25 per cent in the next year or two. There will be diversion from peacetime goods to war requirements, but only a small aggregate addition to total output. Consequently, it is to be expected that the railroads will be able to handle promptly all the freight turned over to them. No blockade of the railroads should develop which would justify the government again to take over the operation of the lines.

LABOR IN WARTIME.

War brought from President William Green of the AFL the declaration that the federation's no strike policy must now be made binding on all local unions. President Philip Murray of the CIO pledged unselfishness and self-sacrifice in a program of uninterrupted production. John L. Lewis chimed in.

These prompt statements from labor leaders led the senate labor committee to postpone until today consideration of the drastic anti-strike bill passed last week by the house. That bill contains provisions relating to union accounting, designed to protect unions against racketeers, that are needed regardless of the war emergency. But in so far as it applied to the purely anti-strike provisions, the senate action seems wise. Repressive measures should not be needed now. The force of public opinion, in which working men are united with all of the rest of us, should be sufficient to prevent any interruption of production.

But the welders' union, a group of secessionists from the AFL, has resumed strike preparations within 24 hours after it canceled them on hearing the news from Hawaii. The welders' case is a peculiar one, directed not against employers, but against the AFL, from which they withdrew when refused a charter.

They want all welders in an international union. The AFL has held for years the welding torch is a common tool which members of any metal working union may use. This proliferation of jurisdictional lines that the welders propose may not be too wise, but it certainly is in line with the fundamental craft union philosophy of the AFL. This is an opportunity for Mr. Green to go to bat and show that he means what he says. The concessions in this case must come from one union or another. Employers are powerless. The fact that the welders have pulled out of the AFL is immaterial. They are out only because their demands were, in effect, ignored.

Right here in Chicago another strike threat has arisen which may tie up the whole railway express business of the country, employing 40,000 men. The point at issue is the refusal of the express agency management to follow in full the recommendations of the fact finding board in the railroad strike case. Express employés belong to the railway clerks' union.

This dispute may be settled by the time these remarks reach our readers. It should be. It is unthinkable that an important transportation industry should be tied up in a difference over 1½ cents an hour in pay.

The president of the railway clerks' union is George M. Harrison. When he has finished the business at hand, Mr. Harrison will do labor and the nation a great service if he will make a public answer to a most important question. No one is better fitted, by reason of integrity, intelligence, and patriotism, to answer it.

The question is this: The strike is the only really effective legal weapon that labor has to enforce its demands and make collective bargaining a genuine process of give and take. If the national interest demands that strikes cease for the period of the war, what recompense and protection should labor receive in return?

The fact—we feel certain that it is a fact—that public opinion will not tolerate strikes does not mean that the whole subject matter of industrial relations is made any less pressing and vexatious by war. The contrary is true. Their mutual problems are going to tax the intelligence and good will of management and labor as never before. But the furnaces and lathes and assembly lines must be kept running while the differences are settled.

WAR IN THE REAL LOG CABIN AREA.

[Des Moines Register.]

What an odd jump it gives to our American hearts to see in these pictures of the fighting on the north Russian and Finnish fronts real old-fashioned American log cabins, the kind Abe Lincoln and many another American President was born in, with the notched logs laid horizontally and sticking out at the corners.

For the north Russians, the Finns, the Swedes, and the Norwegians are forest people, with few hands and many trees, like our American pioneers in the wooded parts of the country from the Appalachians to the great plains.

Indeed, it is probably from the Swedes of Delaware that the "typically American" log cabin came. The settlers at Jamestown never knew of it, nor the Plymouth Pilgrims, and not until about 1750 did it become common domestic architecture of the frontier.

But where we cut down our forests, and have log cabins only as occasional show places and remnants [most of them veneered fakes], northern Europe's forests are still there, and in many sections log cabins are apparently still the handiest, cheapest kind of house.

But what a shock it is to have raids without warning, slaughter of prisoners, murder of hostages, wars of extermination once again in a log cabin setting—this time without the excuse of "savages."

LOANS MAKE PRICES.

[Detroit News.]

Uncle Sam, thru his department of agriculture, offers to lend farmers 74.8 cents a bushel on this year's corn crop. That doesn't mean much to the average city dweller until he learns that high priced corn means high priced meat, and meat already is much higher priced than it has been before since the period of inflated prices after World war I.

What do loans have to do with prices? They make them. At least, they guarantee them, for Uncle Sam doesn't use the care of other loaning agencies. He ostensibly takes the farmer's corn as security, but lending full value on stuff accepted as security isn't very secure. Both parties distinctly understand that whenever the corn market drops below the 74.8 cents a bushel, the farmer can say, "Uncle, that corn is yours. I'll keep your money and the deal is closed!"

So, while Uncle Sam is threatening to put ceilings over prices, he is laying his cash on the line to keep corn prices and meat prices up.

GLIMPSES OF GUAM.

Few Americans outside of navy circles have ever been in Guam, our lonely island outpost in the Pacific which now figures in the war news. Shall we give you some of its atmosphere? The quotations will be from a work of our own writing.

"That pin point on the map of the Pacific, west of the meridian which separates Sunday from Monday. . . . The simple ritual of island social life—dinners, bridge, swimming at Piti, motor picnics up in the hills, where one could swoon over the ocean view like stout Cortez—or wasn't it Balboa?—silent upon a peak in Darien. There was always the same little group of officers and their wives, day after day. Carabao carts, old Spanish houses of coral rock, Chamorro shacks, taro patches, coconut palms, and the all-enchanting sea."

"Long hikes together among the plantations and up into the hills, both of them marveling over flying foxes and chichiritas, and hoping to see a Mariana deer; a stiff climb up Mount Chachao and along the hogback to Mount Tenjo, from which they could look down into Apra harbor; a hunt for the edible nests of cliff swallows; junkets by motor and horseback to old Spanish ruins at Umatac, where there had been a palace and a cathedral until the earthquake of 1779, and to Fort Santo Angel, which had repulsed attacks by pirates in its long-dead day."

"They drove almost as far north as the road would carry them, and at last parked under the shoulder of Mount Santa Rosa, over which the moon was staring. The fragrance of ylang-ylang blossoms was in the air. Tropic night sounds, curious and startling, came to their ears: the thin twittering of bats, the ghostly fluttering of sphynx moths, the grunt and crashing stampede of a wild hog."

* * *

The quotations are from "The Dark Island," by the editor of this column and Gene Markey, published in 1928. It was the first piece of American fiction to use Guam as a locale.

CLOCK AND CALENDAR.

From the wall of my study frowningly
A clock and a calendar stare at me.

Sometimes I give a half heeding glance
At the old clock's solemn countenance,

And often I number the days that are Held in the clasp of the calendar.

The clock counts the hours until midday, then
Sighs and counts them all over again.

And slowly the calendar on the wall
Sheds days as a tree sheds leaves in the fall.

They serve me well, but they also mock—
The calendar on the wall and the clock,

And sometimes I wish they would go away
And let me forget the year and the day.

The Newspaper Reporter in 1882.

Excerpt from an address by John Ritchie of the Associated Press at the second annual banquet of the Chicago Press club, held in the Palmer House on Saturday, Jan. 14, 1882:

"A good newsgatherer must be a walking encyclopedia, for his city editor may at any moment steer him against a society the shortest word in whose vocabulary is 'hypsiprymnotic riegalosaurus' or 'homologous anthropodan' [sic], or he may be asked to take in a discussion on the ascent of the monad. Now there is nothing in nature so refreshing to a reporter as looking on the struggles of a well regulated monad raising himself in the world, but very few of us care to track him thru the underbrush of protoplasm and several other asms until he reaches the solemn dignity of a monad; and still less does the reporter desire to chase him thru the successive stages by which he becomes a bipedal anthropoid. Yet, with all this erudition vibrating along the wires of his mental apparatus, the newsgatherer is coolly dispatched to supervise a rooster dispute, or a scrapping match." Walter E. Ewert.

One Way to Lose a Girl Friend.

Socrates' mode of deduction by syllogism proved disastrous to me when I tried it on my girl friend. I told her that her face made time stand still and then proceeded according to Socrates, thus:

1. Major premise: Her face made time stand still.
2. Minor premise: The time element and the clock are akin.
3. Conclusion: Therefore, her face stops a clock.

LINE BOOK LOGIC.

The Line Book is delectable,
Omitting all that's diabolic,
And thus it is respectable
And not the least bit vitriolic.

But there's another reason why
You'll like the Line Book ev'ry minute;
And that's because a certain guy,
In fact Yours Truly is not in it.

Now It Can Be Told.

I am proud of my copy of "The Thistle," with M'Tavish's autograph. The illustration on page 42 answers a question I have long pondered over. Streets That Went Astray.

An old-timer tells me that Plymouth court, between State and Dearborn, was once known as 3d avenue; that Federal street was 4th avenue, and Wells street was 5th avenue. I'm curious to know where 1st and 2d avenues were supposed to be, if any. Buckshot, O. R. S.

PNEUMONIA GERMS—"NOT WANTED."

THE pneumonia season will soon be upon us. Neglected colds, which hang on, encourage the ailment to "take hold." When resistance drops to a fairly low level one may fall easy prey to the pneumococcus or to some other organism which has reached the lungs.

Altho the disease is "catching," the reason more of us do not become victims is because our bodies possess enough germ destroying elements to ward off the invaders. But there are 33 known forms of the pneumonia "bug" and the system may have a rather difficult time to remain aloof from each and every one.

How does the battle start? As a rule the attack is sudden—with a chill, a pain in the side, rapid breathing, and fever. Within a few hours a harsh cough may develop, with expectoration which gradually becomes "rusty"—indicating the presence of blood.

Rest in bed is imperative plus the best nursing care that can be procured. We must understand that we are confronted with a relatively short but severe illness, so that only expert management should be accepted. Hospital care has many advantages. Continuous observation by a doctor is available, the laboratory is immediately at hand for what aid it can give, and—if oxygen is needed—it can be secured with but a few minutes' delay.

Are there specific remedies? Yes! We have serums [horse and rabbit]. But before either is used the variety of the pneumococcus which is responsible must be ascertained. Antitoxin against type II. will not help if the microbe is type XII. If either of these neutralizing agents is employed we must be sure that the patient is properly desensitized so that no reaction will occur.

Within the last few years physicians have come to rely heavily upon drugs of the sulfonamide group. Three appear to be helpful—sulfapyridine, sulfathiazole, and sulfadiazine. We know enough about these chemicals to realize that they are life saving in many instances. But we must be on the alert, as they are not foolproof. They may bring on kidney irritation or they may be responsible for nausea and vomiting.

As a rule the patient should respond to their influence within 36 hours. If all goes well the change for the better is little short of spectacular. The temperature may fall and, other than weakness, the victim seems to be out of danger. Physicians usually advise the continuance of the drug for a few days after the fever has disappeared and the pulse rate returned to normal.

We must not forget the beneficent rôle of oxygen. This gas may be breathed with almost instantaneous aid. So much of the lung has been thrown out of commission that the remainder is overworked. Allowing the patient to inhale oxygen fills the blood with this vital gas, even tho only a portion is used for this purpose.

Some day, perhaps, our laboratories will succeed in preparing a vaccine. At any rate, we can say that the malady has lost much of its terror thru better nursing, the employment of serum, and the administration of powerful chemicals.

WAR AS A UNIFIER.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 7.—War is undoubtedly the surest and most direct road to national unification. Today, at the declaration of war by Japan, America became one. All past discrepancies and differences of opinion, all variance as to our national policies were dissolved; isolationists demanded action, college boys of draft age, former objectors, marched down the campus streets waving the American flag and blowing army choruses on the bugle.

Well, war has unified our nation in an instant—that is good and necessary; no nation can long survive without fits of unification and reunification—but it has taken a war to do it. Let us hope that it does not prove worse than the fate it averts! THOMAS SPENCER GALLO.

A 33D DIVISION CLUB.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Dad! Do you have a son in the army, particularly at Camp Forrest? If answer is yes, you will be interested in knowing of the existence of the "33d Division Men's club," composed mostly of fathers of boys now stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn. Also in our club are uncles, nephews, cousins, brothers, and even former soldier boys like myself.

We are a friendly group of men who work during the day and find time twice each month in the evening to get together and talk about different subjects which are vital to our loved ones at camp.

If YOU or any one else that you know of are interested in joining this club won't you please drop me a line or two, or give me a buzz on the phone if that is more convenient. This club is not sponsored by any one!

AN INDORSEMENT.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—I want to express my gratitude for the editorial in your paper: "We All Have But One Task."

Have been a resident here only since last May, and while I have been a daily reader of your paper, I have not been entirely in accord with your policies or your attacks on the present administration.

Am an ex-service man—served overseas, and it is therefore a great pleasure to me to be able to thank you for such a timely and government supporting editorial.

It was also a pleasure to see the quotation on page 14:—"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."

This is my first letter to an editor anywhere, but I couldn't resist the impulse. MAX BERMAN.

FIREMEN IN THE CRISIS.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Apparently it takes an emergency like the present crisis to make the city fathers realize how pitifully undermanned our Chicago fire department is.

I understand that since Sunday all firemen have been confined to their quarters with but three hours off per day.

There are not sufficient sleeping facilities for the men. Some are sleeping on the floor, others on the apparatus. Why not add a thousand more men? A READER.

WAR DEVISED BY GERMANY?

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 9.—Japan's declaration of war on the United States is probably a plan devised and projected upon Japan by Hitler. It is hardly conceivable that Japan would have taken this drastic step if she had not had strong assurances from Germany that she could soon send to Japan the full weight of her assistance. For material aid from this country to Great Britain has become a serious menace to Germany, and to find a colleague willing to risk serious losses in order to tie up the United States navy was almost too much to be hoped for by Germany.

So let us not lose sight of the attempt to confuse our vision by transferring all of our weight to our battle with Japan. Great Britain and Russia need our supplies in increasing amounts and if we fail to send them the likelihood of the fall of Russia and a quick mop up of the British Isles is possible if not highly probable. H. J. V.

ALL-OUT WAR ON JAPAN.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—As shown by a letter of mine in the Voice of the People immediately after the sinking of the Panay, I was strongly in favor of immediate naval and air war against Japan and of all-out aid to China in war supplies of every needful kind.

Now that Japan has struck at us again and more savagely, we should concentrate all our efforts for the speediest possible destruction of the Japanese fleet and air force and should give all-out aid to China in war supplies so that the Japanese cutthroats may be driven from China. No peace should be made with Japan except upon the unalterable condition that she completely disarm and accept proper arrangements so that she may be kept disarmed indefinitely. ERNEST BRADSHAW.

MAINE'S UTOPIA WINKS OUT.

Alpena, Mich., Dec. 7.—A few years ago the state of Maine's natives believed that the Quoddy project, when completed, would generate such an abundance of electrical power that it would be possible for them to plant, cultivate, dig, barrel, and market potatoes without using up any more energy than is necessary to close an electrical switch attached to the inside of the doors of their outhouses.

Time has passed and the weeds grow higher and higher about abandoned, uncompleted Quoddy. At last, the natives of Maine begin to grasp the fact that there's no such thing as a "tater" utopia. And, for this lesson those of us who live in the other 47 states should be thankful. N. V. DAY.

CHILDREN OF YESTERYEAR.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—It burns me up to hear and read of all the money being collected and the preparations being made for a Merry Christmas for children and families with children but with no thought of the children of yesteryear. To the lonely old people trying to exist on old age pittance, a nice basket of groceries with a real piece of meat—even without a gift—would look like manna from heaven.

Here's hoping the children of a lost generation will be remembered. L. A.

GOOD MOVIES COME LATE.

Chicago, Dec. 8.—Is Chicago a large city or backward village? I've lived here all my life and always considered it fairly large. Why must it play second fiddle to a bunch of hick towns? I shouldn't be afraid to bet that, on inquiry, it would be found that more than nine-tenths of all the towns and cities of this country receive the good moving pictures at least two months before Chicago. WAGE AND HOUR LAW.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there anything in the wage and hour law which permits an inspector from that department to enter the premises of a business house during working hours and take up the time of the plant and office help in asking personal questions, such as how much salary they make, when they got their last raise, and how much time they work, etc.? On two separate occasions we have been subjected to this procedure, and it is resented not only by the executives of our organization but by our employés as well. If there is no law giving them these rights we will in the future refuse such permission. L. M.

Sec. 11 [a] of Labor Laws—Federal reads in part as follows: "The administrator or his designated representatives may investigate and gather data regarding the wages, hours, and other conditions and practices of employment in any industry subject to this act, and may enter and inspect such places and such records [and make such transcriptions thereof], question such employés, and investigate such facts, conditions, practices, or matters as he may deem necessary or appropriate to determine whether any person has violated any provision of this act."

We see no basis for reading into this a requirement that the questioning must be at night or on Sunday.

69 ENEMY ALIENS DENIED OATH OF U. S. CITIZENSHIP

FBI Seizes 31 Others in Chicago Area.

Sixty-nine German and Italian nationals were denied the oath of American citizenship yesterday by Federal Judge William H. Holly, acting upon instructions from Washington.

The order was received by Fred J. Schlotfeldt, district director of immigration and naturalization, soon after President Roosevelt's proclamation declaring all Japanese, German, and Italian nationals to be enemy aliens.

The naturalization code forbids induction of natives of enemy countries except on special appeals and after a 90 day period of investigation has passed. Some of those who hurried in to be naturalized yesterday have been in the country as aliens for 40 years.

31 Enemy Aliens Seized.

The federal bureau of investigation directed the seizure of 31 enemy aliens in Chicago and its suburbs yesterday, according to Albert H. Johnson, agent in charge. Six Japanese and 25 Germans were arrested.

The aliens were held without charges under the authority of the internal security act. As soon as they were picked up they were taken to the new postoffice, where they were questioned and identified by Schlotfeldt's men. Later they were taken to Fort Sheridan, probably to await removal to detention camps.

Death Prevents Arrest.

FBI agents went to the home of Frederick G. Miller, 74 years old, 938 Morris street, Hammond, to arrest him, but arrived just before he died of heart disease. Miller had been a German leader in Lake county, Indiana, for 50 years, it was said. Agents also arrested Heinz Bamberg, 3219 North Whipple street, said to be treasurer of the Hansa fund for the protection of German nationals.

During the day the United States treasury took over two additional Japanese art goods stores, bringing to eight the total seized since hostilities began.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, amplifying his promise of speedy prosecution of all spies and saboteurs, declared yesterday that he intended to keep a grand jury in session continuously to speed up court action.

REHEARSAL RAID ALARMS DISRUPT AIR LINE SERVICE

Air line services on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts were thrown into confusion for several hours yesterday as the country's radio range navigational stations were cut off for "dress rehearsal" air raid alarms. Airplanes of all the major lines were grounded at La Guardia airport for an hour or more. A score of planes in the air at noon [Chicago time] were landed at off-schedule points for brief periods at the height of the confusion.

After military authorities on the east coast announced they had been unable to confirm reports that enemy aircraft were near by and civilian groups had announced that the calls were sent out merely to provide the dress rehearsal, the regularly scheduled operations of the air lines were resumed. Electric power to the radio beam network along bands 100 miles inland from both coasts was turned off for periods of from 30 to 45 minutes. When the ranges ceased to broadcast their signals the air lines ordered their planes to land.

Last night all radio beam facilities were back in operation and all air lines were flying on schedule.

AIR, SHIP TRAFFIC CLEARED FROM PACIFIC OCEAN

Commercial traffic across the Pacific, either by ship or airplane, has virtually ceased, but communications systems—radio and cable—still are functioning almost as in normal times, it was learned here yesterday. Apparently most commercial concerns had made extensive preparations for a crisis and when the Japanese attack on Honolulu came American steamers, freighters, and airplanes fled to ports of safety.

The only commercial plane destroyed was Pan-American Airways' S-42 Sikorsky Clipper, which was bombed and machine gunned at Kowloon near Hongkong. This boat burned but no lives were lost. Two other Clippers were in the air in danger zones, but they were flown to points of safety.

A Matson line spokesman in Chicago yesterday said that none of his company's ships was lost. Several were west of Honolulu, including a number of freighters and at least one passenger liner. All have made port safely, he said. A number of Canadian steamers in the same areas also have made port.

Open Verdict in Death of Aviation Recruit

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict yesterday in its investigation of the death of Robert Allman, 22 years old, who was found shot Monday in his home at 5555 Everett avenue. He was to have entered the naval air service in a few days. A rifle and cleaning materials were near his body, and police testified Allman may have shot himself accidentally as he was about to clean the gun.

GREEN SUMMONS SPECIAL SESSION TO MEET DEC. 18

State Defense Plans Taking Shape.

Plans to expand and coördinate state defense efforts began to take form yesterday as Gov. Dwight H. Green called a special session of the legislature for noon on Dec. 18.

The call was announced at a meeting of the Illinois State Council of Defense and state officers in the La Salle hotel. Warning against the danger of sabotage, the governor announced that every resource and facility of Illinois must be thrown into national defense.

"The special session of the general assembly will be requested to consider the greater extent to which the reserve militia and the highway police can be strengthened and utilized," the governor said. "Also presented to them will be the problem of a more intensive safeguarding of public health and sanitation."

Committee to Be Named.

The governor said that he planned to appoint a committee to coördinate defense efforts. Members and chairman, responsible to Gov. Green, would consider needs and strategy for the state militia, now numbering slightly more than 5,000 men, state police, state's attorney's police, sheriffs and their forces, and fire departments.

Appointment of such a coördination committee had been urged in a resolution presented at the meeting by Rep. Elmer J. Schnackenberg, speaker of the house. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Green said that Civil Aeronautics authority already had asked for assistance of state police in guarding airports.

The governor accepted with enthusiasm the offer of N. Curtis Cation, state commander of the American Legion, to enlist the state's 92,000 members in defense work. Members of the Legion, under a plan worked out a year ago, would serve as fire and air wardens and first aid workers in an organization similar to the English civilian defense system.

Tried Out in New England.

The plan, tried out at the New England war games, grew out of a study made of the English system by National Commander Milo J. Warner, Cation said.

Dr. Roland R. Cross, state health director, and Clarence W. Klassen, sanitary engineer, reported on efforts to protect milk supplies, insure water purity, and organize in case of disaster or epidemic.

Dr. A. W. Buswell, chief of the water survey, held that it might be necessary to construct an aqueduct from Lake Michigan to the Joliet ordnance plants, where ground water supplies are nearing exhaustion.

Dr. M. M. Leighton of the state geological survey spoke of the importance of the Illinois oil supply in wartime, and said that additional geologists would be needed to gather information needed by the oil coordinator in Washington, D. C.

State Adjutant General Leo M. Boyle then reported on the state militia. The meeting was called into executive session to hear this report and make recommendations for further defense activities.

Kelly Calls for Workers.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly, chairman of the Chicago Commission on National Defense, during the day called for 250,000 volunteer defense workers in the city of Chicago.

The mayor announced that within the week the local defense commission would be moved into Iroquois Memorial hospital. Applications for places in the Chicago defense setup, he said, may be made at any police or fire station.

At the same time he named Judge Harold G. Ward as his deputy chairman. Plans were made to ask the council today for 1,000 more policemen, and 800 additional firemen.

An appeal also was issued for all mayors, other principal local government officials, and their assistant defense coördinators in the Chicago area to meet in the city council chambers at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

GERMAN-ITALIAN INVASION PERILS U. S., SAYS F.D.R.

Axis Nationals Called Alien Enemies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Proclamations made public today by President Roosevelt asserted that a German and Italian invasion of the United States is threatened.

Three proclamations were issued by the President. They designated German, Italian, and Japanese nationals as "alien enemies" and gave the department of justice and the intelligence branches of the army and the navy authority to round up Italians and Germans considered dangerous to American security.

The proclamations were signed yesterday but were not made public by the White House until this afternoon. It was understood lists of suspicious Germans and Italians have been under compilation for months.

Each Nation Designated.

One proclamation related to Germany, the second to Italy, and the third to Japan. The two relating to the European axis partners contained the phrase:

"An invasion or predatory incursion is threatened upon the territory of the United States."

The proclamation relating to Japan said an invasion already had been perpetrated by that power.

The principal effect of the proclamations was to place close restriction on the actions of nationals of the three axis nations.

Banned from Canal Zone.

Attached to the proclamations were regulations forbidding any alien enemy to remain within the Panama Canal Zone.

No enemy aliens will be permitted to enter or leave the Hawaiian or the Philippine Islands. Military commanders will deal with violation of this regulation.

Japanese, German, and Italian nationals also were forbidden to enter or leave Alaska, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, and were forbidden to possess implements or component parts of implements of war, firearms, ammunition, explosives, short wave radios, including receivers and transmitters, signal devices, and cameras.

The alien nationals were ordered not to undertake airplane flights without specific jurisdiction from the attorney general or the secretary of war.

APPEAL FILED BY 5 CIO MEN IN STRIKE RIOT

Five members of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee [CIO], who were found guilty of rioting during a garment workers' strike in Michigan City filed an appeal yesterday to the Superior court at La Porte, Ind.

The men were tried last Thursday before Judge Neville V. Williams in the City court at Michigan City. Each was fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in jail.

They are: Frank Grider, subdistrict director for the SWOC; Joe Goin, Jacinto Pacheco, John McAllister, and Alfred Rebollo. All are at liberty on bond.

Uninhabitable Areas to Be Subject of Study

A study of unincorporated areas in Cook county which are unfit for habitation because of inadequate drainage and water supply was ordered yesterday by the county board. Pending completion of the study the county zoning board was ordered to discourage or withhold permits for construction of homes in questionable areas. The study will be made by the zoning board, the highway department, and the public health service.

AIR RAID ALERTS ON EAST COAST FALSE ALARMS

Misunderstood Query Brought Warnings.

New York, Dec. 9 [Special].—An apparent misunderstanding today brought the eastern seaboard from New York to Boston its first air raid warnings of the war on the report that enemy planes were approaching the nation's largest city.

Millions of persons had responded to the alert and the startling report had spread thruout the country before it was finally revealed as a false alarm. It resulted, however, in a test of warning and civilian defense organizations which high army and air forces later agreed was a good thing.

Just a Misunderstanding.

From available information, it appeared that this was what happened:

A man, said to be fully identified, telephoned army headquarters at Governors Island, N. Y., that he had heard a Washington radio station broadcast a report that bombers had been reported. He wanted to know if it was true. A Governors Island official telephoned the inquiry to Mitchel field, army air base, where it seemed to have been misunderstood as a war department warning. Taking no chances, Mitchel field sent interceptor planes into the air.

The report quickly spread thruout the greater New York area and to other communities along the seaboard. Navy patrols soared along the coast. Fire and police sirens screamed. Thousands of civilian employés were rushed out of vital defense factories and army and navy centers, while air raid wardens rushed to their posts, believing it was the real thing.

Two Alarms in Hour.

The New York area had two raid alarms within an hour shortly after noon. Boston was on the alert for more than an hour. The huge new naval air base at Quonset Point, R. I., responded to an air alarm at 12:45 p. m. and all civilians were ordered to evacuate.

School children thruout the supposedly endangered area, a million in New York City alone, were sent home.

All planes at the New York Municipal airport were grounded and ordered from runways. Every available piece of fire fighting equipment was placed at vantage points at the field.

The alarms sent stock prices in New York into the most severe slump since the retreat of the British at Dunkerque in May, 1940. [Details in financial section.]

All Clear; New Alarm.

An all-clear signal followed 20 minutes after the first alarm, but at 2:05 p. m. the wailing of sirens sounded another warning. It later developed, however, that the second alarm was the result of a small fire that broke out at Mitchel field. In the confusion of a fire alarm a second alert had been sounded.

New Yorkers were directed by frequent commercial radio announcements to stay off the streets.

Altho New York felt the greatest impact of the tests, similar preparations were being made simultaneously in Boston and other New England communities.

Blackout Rio Grande Valley.

Harlingen, Tex., Dec. 9 (AP).—The lower Rio Grande valley of Texas was blacked out tonight by order of Maj. Grover C. Goodrich, commander of Fort Brown, who announced that it was a test.

Fix Prices on Flashlights.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today fixed ceiling prices on flashlights and their bulbs and batteries, essential items in times of blackouts. The order forbids sale at prices above the average highest quoted price for the two months ending Dec. 1.

ASK NEUTRAL AID IN SWAP OF JAPS FOR U. S. ENVOYS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The United States has asked a neutral nation to negotiate the exchange of Americans in Japan for Japanese subjects trapped here by the war.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull requested a neutral European nation to undertake the difficult diplomatic and transportation arrangements.

More than 100 American diplomatic and consular officials were on duty in Japan, occupied China, Manchukuo, Thailand, and French Indo-China when Japanese warplanes struck at Hawaii and the Philippines. Between 35 and 50 Japanese government officials are in America.

The state department has received word that all members of the staffs of the American embassy at Tokio, the embassy at Peiping, consulate general at Shanghai, consulate general at Hongkong and consulate at Manila are safe and well.

Aside from the diplomats, there are about 5,000 Americans in Japan or Japanese occupied territories, for whom some of the 93,000 Japanese registered in the United States might be exchanged if transportation could be arranged.

The Better Way to Treat Constipation

One way to treat constipation is to endure it first and "cure" it afterward. The other way is to avoid having it by getting at its cause. So why not save yourself those dull headachy days, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can do it by a simple common-sense "ounce of prevention"?

If your trouble, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, "the better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy, toasted, ready-to-eat cereal has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it regularly—and drink plenty of water—you can not only get regular but keep regular, day after day and month after month! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

MACHINE WAR IS OUR SPECIALTY, SAYS KETTERING

Tells Manufacturers What Is Needed.

Our country is much better prepared than would appear on the surface, Charles F. Kettering, vice president of the General Motors corporation and one of the nation's leading inventors, last night told 2,000 persons at the annual meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers association in the Stevens hotel.

"That we are advanced," he said, is in part the result of men in the army and navy who were far sighted in their thinking. But we were at peace and they couldn't get the country's interest. Now we are moving ahead rapidly."

Supreme in Power Production.

Mechanized war is power war, he said, and in the production of power this country excels all others. Three large manufacturers alone are producing more than 4,500,000 horsepower in aviation engines each month, or more than three times what the power of the facilities at Grand Coulee will be when they are completed.

"We have got to put power to uses never known before," he continued. "We are going to have to produce arms in unheard of volume. But we will do it.

"Don't let any one tell you that they can do things better in any other country. They can't. There is no nation in the world that understands mass production as we do and mass production is now producing. But we all must remember—there can be no accomplishment without trouble. Above all we need practice."

Tells of New Lubricant.

Speaking of recent accomplishments, Kettering said that within the last six months there has been developed a lubricant 10,000 per cent better than any we now have. This new lubricant will entirely change the operation of internal combustion engines.

Despite the cruel efforts of the dictators, Kettering said, this world will not go backward. Once a fact or an idea is brought forth it goes on forever.

Manufacturers are going to have lots of troubles, he said, but they must be patient. They are going to have to deal with government, which is expensive and wasteful. They will be irritated by government inspectors. And they will have to keep ever at the production of better goods. "Speed is essential."

LEADERS STUDY PART OF YOUTH IN WAR CRISIS

Chicago's youth can play an important rôle in the war as air raid warden assistants, rescue party workers, and Red Cross workers, civic and youth leaders agreed yesterday at a roundtable discussion called by Carl Stockholm of the Office of Civilian Defense and director of the physical fitness program for the 6th corps area. The discussion on "Youth's Place in the Crisis," was held at the Chicago Youth Exposition in the Hotel Sherman.

Young men unable to serve with armed forces will be needed in the defense industries, the group said, and young women probably will be needed soon in productive work, nutritional work, and providing entertainment at army camps.

Five youngsters, outstanding in their field, were awarded medals last night at the exposition's Sports Celebrity banquet. Margaret Aherne, 11 years old, of 5064 West Monroe street, and James DeBitt, 12, of 4202 Jackson boulevard, received their awards for being the best handicraft makers of contestants from 22 Chicago parks. Also fêted were the three best newspaper hawkers in the city: Billy Pape, 12, of 839 Garibaldi place; his brother, Thomas, 14, and Dominic Visandro, 12, of 1420 Taylor street.

ARMY AND NAVY HUNTING FOE OFF PACIFIC COAST

General Rebukes Citizens for Complacency.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 9 [Special].—Army and navy planes and naval surface craft searched off the Pacific coast for possible Japanese airplane carriers and submarines today as Brig. Gen. Carlyle H. Wash warned that "the possibility of an air attack is still present."

Enemy airplane carriers have been variously reported off the California, north Pacific, and Alaskan coasts. Unconfirmed reports were circulated that an enemy airplane carrier had been sunk some 400 miles west of San Francisco. The exact extent of the search was a military secret.

General Warns Citizens.

Lieut. Gen. John L. De Witt, commanding general of the 4th army, bluntly told the San Francisco civilian defense emergency meeting "it might have been a good thing if bombs had been dropped last night to wake this community up to the seriousness of the situation."

Angered by persistent rumors that the impromptu blackout last night was "all a hoax," and by the attitude of skepticism on the part of some citizens, Gen. De Witt told the meeting:

"Japanese planes were over this community last night. They were tracked and followed to sea.

"I am not telling you I can prevent bombs or air raids on this city. Reenforcements are coming, and we will be in better position to do so.

Calls Complacency Criminal.

"The blackout last night was unsatisfactory. Unless active steps are taken to correct the deficiencies, a great deal of destruction will come to San Francisco.

"You read of Honolulu, Singapore, Wake and Guam, but you don't think it can happen here. It's not your fault that you didn't suffer worse last night than any of those cities.

"I never saw such complacency in my life. It's criminal! We're at war, but I don't think that means much to some of you. Apparently it won't until some of your loved ones are killed."

City and military officials hastily made arrangements for an improved blackout system.

Pacific coast radio stations ended nearly 17½ hours of silence imposed in connection with three blackouts last night in the San Francisco bay area. An alarm was sounded at noon today in the same area as the two naval planes returned but it was quickly canceled.

HAWAII CASUALTY LIST ON WAY TO CAPITAL, FLEET CHIEF REVEALS

HONOLULU, Hawaii, Dec. 9 (AP).—Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, commander of the Pacific fleet, today said a list of casualties suffered in Sunday's surprise attack by Japanese planes on Pearl Harbor had been sent to the navy department in Washington.

[This was the first dispatch to be received direct from Honolulu by the Associated Press since a tight censorship was clamped down Sunday following the Japanese attack.]

WAR MAY DELAY WORK ON SUBWAY; RAID STUDY MADE

Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, said yesterday that difficulties in getting materials as a result of the war may further delay subway construction. Previous estimates had called for completion of the State street subway by next fall.

Harrington said a preliminary and unofficial study had been made into the possibility of using the subway as an air raid shelter. He said the 8½ foot subway tunnel would serve satisfactorily as a shelter for some 250,000 persons, or 400,000 including the mezzanine stations.

The 20 foot layer of earth and pavement covering the tunnel would be ample protection, but the mezzanine stations, with only half this depth, might be vulnerable, the commissioner added. Ventilating facilities as planned for subway operation, would be inadequate for large numbers of people for more than a short time, according to Harrington.

DRAFT AGE CUT TO 18 EXPECTED BY GEN. HERSHEY

Thousands More Try to Volunteer in Chicago.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national draft director, yesterday said that in his opinion there is a strong possibility congress will lower the minimum draft age from 21 years to 18, and that men between the ages of 28 and 35 who have been deferred may be called for army service.

Gen. Hershey said the question of reclassifying men deferred because of their occupations already was under consideration. Reclassification of men deferred because of dependency may be taken up later, he added. Only congress has authority to change the draft regulations, Gen. Hershey emphasized when he stopped in Chicago briefly on his way to Washington.

Subject to Recall.

The men 28 years and older who were released recently from army training, because of their age, Gen. Hershey said, fall into two classifications: Those who have been inducted, partly trained and now are furloughed to the reserve may be recalled by the army any time it wants them. Those discharged from the draft by their draft boards are subject only to new draft age legislation which may require their service.

"The question is entirely one of how large an army is wanted," Gen. Hershey said. "We have a million men in the draft now, and by July 1, we will have 1,200,000. This number could be increased by changing the October registration date for the new 21 year olds.

"Last July we were taking men at the rate of 60,000 a month. Recently the year's quota was increased by 150,000 so that the January quota went up from 60,000 to 100,000."

41 Million Available.

There are 41 million men in the country, between the ages of 16 and 64, said Gen. Hershey. At the same time, it is a question of determining how this man power can be used best, which group will make the best fighters, which the best factory workmen, and so on.

"In my opinion women will play a larger part," said Gen. Hershey. "They can replace men working on airplane fabrics, and elsewhere. So far we have leaned over backward in deferring men for work in aviation plants. But the reclassification of all occupational deferments is under discussion."

Asked about farm labor, in connection with occupational deferments, Gen. Hershey said the farmer is the hardest man to replace. For this reason, he said, he believes great consideration will be given to the need for farm hands in keeping up food production.

2,000 Rush to Enlist.

Enlistment in the armed forces yesterday continued at the rushing pace set Monday. More than 2,000 volunteers crowded five Chicago recruiting offices and orders for 2,450 Cook county draft registrants to appear for final physical examinations between Dec. 15 and Dec. 22 were being prepared for mailing.

Paul G. Armstrong, state director of selective service, addressing draft board chairmen and members in the Morrison hotel last night, announced a plan which will allow a minimum of 10 days between the time a draftee is examined by the army and the time of his induction.

Regulations governing draft deferment must be applied more rigidly, Armstrong said, and added that 6,000 men in Illinois have been deferred unnecessarily. He stressed the immediate need for reviewing cases of all deferred registrants who might be reclassified for service.

Ex-Jail Inmate Arrested as Suspect in Burglaries

Chester Rymek, 20 years old, was seized by police yesterday at Monroe and Dearborn streets as a suspected member of a gang of young men believed to be implicated in more than a hundred burglaries. Rymek, who gave his address as 2334 Augusta boulevard, served six months in the county jail for burglary last year.

PATRICK HAMILTON, RENOWNED FOE OF AUTO THIEVES, DIES

Patrick E. Hamilton, retired police sergeant and former head of the stolen automobile bureau of the Chicago Motor club, died yesterday at his home, 3942 Lowell avenue. He was born in Chicago in 1870 and joined the police department at the age of 19 as a patrol wagon driver. He later became a famous detective.

In 1919, after Sergt. Hamilton had been the head of the automobile section of the detective bureau for one year, Chief John Alcock congratulated him on the brilliant record he had made in recovering stolen automobiles and sending automobile thieves to prison. Earlier he had solved several murders.

Sergt. Hamilton began his service with the Chicago Motor club in 1920 and for more than a dozen years continued his warfare on automobile thieves. He retired in 1933.

He is survived by his widow, Margaret, four sons, a daughter, and four sisters.

Funeral services will be from the home on Friday morning to St. Viator's Catholic church, Addison and Keeler avenues.

BURGLARS OVERLOOK JEWELRY.

Attorney Theodore S. Rosenfield of 5132 Blackstone avenue reported to police last night that burglars had taken a $600 fur coat from his apartment, but had overlooked jewelry worth several hundred dollars.

TESTIFIES ABOUT $100,000 IN FIGHT OVER AN ESTATE

William Weinress, executor of the estate of William J. Springer, grain broker who died last Feb. 10, testified before Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday that $100,000 in cash withdrawn by Springer from a bank has been included in the list of the estate's assets.

Weinress testified at a hearing on a petition of David J. A. Hayes, conservator for Springer's first wife, Marie Agnes, who is in Manteno State hospital. Hayes asked a citation to discover assets of the estate, the value of which is placed at $200,000. The case was continued to Dec. 29.

Mrs. Marie Springer is disputing the broker's will, which left his estate to his second wife, Mrs. Alyse Springer, and the two children of his second marriage, Shirley, 16, and William Jr., 14. Mrs. Alyse Springer died June 23. Mrs. Marie Springer contends that she is Springer's widow and is therefore entitled to one-third of the estate.

SERVICES HELD FOR LOUIS FELT, PIONEER IN CITY

Funeral services were held yesterday for Louis Wilbur Felt, 94 years old, a pioneer Chicagoan, who died Monday in his home at 708 Junior terrace. He was buried in Calvary. Mr. Felt was born near Stockholm, Sweden, and came to Chicago in 1855. His father, member of an Illinois cavalry regiment, fell in battle in Tennessee during the Civil war.

Mr. Felt worked as a boy on THE TRIBUNE more than 75 years ago, and he recalled those early days of this newspaper in a letter which he wrote in the Graphic section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE three years ago. He operated a photography studio on the near north side for 50 years before his retirement 22 years ago. Mr. Felt leaves his widow, Esmeralda, and four daughters, Blanche, Mrs. Mildred Halla, Mrs. Beatrix Graham, and Mrs. Fernande Burton.

L. F. ZYGMUNT, 50, ACTIVE IN POLISH AFFAIRS, IS DEAD

Attorney Lawrence F. Zygmunt, banker and active in Polish civic affairs, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital after a brief illness. He was 50 years old and lived at 2300 North Lorel avenue.

Mr. Zygmunt was attorney for and director of the Milwaukee Avenue National bank, 1200 North Ashland avenue, and secretary and manager of the Cragin Building and Loan association. He was a former president of the Polish Lawyers' Association of Chicago and of the Polish National Bar Association of America. He also was a member of the Polish National Alliance and a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Surviving are his widow, Cecilia, and a son, Lawrence Jr. Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in St. Stanislaus church at Long and Fullerton avenues.

Dollars for Victory Fund Started by Housing Staff

The 238 staff members of the Chicago Housing authority announced yesterday that they were originating a "dollars for defense and victory" fund. They telegraphed Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. that each one of them would contribute at least a dollar to the fund, to be administered by the treasury.

REDS RECAPTURE RAIL CENTER ON LENINGRAD FRONT

Nazis Repelled in Several Moscow Sectors.

MOSCOW, Dec. 10 [Wednesday] (AP).—Red armies have blasted the Germans out of Tikhvin, important rail center 110 miles southeast of Leningrad, in a decisive 10 day battle that cost the Nazis 7,000 killed, a special soviet communique announced today.

The Germans took Tikhvin 10 days ago, the Russians said, and sought to cut the last rail communications between Leningrad and Volkovsk, "thus bringing our troops in Leningrad to a critical position." The Russians said a German tank division, a motorized division, and an infantry division were destroyed in the 10 days of fighting.

Driven from 7 Villages.

Red troops were said to have driven the Germans out of seven villages with the loss of 1,400 men on the Kalinin front, 95 miles northwest of Moscow.

Red army troops attacking in temperatures as low as 17 degrees below zero and snow 6 to 9 inches deep have forced the Germans from several localities before Moscow and inflicted heavy casualties, soviet government agencies also announced. One source said the Germans had been pressed back with heavy losses in sectors of the important Tula front, 100 miles south of Moscow. A force of 600 Germans was reported wiped out when the Reds recaptured several villages.

[A sizeable axis force has been bottled up at Taganrog in the soviet southern counteroffensive, one Russian report to London declared, while the main retreat of Field Marshal Ewald von Kleist swept on beyond Mariupol, 60 miles to the west.]

Pravda, the communist party newspaper, estimated the Germans had lost approximately 6,000,000 men in killed, wounded, and captured during the first five months of fighting in Russia.

[DNB, the official German news agency, said on Monday that nearly 10,000,000 soviet troops had been "put out of action" since Germany invaded Russia last June 22.]

"No Suspension of Hostilities."

BERLIN, Dec. 9 (AP).—German news from the Russian front was the scarcest today since the Nazi armies marched into the soviet union almost six months ago. The high command dismissed the operations with the words, "only local combat activity."

"This does not mean suspension of hostilities or mean trench warfare of the World war type," a German military spokesman said. "The battle goes on, but it is conditioned by the Russian winter." One source foresaw "tactical fighting aimed at straightening front lines and obtaining more favorable local positions."

Capture Lake Onega Village.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 9 (AP).—Finnish headquarters today announced the capture of the village of Pigmatka on the northeast shore of Lake Onega, about 25 miles south of the city of Povenets.

CHICAGO ASKED FOR $3,750,000 IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Chicago's quota will be $3,750,000 in the American Red Cross drive for $50,000,000 for the United States armed forces, James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago chapter, announced last night. The drive, announced Monday by Norman Davis, national chairman, will begin here next Monday.

Forgan received word from national headquarters that the American Red Cross chapters in Manila and Honolulu were prepared to meet first aid, evacuation, and other civilian problems following the Japanese air raids Sunday.

Twelve Red Cross medical stations, fully equipped with physicians, nurses, first aid personnel, and supplies, were ready in the Philippines, and ten were in operation in Hawaii, the report said.

PARK POLICEMAN SHOT BY BANDITS IN PISTOL BATTLE

Park Policeman Charles Williams was shot three times and seriously wounded last night by two young bandits who attempted to rob a tavern at 4301 North Western avenue. Williams, who was in uniform but off duty, had stopped in at the tavern on his way home when the gunmen entered and spied him.

They immediately opened fire, wounding Williams in the abdomen. He returned the shots, but the gunmen escaped. Williams said he thought he had wounded one of them. The policeman was taken to the Martha Washington hospital. He is 51 years old and lives at 4304 North Campbell avenue.

Too Tall to Serve

Timothy Baskin with his mother in their home at 1446 South Sawyer avenue. His mother is 5 feet 4½ inches tall.

Timothy Baskin, 25 years old, a professional wrestler who calls himself the "one man gang," tried to enlist in the army, the navy, or the marines yesterday. He tried the coast guard, too. None of these branches of the service would accept him because he's 6 feet 7½ inches tall—1½ inches over the limit. "I'll do anything to get into a fighting outfit," he said. "I can't figure this out." Baskin lives at 1446 South Sawyer avenue.

WAR WITH JAPAN SPURS ILLINOIS ARMS JOB DRIVE

The start of war against Japan and the manner of its outbreak have given impetus to Illinois' campaign for a larger portion of the nation's armament business, according to Deneen A. Watson, Chicago lawyer. Under an appointment by Gov. Dwight H. Green, Watson is leaving for Washington, D. C., tomorrow to open an office there for the Illinois State Council of Defense. His assignment, "for the duration" now, is to get more munitions business and new industries for this state.

"It's even more important now than it was last week," Watson said yesterday, "for the government to utilize to their capacity the skilled labor, equipment, and resources of Illinois for the defense of our country.

"The surprise raid on Honolulu has demonstrated the strategic importance of Illinois' interior location for war industries remote from any danger of coastal raids."

It is Watson's idea that his Washington office will coördinate present independent and various endeavors to bring more war business to this state. THE TRIBUNE has been campaigning for more armament contracts and industries for Chicagoland.

SEEK TO LEARN REAL BOSSES OF BOOKIE CENTER

State's Attorney Courtney's staff was seeking yesterday to unravel a mystery—the identities of the bosses who until recently conducted an intricate race news service in 15 to 20 rooms in the building at 624 South Michigan avenue.

Louis Sachs and his brother, David, have been named before the grand jury as operators of the syndicate in control. They are missing. Investigators do not believe they were the real power in the business, which was estimated by Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, to have netted $100,000 a month profit. It has been suggested that the Sachs brothers were being made scapegoats for more important figures in the gambling racket.

Dr. Louis A. Sachs, an optometrist for the last 35 years and a respected member of his profession, was embarrassed by the publication of his address, 6744 Sheridan road, as the home address of the Louis Sachs involved in the gambling investigation. Police who went to that address to serve a subpena learned they had the wrong number and the state's attorney's office explained that a wrong address had been given out.

BRITAIN BLASTS HOLE IN GERMAN LINES AT TOBRUK

Seize Point Near Ed Duda; Hit Nazi Supply Line.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 9 (AP).—British troops were reported today to have captured a point west of Ed Duda, freeing the Tobruk garrison from attacks on the eastern side of the defense perimeter.

The exact location or name of the point was not given, but the British communique's general description would place it about 10 miles south of Tobruk. The Germans were repelled when they counterattacked, it was said.

British mobile columns struck at German communication lines leading west from the Tobruk area but found the Germans reluctant to engage them, it was stated.

In the main area between Tobruk and Bir el Gobi there was some westward movement of German forces, the communique said, adding it was "possibly an endeavor by the enemy to gain some temporary respite from incessant attacks of our mobile columns."

Supplies Bombed by British.

The Germans were pictured as regrouping their forces to resume heavy fighting. British sources emphasized that their objective was to crush the axis forces and said the imperial army was nearing the end of the second phase of the battle.

The royal air force reported:

"In operations over the battle area in Libya yesterday our bomber aircraft carried out a number of successful raids. Enemy motor transport and other objectives in the El Adem and Acroma regions were bombed and many vehicles destroyed and set afire. Bomber aircraft of the South African air force attacked the landing ground at Derna where eight aircraft on the ground were destroyed. Five of these were Ju-52 transports. Supply dumps at Bardia were also raided."

Fierce Tobruk Fighting Reported.

ROME, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Italian high command today reported that "fierce fighting is under way on the Tobruk front between axis forces and enemy infantry supported by tanks." Several enemy tanks and trucks were reported destroyed in the Bir el Gobi area yesterday.

Down Six Planes, Say Germans.

BERLIN, Dec. 9 (AP).—German aircraft shot down six British planes over North Africa and on the night of Dec. 7-8 bombed the port facilities and airports on Malta [British Mediterranean naval base], Adolf Hitler's headquarters reported today.

Take a tip from the Old-Timers

TRAVELING around town here, all unnoticed among newer, brighter, sleeker models, you'll find a lot of faithful old Buicks that are still in service after six, eight, ten or even more years of use.

They may look sort of funny next to trim 1942 models, and they undoubtedly don't get off as fast on the lights.

But it's worth noting that these sturdy old Buicks are still running, still serving faithfully and well.

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE
Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

Because they have the same basic type of engine as the sleek 1942 Buick — a rugged, long-lived, extra-efficient valve-in-head, though it is now made better by FIREBALL combustion.

They have the same dependable drive —a stout torque tube encasing a sturdy steel shaft stretching its unbroken length from transmission to rear axle.

Frames are fundamentally the same now as then; brakes, though hydraulic now, use the same, efficient, self-energizing action. These Old-Timers even used the same piston material.

All the factors that make for strength and long life are present today as in the past — plus such further advances as all-coil springs that never lose their comfort, Domite pistons that squeeze more good from gasoline, Compound Carburetion† that spells peak economy with unmatched reserve power.

There's more comfort, more convenience, more beauty, more power in these '42 models — dollar for dollar there's far more value than the old-timers had.

But what counts most, in view of what seems ahead, is that they're still Buicks — tough, rugged, dependable — good to the last mile.

Take a look at what your next car is likely to be up against and ask yourself if it isn't smart to get a car right now that you'll some day know as "old faithful."

REDS OFFER U. S. 'BEST WISHES' IN WAR WITH JAPAN

Neutral Stand Explained by New Envoy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9.—Soviet Russia, which obtained a billion dollar lend-lease loan last month from the United States, has offered the United States "the best wishes and warm sympathy of the people of the soviet union."

The felicitation was expressed thru Maxim Litvinov, newly arrived ambassador of the Red government, when he presented his credentials to President Roosevelt, it was disclosed today. Litvinov presented his credentials yesterday, but his remarks were not made public until today.

Neutral in Far East.

The soviet government has announced it will remain neutral in the far east for the time being. In keeping with this position, Litvinov said he could not go beyond expression of sympathy for the "ordeal" thru which the American people are going.

"My arrival in Washington," Litvinov told the President, "coincided precisely with the moment in which American territory and American armed forces were subjected to attack from another state—an attack no less unexpected than that to which, five and one-half months ago, the soviet union was subjected.

"This event, arising from the present international situation, was brought about by the same forces and the same ideology which let loose sanguinary war in Europe and other continents.

He Limits Himself.

"I must limit myself at the present moment, Mr. President, to the assurance of the best wishes and warm sympathy of the people of the soviet union toward the American people in these days of their ordeal. I am convinced that the similar trial of the soviet union and American peoples will rivet still more strongly the bonds of friendship between them."

President Roosevelt, in reply, expressed gratitude for the assurances of sympathy and agreed with Litvinov that the same forces were operating both in the attack by Japan and in Europe.

Litvinov took the opportunity to thank the President for the help the United States has given Russia since the German invasion.

ONE DEAD, 4 HURT IN AUTO CRASH AT NORTHBROOK

William F. Christman Jr., 17 years old, who lived on Dundee road near Northbrook, was killed last night and four persons were injured seriously in the collision of two automobiles at Techny and Shermer roads, near Northbrook. The injured were Arthur Howard, 1035 Engle avenue, Northbrook, who was riding with Christman, and Paul Schoenenberger, 48, of 2139 Montrose avenue, and his two sons, Paul Jr., 9, and Richard, 15. The four were taken to the Evanston hospital.

Albert Schmidt, 14 years old, of 2223 Leland avenue, was killed last night when the bicycle he rode was struck by a truck near 4619 Western avenue. The truck driver, Harry Pawliw, 28 years old, of 1937 Division street, was held by the police.

John Giesztowtt, 75, of 1518 Lake street, Melrose Park, was killed last night when he was struck by the automobile of a hit-run driver at Chicago and 15th avenues in the suburb.

A coroner's jury recommended yesterday that Peter Kennison, 23, of 8447 South Western avenue, be held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter in the death of James Riley, 26, of 8006 South Throop street. Riley was killed Monday when he was struck by Kennison's automobile at 79th street and Ashland avenue.

Henry Vine, 74, a newspaper vendor, was fatally injured yesterday when he was run down by an automobile at 63d and Paulina street. He lived at 1245 South Sawyer avenue. The automobile driver was Omer Yeoman, 28, of 300 West 65th street, a welder.

Injuries suffered in an automobile collision Sunday at 71st street and Vincennes avenue caused the death of John Slepski in St. Bernard's hospital. He was 31, and lived at 4826 Throop street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 893 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 626 were killed in Chicago, where 24,774 were injured in the same period.

5 MORE SCHOOLS IN CHICAGO MAY GET ROTC UNITS

Approval Sought from War Department.

The ROTC, which Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins once called "the greatest reservoir we have in the United States army," will be instituted in five more Chicago high schools if the war department gives its approval and provides funds, Maj. Frank L. Beals, assistant superintendent of the board of education and ROTC administrator, announced yesterday.

At present 10,594 pupils are receiving military training in 27 Chicago high schools. Since 1935, when the training was added in 10 schools, other high schools have been trying to get ROTC units.

Largest Unit in U. S.

Col. William F. Morrison, director of ROTC in the city's schools, said the Chicago ROTC, which was started 24 years ago at the urging of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, now is the largest unit in the United States. The students are instructed in the latest authorized infantry tactics by a staff consisting of seven commissioned army officers and 40 regular army sergeants. If instruction were added in five schools, five more sergeants and a commissioned officer would be needed.

Army officers say the cadets receive basic military instruction which places them far ahead of raw recruits if and when they are called to duty. Enrollment in the ROTC is voluntary and the cadets are not obligated to join the armed forces.

Provides Many Army Officers.

Last spring the war department reported that approximately half of the reserve officers called to active duty received their preliminary training in university and secondary school ROTC units.

Added incentive to cadets are the gold and silver medals awarded by THE TRIBUNE for excellence in military training. In addition to local high school awards, medals are presented to outstanding ROTC cadets in 51 universities, military academies, and high schools in seven states.

AVIATION GOOD FELLOWS DANCE TO BE TONIGHT

2,500 Expected to Help Boost Fund.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Do you like to dance? Do you wish to help a worthy cause?

If the answer is "yes" to both of the questions then go to the Boulevard room of the Stevens hotel tonight about 9 o'clock and join the Aviation Good Fellows in their first dance, the proceeds to go to the purchase of baskets of food, toys, and candy for unfortunate families at Christmas time. The price of admission is only $1 each and more than 2,500 persons are expected.

Bob Strong and his orchestra, featuring Songstress Mary Ann Mercer, will play and sing thruout the evening. Among the celebrities present will be Col. Roscoe Turner.

Story with Donation.

The Good Fellow campaign brings to light many interesting stories. Here's one on the contribution of $5 which was made to the fund yesterday thru W. K. Hollander, an executive of the Balaban and Katz corporation. Mr. Hollander sent with the $5 bill the following note, addressed to the Chicago theater:

"Gentlemen: On Thanksgiving day I purchased tickets at your theater. After I was in the theater I thought your cashier gave me too much change. I am enclosing the $5 and hope the cashier that made the mistake will not have to suffer the loss." The letter was unsigned.

Another check, this one for $10, was received in the Good Fellow mail yesterday. It came from the American Daughters of Sweden.

Many Chicago organizations are asking THE TRIBUNE to buy their Good Fellow baskets and have them delivered to a distribution point for distribution Christmas eve. For all information concerning the campaign call Superior 0100.

Key for the Mayor

In recognition of the fact that Chicago has the lowest infant mortality rate of any large city in the world, Mayor Kelly yesterday was presented with a key and tickets to the Aragon Ballroom Benefit dance featuring Artie Shaw and his orchestra Dec. 29. The presentation was made by Dart Andrews, 3 years old, 617 Milburn street, Evanston. The dance is sponsored by the Kenilworth center of the Infant Welfare society. All proceeds will go to Chicago's underprivileged mothers, mothers-to-be, and babies.

GOONS BLAMED FOR VANDALISM TO MILK TRUCK

Cook county highway police of the Morton Grove station and police from State's Attorney Courtney's office last night were investigating a new outbreak of labor goon vandalism in which a west side milk dealer's truck was damaged.

The dealer, Ralph Hartsell, who operates a cut rate milk store at 7306 Irving Park road, Norwood Park township, found the windows of the truck broken and four tires slashed yesterday morning.

Hartsell told the police that he had been buying milk for two years from the Maywood Farms Co., Inc., an independent dairy.

Since the AFL Milk Wagon Drivers' union, local 753, and the Dairy Employés' union, local 754, began trying to organize the Maywood Farms dairy Nov. 5, Hartsell has been threatened many times by union pickets, he said.

THE TRIBUNE TRAVELERS' GUIDE

UNITED STATES AT WAR STILL IS TRAVEL-MINDED

Vacations Are Expected to Continue as Usual.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Assuming that organizations not actively engaged in defense industries maintain their vacation schedules, travel in 1942 should reach the approximate levels set in the year now closing. To a great degree the United States at war will continue to be a travel-minded nation.

This prediction was made yesterday by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

Mr. Hayes' forecast was in answer to a request from THE TRIBUNE Travel department for a statement of what, in his opinion, would be the war's effect on travel in this country.

Vacations as Usual.

"I believe the custom of taking vacations and trips will go on as usual," he said. "The principal factors in maintaining the custom will be the wishes of many relatives and friends to visit the boys at the army and navy posts, the increases in average incomes, and the fact that there are now—and will be in 1942—more cars on the road than ever before. Curtailed production of automobiles and automobile parts should not make an appreciable difference in the number of pleasure vehicles for another year."

Mr. Hayes said that, in his opinion, the largest number of vacations next year would be taken by persons in the $2,500 to $3,000 income brackets.

Travel Should Continue.

"Nothing else can do so much for morale as continued travel by our people thruout this country, Canada, and Mexico," he added. "Travel has an important rôle to play in spreading purchasing power over all parts of the nation. Surveys have revealed that touring dollars are more widely distributed than any other, public or private. This makes continuation of the industry vital to postwar stabilization.

"It is highly important that travel and travel facilities be maintained, both to further defense activities now and to aid in the postwar period."

No Priorities on Travel.

A similar inquiry, addressed by this department to Douglas Malcolm, forecaster for the American Express company in New York, brought the reply that he was not yet ready to comment on the situation brought on by the war with Japan. Prior to the outbreak of the war, Mr. Malcolm had made this statement:

"All signs point to an excellent winter travel and resort season. The most encouraging factor is the accelerated defense spending. With restrictions looming in so many other fields, it is well to remember that there are no priorities on travel."

Travel Gain Is Reported by Southern Air Lines

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 9 [Special].—The Chicago and Southern Air Lines carried 44.3 per cent more passengers in the first 11 months of this year than in the corresponding period of last year. The 1941 total up to Dec. 1 was 56,740.

Florida Reflection

Carillon concerts at the Bok Singing tower near Lake Wales, Fla., began last week and will continue until April 30. Programs are given at noon on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, and at 3 p. m. on Sundays.

Travel Queries Answered

What's your travel problem? Address queries regarding where to go, how to get there, costs, and accommodations to the Travelers' Guide, Chicago Tribune, inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Just where are the Carlsbad caverns? E. L.

Twenty-five miles southeast of the city of Carlsbad, in southeastern New Mexico.

How high is Mexico's Pyramid of the Sun? F. T.

Two hundred sixteen feet.

What can you tell me about fishing conditions near Tampa, Fla.? L. D.

Black bass are to be caught there except in the closed season, March 15 to May 19. Perch may be caught at any time. Tarpon are at their best from May to September. The biggest mackerel runs are in the spring and fall, and the kingfish usually arrive about two weeks after the mackerel have been reported. Cool weather is best for channel bass or red fish, but they are caught thruout the year. Amberjack strike best in the winter and spring, usually some distance off shore. Snook, cobia, salt water trout, grouper, barracuda, flounder, bluefish, sheepshead, mangrove snapper, drum, ladyfish, and yellowtail are to be had at any time. The sport of fishing is one of the greatest attractions around Tampa. A resident fishing license in Florida costs $1.25 a year, while a nonresident may obtain a 10 day license for $2. No permit is required for fishing in salt water.

How many national parks are there in the United States? Which receive the heaviest patronage? S. K. H.

Twenty-six. For the last four years the most popular have been the Great Smoky Mountains, the Shenandoah, and the Rocky Mountain.

Southern Governors Plan Conference on Defense

Miami, Fla., Dec. 9 [Special].—The south's part in the national defense program will be discussed by the governors of 11 southern states, and by officials of the federal government, at a conference here Jan. 11, 12, and 13. Among the speakers is to be Donald M. Nelson, director of the priorities division, OPM.

'Education in Mexico' to Be Topic of Lecture

Tad Battin of Northwestern university will talk on "Education in Mexico" at a public meeting sponsored by the Friends of Mexico at 3 p. m. Friday. The meeting is to be held in the Top o' the Town restaurant, 185 North Wabash avenue.

Fort Myers to Dedicate Edison College Feb. 11

Fort Myers, Fla., Dec. 9 [Special].—Thomas Alva Edison college will be dedicated Feb. 11, the birthday anniversary of the inventor. It was opened here Sept. 15. Edison made Fort Myers his winter home for more than 50 years.

BOOKS

Here Are Books Sure to Please for Yule Giving

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

Books for Christmas gifts . . . every one who reads this page knows that there's nothing more flattering to the receiver, nothing more fun for the giver.

My advice is to have all the fun you can by browsing around on your own before you buy and by reading yourself before you give. Talk to your favorite bookseller the way you'd talk to your doctor, and get a prescription from him or her. Or get a copy of the special supplement, Books for Christmas, which appeared in last SUNDAY'S CHICAGO TRIBUNE [if you didn't save yours] and you'll find brief descriptions of the year's best in every field from facts to food. Or, if you want a quick list to get you over the job in a hurry here are some sure-fire choices:

Nonfiction for anybody who is adult in mind and tastes:

Berlin Diary, by William L. Shirer [Knopf, $3].

Inside Latin America, by John Gunther [Harpers, $3.50].

Newspaper Days, by H. L. Mencken [Knopf, $3].

Shake Hands with the Dragon, by Carl Glick [Whittlesey, $2.75].

Reveille in Washington, by Margaret Leech [Harpers, $3.50].

Story of Mayos Told with Skill and Thoroness

"The Doctors Mayo," by H. B. Clapesattle. [University of Minnesota Press, $3.75.] Published today.

BY DR. IRVING S. CUTTER.

Congratulations to Helen Clapesattle and the University of Minnesota Press on "The Doctors Mayo." Every page presents striking evidence of painstaking historical research, and the material is informative and factual.

The rise of the Mayo Clinic constitutes an American epic. The indomitable spirit and wisdom of the Minnesota pioneer physician, William Worrell Mayo, the father of Will and Charles, is exemplified not only in his eagerness to serve his people with faith and skill but to advance the practice of medicine and surgery thruout the great northwest.

During the Sioux outbreak in 1862, he marched with the relief expedition to New Ulm, and was numbered among the gallant defenders of that frontier community during the fierce Indian attack. None the less heroic was his helpmeet, whose anxiety for her family could well be understood. It should be recalled that this episode occurred before Gen. Henry H. Sibley took the field at the head of the Minnesota volunteers to drive off the marauding savages.

Miss Clapesattle's work deals more with the growth of the clinic and its evolution than with the warmhearted personalities, William and Charles Mayo, who strode upon the surgical stage in the full vigor of young manhood. The farsightedness of their father was portrayed when he sent his elder son to Michigan and the younger to Northwestern. Later, the friends of Dr. Charles in Chicago made it possible for each to sit at the feet of Christian Fenger, the foremost teacher of surgical pathology of that day in America.

The extraordinary dexterity and ingenuity of Dr. Charlie and the sound surgical judgment of Dr. Will, his great fund of common sense and business acumen—all fused into one personality. They were not two people. No matter which was questioned, it was always, "My brother and I. . . ."

One misses, perhaps, some of the sidelights of character that made these men great. Some day we will have a companion volume dealing with the human side not only of the three eminent Mayos but of their colleagues who were so intimately associated with them.

Miss Clapesattle has performed a noteworthy task as a piece of historical writing. She has made us feel the unique quality of the clinic, the eagerness of every member to search out new truths, to acquire new knowledge, and the obligation of all to contribute generously to the progress of medical science.

The genesis of the book is not recent as President [former graduate dean] Ford tells us in his foreword. The narrative has been long in the making. It was conceived in 1927, born in 1936, and now comes to us—a stalwart youth filled with idealism.

Among Current Mysteries

Swiftly Paced Thriller.

"D as in Dead," by Lawrence Treat. [Duell, Sloan & Pearce, $2.]

Carl Wayward, professor of psychology, has a chance to use his knowledge of that science when a woman is murdered in New Orleans and he is the obvious suspect. A swiftly paced story with plenty of realism.

Story Is Well Told.

"Death Visits Downspring," Miles Burton. [Crime Club, $2.]

Odd goings-on in a little English town lead to two murders and the smashing of a German spy ring. The solution is a bit obvious, but the story is well told and holds the interest.

Plenty of Excitement.

"Double or Quits," by A. A. Fair. [Morrow, $2.]

Bertha Cool and Donald Lam bicker their way thru another puzzler which has two murders and plenty of excitement. Bertha is her usual nasty self, and Lam, with one eye on the murderer and the other on his pretty secretary, also is the character. Don't miss it.

Characters Well Drawn.

"Grim Grow the Lilacs," by Marion Randolph. [Holt, $2.]

Grim indeed grow these particular lilacs, planted to herald a bride's homecoming. Because shortly after her arrival some one slips her a poisoned drink with gratifying results. The background is an artists' colony, the characters well drawn, and the identity of the benefactor who rubbed out Lilac Reed is well concealed. All in all a nifty job.

Frightening and Funny.

"The Black Shrouds," by Constance and Gwenyth Little. [Crime Club, $2.]

Three harmless old people are murdered in a New York boarding house, and wisecracking Diana Prescott nearly makes a fourth when her lively curiosity leads her to the killer.

"Mr. Bunting in Peace and War," by Robert Greenwood. [Bobbs-Merrill, $2.50.]
"The Battle of Waterloo Road," by Diana Forbes-Robertson and Robert Capa. [Random, $2.]
"The Sun Shall Greet Them," by David Rame. [Macmillan, $2.50.]

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

In "Mr. Bunting in Peace and War" Robert Greenwood has told the story of Mr. Bunting, who, in middle age, is afraid of losing his job in a London department and then, after losing it, finds to his surprise that he can get on quite well with what he's saved and even help his three children a bit. It is the story of Mr. Bunting's rebirth when war comes, of how he returns to his old job, of the shelter he made in his garden, of his work as an air raid warden, and the incendiary bombs he scotched on a neighbor's roof.

It is the story also of how his two sons and a daughter increase in stature with the war, of Chris, who joined the RAF and was killed; of Ernest, a pacifist, who changed his views and joined the army, and of the merry Julie, who does her bit, too.

It would be wrong to call Mr. Bunting a type, because Mr. Bunting is far too much of an individual for that, but certainly he is representative of England's lower middle class, "one of the million 'little' men Hitler failed to understand."

All of Mr. Greenwood's characters are warm with life, from Joe Corder, Mr. Bunting's Shakespeare-quoting colleague, to the despicable Ventnor, who insists on stocking Mr. Bunting's ironmongery department with shoddy goods. Mr. Greenwood writes with humor and understanding, and has succeeded, it seems to this reviewer, in turning out one of the year's best novels. It is a choice, incidentally, of the English Book society.

Diana Forbes-Robertson joins the select circle of authors of two books on wartime England with her colorful study of Lambeth, a London borough south of the Thames. After a briefly competent chapter on its history Miss Robertson [in private life Mrs. Vincent Sheean] describes a typical street and then, at length, the Gibbses, a typical family.

She describes also the vicar of St. John's, Waterloo, the tireless Father Hutchinson, known to his parishioners as Father Hutch or simply Hutch; she tells of the work of air raid wardens and of the home guard, practicing in sham battle to defend Lambeth and London street by street if the necessity should arise.

Robert Capa has supplied dozens of superb photographs of the people and places Miss Robertson talks about. The result of their combined labors is a notable contribution to the literature of contemporary London.

"The Sun Shall Greet Them" is the story of "the lovely madness" of Dunkirk. Of the fleet of little boats that sailed by night to the Dunkirk beaches, threading their way thru sunken wrecks and artillery fire to bring off the tattered survivors of the British and French armies in Flanders, then fleeing with the dawn in a sometimes lost race with Nazi bombers.

It is the story of "tinker, tailor, soldier, sailor, fisherman, and banker, retired colonel and van driver, director of a boat building firm and Kentish farmer, ministry official, and London fireman." It also is the story of Brandon, who lost faith in England's future, only to have that faith restored by his experience as skipper of a launch with a volunteer crew and by a lovely girl named Frayne.

Brandon is a writer who goes to Dunkirk because he must and whose chief fear is of being afraid. The author himself was one of those who went to Dunkirk with the little ships, and his writing skill has transmuted his memories into a novel filled with courage and beauty and humor and death. Mr. Rame is the author of the well received "Wine of Good Hope."

Meetings

Herma Clark, author of "The Elegant Eighties," will give a program, "Bustles and Bangs," at 3 p. m., next Sunday at the Drake hotel. Miss Clark will give a brief talk on the 1880s and three original monologues. There will be an exhibit of articles from the attics of her readers.

Chicago Poets' Works Among Verse Volumes

BY RUSSELL MAC FALL.

Two new books of poems by Chicagoans appear just in time for the Christmas season. "Bathsheba" [Wilfred Funk, $2.50] is a sonnet sequence by Virginia Horton Rogers, of the Argus book shop, which retells vividly the Biblical story of David's romance with the wife of Uriah, who bore to the king a son, Solomon, who ruled Israel after his father. This is Bathsheba's story—her passion as mistress, her content as wife, and her fierce pride as mother. The sonnets are brilliantly done.

Second of these books is "Poems of a Chinese Student" [William Targ, $1], a collection of the Charles Yu pieces which have appeared in THE TRIBUNE's Front Views and Profiles column this year. As readers know, the student's nostalgia for dainty Jade Flower back home in China as contrasted with the bespectacled reality of his fellow student Miss Jones is only one of his devices for proving again that east is east and west is otherwise.

In "The Collected Poems of Lew Sarett" [Holt, $3], a distinguished Chicago poet attains the recognition of a full length presentation of his work. The collection will impress even those who have followed his career with new respect for the solid achievement of this native son.

Mr. Sarett is neither a poetic innovator nor a magician with words. His contribution is a deep knowledge and feeling for the natural beauties of midwestern America and especially for the traditions and character of the American Indian. As Carl Sandburg says in a preface to the book, Mr. Sarett is "an outrider of civilization."

20 Great Biographies Are Compressed Into Volume of 504 Pages

"A Treasur yof Biography," edited by Edgar Johnson. [Howell-Soskin, $3.75.]

By an ingenious system of compression the editor has managed to squeeze into 504 pages more than 20 great biographies, each still containing from 10 to 15 thousand words. Included are condensed versions of Cavendish's Life of Cardinal Wolsey; Walton's Life of Donne; Boswell's Johnson; Gibbon's autobiography; Lockhart's Life of Scott; Thoreau's "Walden"; Lytton Strachey's "Cardinal Manning"; Steffens' autobiography, and others. Where omission of material would leave too abrupt a break, the editor has briefly summarized the missing part. Mr. Johnson's work is worthwhile per se and also because it should stimulate countless readers to the point of acquiring and reading the originals.

Steinbeck Pens Record of His Scientific Jaunt

"Sea of Cortez," by John Steinbeck and E. F. Ricketts. [Viking, $5.] Published last Friday.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

John Steinbeck, author of "The Grapes of Wrath," "Of Mice and Men," and "Tortilla Flat," to name only three of the twelve volumes now bearing his name, is a gentleman of unpredictable literary ways, but of always predictable genius. That he can make the record of a leisurely scientific jaunt thru the waters of the Gulf of California after creatures of the sea a book to excite and delight a reader is proof of that genius.

Like Rebecca West's great "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon," this book is much less a travel record than it is a journey of a brilliant mind. John Steinbeck went along on a fishing and "hunting" trip and he probably did a lot of the assistant laboratory work, but he chiefly had himself a time thinking, and the results of that thinking are what makes this a book that every one will find fascinating.

What he thought is not all of a piece. There's a good deal about the philosophic concept that man is "related inextricably to all reality, known and unknowable . . . that all things are one thing and that one thing is all things." But there is other less abstract philosophy in these pages, a great deal of information told with distinction and in some of the most beautiful language that scientific data ever were embalmed in, and a strangely vivid essencing of the beauty of creatures, human contacts, nature, and their interrelationships.

And, which will probably greatly surprise the reader, there is some really hilarious humor. In the next edition of "A Subtreasury of American Humor" belongs the description of Sea Cow, an outboard motor which proves to be "a mean, irritable, contemptible, vengeful, mischievous, hateful living thing," and Mr. Steinbeck's theories about the doom of the human species, "when and if these ghoulish little motors learn to reproduce themselves."

Over half of the big book is a scientific appendix and not overly fascinating photographs of shells and swimming and crawling creatures. The fewer pages of writing will be the reason why most of the book's readers will own it. On page 73 Mr. Steinbeck writes a sentence which might be a succinct criticism of this book when he says: "The reports of biologists are the measure, not of the science, but of the men themselves."

Turns to Science

Tales of Travel and Adventure Full of Thrills

BY AL CHASE.

The ersatz adventurer enjoying vicarious thrills from the snug embrace of an armchair before the fire has a varied menu of excitement offered in this season's travel and adventure books. Here are a few of the best:

Mumbo Jumbo, Esquire, by James Saxon Childers [Appleton-Century, $5]. An outstanding study of the two Africas—modern and ancient. Well illustrated and crammed with facts, observations, and human interest incident.

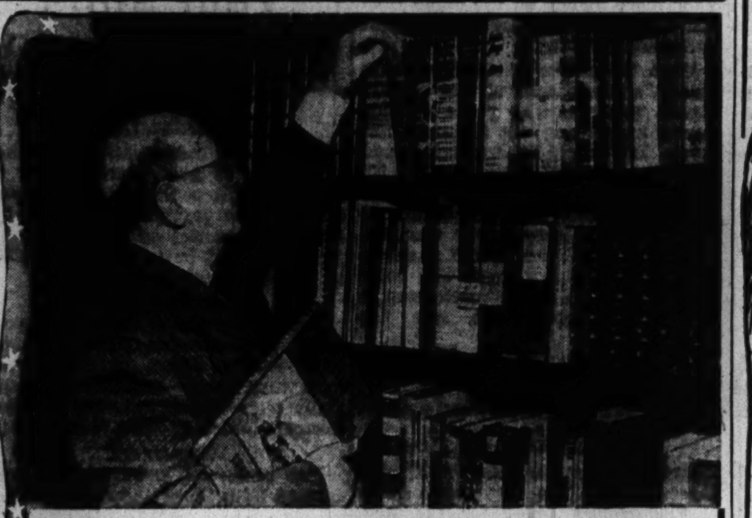
Bush Master, by Nicol Smith [Bobbs-Merrill, $3.50]. The author of "Burma Road" has turned to South America in his new story of exploration. High speed adventure.

Aerial Vagabond, by Bessie Owen [Liveright, $3]. An entertaining log of an aviatrix and her far flung flights.

Bombs Burst Once, by Granville Church [Mills, $2]. Fast moving mystery-adventure tale of Central America.

High Conquest, by James Ramsey Ullman [Lippincott, $3.75]. The story of mountaineering, told by a climber and exceptionally well illustrated and mapped.

Destroyer, by Steve Fisher [Appleton-Century, $2]. An adventure thriller based on incidents at the canal zone several years hence with America fighting Japan and the axis powers.



"Hand-Picked"

There's nothing I enjoy more than going through our vast stock of books to choose those that I wish to make my special Christmas selections. The thought of the pleasure that the reader of every one of these books will get, makes my task a happy one. If you want to make friends and relatives happy give them one of these good books. A. Kroch

For Johnny — WHO THINKS TRAINS ARE TOPS
the new Lucius Beebe book will be a great favorite. Giving the story of railroading during the last ten years it tells, down to the last detail, how modern railroads are run. There are 176 of the finest pictures of trains you've ever seen in TRAINS IN TRANSITION. Johnny's only worry will be how to get the book away from Dad. $5.00

For Jane's Beau — WHO CAN'T WAIT TILL THURSDAY
when the New Yorker comes out this great collection of American humor will be ideal. A SUBTREASURY OF AMERICAN HUMOR is edited by E. B. and Katharine White and combines our best humor from Benjamin Franklin to Franklin P. Adams. For sophisticated humor, for a clever story, or for a good old-fashioned laugh I recommend this one. $3.00

For Dad — WHO SERVED IN THE WORLD WAR
Robert Casey's book will strike a familiar note for he'll remember Bob's stories of the last war. Now Bob Casey tells in I CAN'T FORGET his adventures in World War II, how London in the Fall of 1940 was worse than the trenches in 1917 and hundreds of other interesting tales as only Bob Casey can tell them. $3.00

For Mother — AND HER READING CIRCLE
John Gunther who gave us the lowdown first of Europe, then on Asia, now gives us a straight from the shoulder story of our southern neighbors. In INSIDE LATIN AMERICA Gunther tells his personal observations in 20 Latin America countries and gives their policies and problems, showing how each one affects the world and ourselves. $3.50

For Sis — WHO WENT TO NORTHWESTERN
THE COLLECTED POEMS OF LEW SARETT will be just the gift. Her favorite professor at Northwestern shows a love for nature that has seldom been expressed in English literature. The tangled and primitive wilderness of North America provides him with a background worthy of his great talent. $3.00

For Mary — TO REMIND HER OF THE DUDE RANCH
here's one of the most tenderly beautiful books of the year. MY FRIEND FLICKA is the story of the love of a boy for his horse, and a great love it is. With a background of a Wyoming ranch this will surely bring back memories of a perfect summer. $2.50

Dinner Is Tendered Frank Jones, Dean of Book Travelers

Frank Jones, the dean of book travelers, for 42 years with one firm, Little Brown and Company of Boston, Mass., was the guest of honor at a dinner last Saturday night at the University club which was attended by 150 booksellers of Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, and other midwestern cities.

Mr. Jones will retire from active bookselling on Dec. 31. His garden, one of the famous ones of his home town, Malden, Mass., will profit by his new leisure.

Two hundred fifty of his professional friends shared in presenting him with a large radio-phonograph and in a snowstorm of telegrams of good wishes and farewells.

Wife Foolish to Nurse Her Injured Pride

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"This is, to you, probably just a run-of-the-mill letter, but to me it is a heartbroken plea for help. I have been married for 10 years and I thought that I had my husband in his entirety, but I made a bad mistake. It all started when he had too much money and got into bad company. He was under the influence of drink when he confessed to me. It was a terrible blow. I spoke to the other girl and asked her if she wanted him, but she said she didn't and the same went for him. Since then he has been a model husband. We have a son, now 7. But here is my problem:

"I can't forget it. I forgave him but I can't seem to get it out of my mind. Words come to my lips, and before I can stop them they are out. As a result, our home life is unhappy for us as well as for our son. I beg you to help me before it is too late, for I still love my husband very much. TROUBLED MIND."

All right, it was a blow, a blow to your pride. And, we agree, a devastating incident in any woman's life. BUT did you ever think of comparing your luck with other women's, with that of women who were walked out on under the other woman's influence? Or with the fate of being married to a man who might be abusive, cruel, neglectful?

On the other hand have you ever thought of trying to put yourself in your man's place, with his too-much-money and other bad influences, and reckoning how you might have acted under the circumstances? It's a good idea, when trouble comes, to shuffle it and your blessings around in a hat and pull out a ticket marked: "I'm not so badly off, at that!" You see, few of us get thru life without a grief, disappointment, or blow to our pride, so it's well to take the long view when we are the victim.

Chemists' Club to Hold a Fiesta Dinner Tonight

The Chicago Chemists' club will sponsor a dinner and a Mexican fiesta this evening at Hull House. Pancho Scanlan, former Mexico City newspaper man, now publicity assistant for the National Railways of Mexico, will speak, and motion pictures of the country will be shown. The Navarro sisters will sing. Ricardo Ç. Hill, Mexican consul general, will be a guest.

Six-to-Niners Meeting.

The Six-to-Niners of the Chicago College club will meet tonight for dinner, which will be followed by Miss Mary F. Willard's review of the book, "Berlin Dairy." Miss Elizabeth Flanders and Miss Dorothy Manock will be hostesses.

Flower Guild Solicits Gifts for Sick, Needy

The Chicago Plant, Flower, and Fruit guild will take up its annual Christmas collection for the sick and needy tomorrow. Commuters are urged to bring food, toys, and other gifts to the railroad stations where they will be transferred to the women's clubroom in the North Western railway depot.

There Mrs. Stanley D. Grace, general division chairman of the guild, and her 10 division chairmen will sort the donations that will be distributed to settlement houses, hospitals, homes, and social centers later in the day.

Last year more than 5,000 gifts, 15,000 jars of jams, jellies, and preserves, 500 children's books and magazines, and 550 pounds of candy were donated by garden club members and friends. Other appreciated gifts include games, dolls, bedside bags, bed jackets, toilet soap, perfume, compacts, mirrors, canned goods, fruit, nuts and cigarets.

Mrs. J. Wilson McAllister, a guild member, reported that she had received a child's scrapbook from a navy man in the Great Lakes hospital. He was expressing his appreciation for the many services the guild is doing for the men in the hospital.

"We hope to exceed last year's record distribution," said Mrs. Grace. "The guild is growing and we know the members and the public at large are becoming conscious as never before of the good accomplished and the spiritual uplift given to the sick and lonely thru these contributions."

The Christmas collection is the final activity in the guild's yearly program, which begins with "Lilac day" in the spring. Lilacs are distributed to Chicago hospitals thru the coöperation of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and thruout the summer the guild continues to bring bouquets to Chicago's shutins. Late in the summer the guild also sponsors a jam and jelly day.

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

He Can't Forget.

"Dear Miss Blake: She didn't trust me and we were constantly quarrelling about my faithfulness. I trusted her and felt that she also should trust me, so I thought it best that we parted. I still miss her. What should I do? I know she cares. PUZZLED PATRICK."

Get in touch with her by letter or by telephone, and tell her you've missed her. It will be sweet news to her if she still does care.

Be Home at 11:30.

"Dear Miss Blake: What time would you suggest that a 16 year old high school girl get home on Saturday nights from a show with a boy friend? SIXTEEN."

An early show would give you time for a soda afterward, and still let you get home not later than 11:30, which is plenty late for a girl of your age to be out.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 9.—A movie studio can make anything it wants—a tornado, a desert, a cobweb. Occasionally it makes something it doesn't want—a bad picture. And, occasionally, it goes to an outside specialist rather than spend the time and money on something homemade. Thus, for real winter stuff in a land where winter is merely damp and awful, most studios patronize an immense ice house operated way-the-blazes-and-gone downtown by the California Consumers corporation.

Orson Welles.

The icehouse was originally just that, and a sign outside still advertises that it has 10,000 tons capacity. Because of its size and chill, in recent years it has become an auxiliary motion picture studio, available to all who rent it. It is big enough to house almost any set. The brine pipes along the ceiling keep the temperature at 18 degrees, which is the coldest it ever gets in Hollywood except in a producer's heart.

In such a temperature you can see your breath, which is the main reason for using the icehouse. Any studio can whip up a pictorially perfect blizzard with white cornflakes and can make icicles out of candy; but it has failed to figure out a way of making breath visible at body heat. A few realistic directors insist that breath be seen in a winter sequence, and among them is Orson Welles.

Welles has been shooting some Indiana snowtime scenes for "The Magnificent Ambersons." One in which Joe Cotton, as an early auto magnate with faith in the horseless carriage, drives an 1898 model Sears, Roebuck car which sold for $695. He actually has the car and it runs—a machine with huge iron wheels and a tasseled surrey top. It is in better shape than Joe's 1941 model car, which recently slipped its brakes and backed down the driveway into the Cotten swimming pool and was thought stolen for 48 hours.

Shooting in the icehouse requires special preparation. All equipment has to be brought in 12 hours ahead of time so that it can get thru sweating. Cameras, even. And afterward cameras have to be run without film for a couple of hours so they will be limber enough to get up to speed.

The actors have to be dressed. The studio wardrobe department sends down plenty of coats, wool sox, gaiters, and overshoes. On the first day, actors usually laugh at the purported 18-degree temperature and scorn the wrappings; they are hardy Hollywoodians, full of sunshine, vitamins, and subtropical idiocy. On the second day they are miserable tooth-chatterers, glad to bundle up while they are waiting around and eager to nip at the soup, chocolate, coffee, and tea which are bountifully available. They'd be glad, too, for a little alcohol—but Hollywood at work is almost completely prohibition. Not because of any sense of morals but because of practicality. Hooch can't hide from the camera nor deceive the sound track.

Welles, on his first day in the icehouse, laughed at a pair of seasoned assistants who immediately dressed in fleece-lined aviation suits. He called one of them Messerschmitt, the other Spitfire. On the second day he wrapped his own 240 pound bulk in protective layers—and the assistants addressed him as Mr. Blimp.

The manufacture of snow in the icehouse is remarkable, big cakes of ice are fed into machines which chew them up into flakes, and the flakes are blown on the scene thru 5 inch hoses. The effect is perfect; the snow is real and it will stick in real fashion on a dummy tree or drift realistically along the road.

After a couple of days of working on the Indiana scene with the ancient mail order automobile, Herbert Drake, Welles' cynical publicity man, observed: "The car starts easier than the actors do."

There have been casualties, even tho players and crew pitifully try to warm their hands over electric light globes. People get colds. When they get good and chilled, of course, it's a simple thing to step outdoors into the dead, warm air of the southland—simple and uncomfortable, for suddenly it becomes too hot. One of the cold victims was the still cameraman, who got no sympathy because he once was a professional hockey player.

Special locations and special services make interesting exceptions to the rule that a studio can make anything. Paramount and Universal, for instance, have the most complete arsenals in town, and if another outfit is staging a war it is likely to rent ordnance from them.

Almost a monopoly on stockings is enjoyed by Willie de Mond, who operates as Willys of Hollywood and who makes period and character stockings for almost everybody. He has a complete dossier on the feet and legs of all the babes and stars and knits nifty numbers to order. He made the 1890 limb drapes for Alice Faye in "Old Chicago." He'll duplicate anything out of an old print or etching, or run in a picture of a battleship, or make fishnet opera lengths. Willie's knowledge of the female cinema leg is second to none.

When you want an old ship like a windjammer you have to go to a man at San Pedro named M. K. Wilson, who enjoys a virtual monopoly once held by the late Benton Roberts.

The first camera crane was built by Universal pictures. Before then, a few cameras had been made to move around by being slung from ropes, but Universal's crane, lightly balanced and able to dip and sway like an adder, was a revolution. Other studios were eager to rent it every moment it was free, and Universal made more money on the crane than it did from some of the pictures that were shot from it.

When the smoke of a battlefield is needed, a studio calls up one of Paul Mantz' aviators, who picks up side money by renting out a smoke machine. It's an old Liberty motor and propeller mounted on a truck, with a sky-writer's smoke-making machine attached. When a color picture is made, a studio gets special cameras, a battery of technicians and, if necessary, a cameraman from the color film outfit. When a breakneck stunt is needed, freelance stunt men are called in.

RAF in Action Is Shown in Factual Movie

"TARGET FOR TONIGHT."
Presented by Warner Brothers.
Produced under direction of Harry Watt.
Presented at the Roosevelt.

THE CAST.
The RAF
in an actual air raid over Germany.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Like the leaves of the forest when summer is green
That host with their banners at sunset were seen.
Like the leaves of the forest when autumn hath blown
That host on the morrow lay withered and strown.
—Byron.

This is no picture for a critic to criticize. . . . It is a news event just to be reported on. And so—

This is what happens:

Reconnaisance planes bring home new aerial photographs of certain enemy territory where in a deep forest near a certain town are hidden oil tanks. . . . These are to be the "Target For Tonight" which shall occupy the bomber command of the RAF.

Immediately, then, comes the routine of preparing for the raid.

Weather reports must be checked. Bombers must be got ready. Every man is quietly busy at his own task. . . . There is tension, but no sign of fear. You might almost think, as the pilots get under way, that they were just starting out for another period of work at the factory or office.

After the takeoff of the planes the camera eye is concentrated on the big Wellington bomber, "F—for Freddie," and its crew of six.

And so you, with these gallant airmen, are flying thru the clouds. . . . You descend to bomb the target—and draw the enemy's anti-aircraft fire. . . . You see the wireless operator topple over injured. . . . You seem in a maelstrom of noise and flame and crazy air currents. . . . The time of actual conflict is short in minutes but hours long in suspense and terror.

At last you wing homeward. . . . It was a successful raid with only one man injured. But we wondered, in the projection room, how many of those brave young faces we had looked into—one of them such a baby face!—are smiling still. . . . Still climbing aloft, not counting the cost—blacking out from their minds any thought but the one—"There must always be an England!"

See you tomorrow.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Wins on New Platform.

Nominations were in order for class president of the sixth grade. A serious faced lad rose slowly to his feet.

"I have been in school five years," he stated. "In that time I have not been nominated or elected to anything. I nominate myself."

Seeing at once the reasonableness of this point of view, another boy leaped to his feet and said, "Second the nomination."

A quietly understanding teacher announced that the nominations were closed.

He was elected.

Woman's Widening Sphere.

"They talk about a woman's sphere as tho it had a limit," wrote Kate Field in the Gay Nineties. And 50 years later girls in small, sedate towns, where there is a shortage of male workers, don slacks and chauffeurs' caps to drive taxicabs. Racine, Wis., has six women taxi drivers [confined, however, to daytime hours] and Madison, Wis., has several—most of them wives of men taxi drivers. No. . . they don't get larger tips than the men. And no information is available as to whether they are more . . . or less . . . chatty.

Comment and Queries.

Jeanette writes to ask where the girl who wore the long underwear to business found it. . . . The information will be on hand as soon as the temperature drops. . . . A thoughtful reader telephones to say that at a Cook county civil service examination last Saturday a paragraph from White Collar Girl was used in dictation for the junior stenography exam. . . . A gentleman with a sense of humor, who terms himself "an almost 50 and fast fattening employer" threatens to take time out to give us a slant on "The White Collar Girl As Seen Thru the Eyes of a Hot Under the Collar Boss."

"For instance," he continues, "why do they call themselves 'White Collar Girls' when none of them ever wears one? And why do they apply lipstick as tho it were a feast? And whoever tried to sell them the idea of wearing black silk stockings again? And why do secretaries always wait to sharpen their pencils till just before the boss wants to give dictation?"

"These things," he adds naively, "I presume you must know."

A Trifle, but Useful.

A trifle that any business girl would like to find in the toe of her Christmas stocking: the tiny clothesbrush to carry in her handbag, no larger than a pocket comb, but useful for keeping the shoulders and necklines of a dress tidy.

Getting Out of Dumps.

A woman physician, an insurance agent, a teacher, a real estate dealer, a publicity woman, and a typist fell to discussing what the business girl could do to give herself a lift when down in the dumps.

A brand new toilet water . . . a drive out in the country . . . a half hour in the galleries of the Art Institute . . . a new phonograph record . . . a new boy friend . . . a mystery story . . . the quieting effect of the old-fashioned mending bag were the tried and true remedies mentioned.

Buffet Dinner Tonight for 700 Service Men

A buffet dinner will be given to 700 service men from 7 to 11 o'clock tonight at the Service Men's center on Washington street by Greater Chapter 129 of the Women of the Moose. Mrs. Viola Bosieger, graduate regent, and Miss Marge Milhalek, social service chairman, are in charge.

Great Silence Greets Opus by Hindemith

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Yesterday the Hindemith Symphonic dances, presented by Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Orchestra hall, came as near scoring a complete failure as anything ever does in Chicago.

Audiences here never riot nor throw things and seldom even hiss. Yet a screaming silence such as followed the Hindemith yesterday can be as effective in its way as the spectacular demonstrations of disapproval which sometimes enliven the concert season in European and Latin American cities.

A few of us pro-Hindemith people did, it is true, manage to provide a little applause, but in the midst of that eerie stillness we became frightened at the loudness of our own handclapping and soon desisted.

A reviewer is torn between joy and sorrow at the demonstration—or rather lack of it.

It is certainly a sign of a wholesome, genuine community musical life when audiences vigorously express their own opinions [even by silence] and resolutely refuse to be stampeded into liking a thing by the prestige of the composer and conductor and orchestra or by the fear of being thought insensitive or reactionary.

Yet on the other hand it is a pity that a work so strong and sincere as the Hindemith should have been singled out for disapproval. Its inexhaustible rhythmic interest would alone entitle it to be a better fate. Its melodic ideas are provocative and its timbres proudly original.

True, it is dissonant, but mere dissonance does not terrify us any more. Even "Ah fors'è lui" has a spectacular dissonance right at the beginning of the air [but this is cheating a bit, because the Hindemith dissonances are not of this type].

We might have been better justified if we had staged a demonstration yesterday against Arthur Benjamin's Overture to an Italian Comedy, which stood first on the program. If we ignore this conventional little piece's intrinsic merits and argue from the standpoint of musical progress and increase of musical resources, quite a strong case could be made out against it.

This concert—the fourth in the Tuesday series—also included Sibelius' "The Swan of Tuonela" and Brahms Fourth Symphony.

Praise Is Accorded Miss Helen Levine in Piano Recital

Another recital was given in Kimball hall last night by Helen Levine, Chicago pianist. Her performances lived up to the reputation she has earned in the past of being an intelligent, conscientious, and thoroly musical artist. She has sufficient technique to meet all the demands last night's program made on her, and her pianistic tone is always round and singing.

In many ways Miss Levine's playing is ideal. It avoids all pretense, affectation, or a too personal approach. It maintains a praiseworthy devotion to the music at hand and yet avoids being unimaginative.

Whether it was Mozart, Grieg, or Bach she was presenting, she illumined the works with honesty, clarity, and an appreciation of style. Any criticism of her art—one might remark on the slight restlessness of tempo in the first movement of a Mozart sonata, for example—would be cavilling and nothing else. R. E.

Fashion Group Women Join in Defense Efforts

BY JUDITH CASS.

CHICAGO'S premier career women in fashion and allied fields set the pace for their sex in defense activities yesterday. At a Fashion Group luncheon at the Arts club they voted to have each member "adopt" a soldier or sailor without family connections. They agreed to donate $500 from the organization's treasury to the Service Men's center at 175 West Washington street and to some other defense agency.

Each member also was urged to register her skills at the office of civilian defense, to offer her services as a hostess at the Service Men's center, to entertain lonely service men at dinner in her home, and to collect her own and her neighbors' magazines for distribution to service men thru the American Red Cross.

Kay Ratto Proposes Plan to Befriend Service Men.

It was Kay Ratto who suggested that each of the more than 90 Fashion Group members take under her wing soldiers and sailors with no family ties. Quoting her son, Jack, who is an aeronautical engineer at Chanute field, Mrs. Ratto told of men who get no mail, to whom a weekly gift of cigarets, stamps, and other small items and an occasional letter will mean a touch of "home."

Miss Lois Barnes, Miss Helen Wells, Mrs. Marjorie Letts, Mrs. Marshall Sampsell, and Mrs. Lydia Lee were among others at the luncheon meeting who contributed suggestions.

In step with the emergencies of the times, the Chicago Junior league is calling a special board meeting for Monday morning to discuss how the league can be of service to the country. Mrs. Gordon Loud will preside at 10:30 o'clock in the clubrooms in the Ambassador East hotel.

Children's Home Aid Ball to Be Held as Planned.

The war has caused no cancellation so far of any of the purely social activities that had been planned for this month, but since nothing was scheduled except for young people — debs and subdebs and their beaux — it is probable that there will be no changes in these plans, at least for the present. The big Christmas ball that is to be given at the Drake on Dec. 20 for the benefit of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society will be held, as planned, for the war makes no difference in the amount of money that the society needs to carry on its good work.

In New York a United States Navy Relief society ball scheduled for Friday at the Waldorf Astoria has been called off. However, the committee is asking those who already have bought tickets at $7.50 each to donate the money to the fund, and more tickets will be sold so that the society may realize a large sum. Calling off the ball means, undoubtedly, that the entire amount realized will go to the society, for nothing will be expended.

The elaborate debut that had been planned for Miss Carol Marcus of New York has been canceled, too. It was to have been a ball on Dec. 20 at the St. Regis Roof and would have been the most "Hollywoodish" spectacle New Yorkers had seen in many years. Miss Marcus, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marcus of Park avenue, told our New York correspondent that she hoped to have a modest tea at home and then to have an elaborate ball that would be a war benefit.

Asks Lecture Proceeds Go to Bundles for Bluejackets.

Now that Bundles for Britain has become Bundles for Bluejackets, the Rev. Michael Coleman, vicar of All Hallows church in London, has asked that all proceeds from his talk in Orchestra hall tonight go to Bundles for Bluejackets, the sponsoring group. Before the declaration of war and the change in the group's name half the proceeds were to go to Bundles for Britain and half to the speaker's church, which was bombed just before the vicar left for America. Mr. Coleman will discuss "What Gives England Courage to Endure" tonight.

The Rev. Dr. Browne of St. James' church, who is host to the English vicar during his visit here, will give an informal luncheon for him today. Mr. Coleman will speak at the Girls' Latin school this morning.

Mrs. Wales Latham, founder and national president of Bundles for Bluejackets [Bundles for Britain] will not be here for tonight's talk as she originally planned.

Nancy Dana Slade Bride of George Wilson Tonight.

Miss Nancy Dana Slade will wear a rosepointe lace cap belonging to her aunt, Mrs. George P. May III., for her marriage tonight to George Allen Wilson. Mrs. May is here from New York for the wedding, which will take place in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana Slade Jr. of Hinsdale. Mr. Slade will give his granddaughter in marriage. The ceremony will be performed at 8:30 o'clock by the bridegroom's brother, the Rev. R. Norris Wilson. The two young men are the sons of Mrs. George R. Wilson of Hinsdale.

Miss Slade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison Bennett of Hinsdale, will have her cousin, Mrs. Ralph Cooke of Janesville, Wis., as matron of honor. Miss June Essley will be bridesmaid. Clifford Pratt will serve as Mr. Wilson's best man and Laurence Anderson and Elsworth Handy will usher. Other out of town guests are the bride's aunt and uncle, Dr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Morter of Milwaukee, Wis.; the Morters' daughter and son, Mrs. Royal Hayes and Dr. Howard Morter, and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Atherton Noyes Jr. of New Jersey. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home in Hinsdale.

Salvation Army Women Sponsor Doll Sale Today.

The women's division of the Salvation Army will sponsor a Christmas doll sale today at the Moraine hotel in Highland Park, with Mrs. Benjamin J. Rosenthal as hostess. Proceeds will go to service men in camp.

When the curtain rises on Dec. 29 on the annual Chicago performance of the Princeton Triangle show young Chicagoans will have a personal interest in the production, for a Wilmette boy, Richard Wood Kix-Miller, will be appearing in the cast. "Ask Me Another," a series of 25 skits constituting a friendly satire on the Gallup poll, will be given in the Eighth Street theater. In charge of the "one night stand" in Chicago are Theodore S. Chapman, Laurence A. Carton, and Charles C. Fitzmorris Jr.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

From the point of view of the shopper there are two quite wonderful advantages to beauty kits. The first is that every woman likes to own one, the second that such kits are available at prices that fit every purse.

If you plan to buy a fitted case do try to learn the recipient's preferences in cosmetics. Ask her family the brand name of the creams and lotions and makeup aids on her dressing table. Then shop for the case in that line that's within your price range. Most of the more popular lines have cases in a variety of sizes, materials and costs.

You might remember, too, if you're shopping for a traveling case that there are certain practical points to remember. Weight is important. The woman who travels a great deal and uses such a kit all the time will want one that is not too heavy. Plastic jars of durable but light structure are just about necessary if the woman flies.

If the recipient's traveling is limited to week-end jaunts, look at the fitted bags with a compartment for clothing essentials. This year there are some especially good ones in this style, so compact that all necessary cosmetics are in them but also designed to leave ample space for gown, robe, and slippers. And they're not bulky, either.

College girls love fitted cases, not too large. There are some excellent bags that suit their needs perfectly, many of them priced at or below $5.

Scuffs Newest Slippers for Lounging Duty

BY REA SEEGER.

Footsore shoppers look with unbounded envy at the well-nigh bewildering assortment of lounging slippers out for holiday gift buyers. Even the daintiest of boudoir mules look cozily comfortable despite the frivolous high heels and decorative fluffiness on the toes and insteps.

Among the newest ideas are the boxed scuffs, four pair to a cellophane box, featuring four shades, dubonnet, tobacco brown, jade, and black. These are cunningly cut and designed in soft felt, top and soles. They are called guest scuffs to be used as part of the equipment of any guest room for visitors who forget their own foot comforts. Such a box is the ideal gift for the housewife on your lists.

Among the other scuff finds are the exotic models made of leopard spotted fleece, some with flat heels, others made over a wedgie last. There are scuffs made of fur, velvet, flannel, felt, corded silk ribbon, satin, brocaded materials, ribbon, crêpes with sequin trim, crêpes with instep pompons of yarn and the scuffs made of corded cotton chenille to match the same robes and housecoats of similar material.

Cold feet sufferers are cheering madly for the floor mop caverns masquerading as house slippers. They are not for any one with any vanity for their small feet, for such fleecy outsize models promise many extra inches in width and length for any footline. All colors are available.

Very dress parade lounging slippers are made of gleaming satins, some with delicate pastel tinted beauvais embroidery, some with gold and silver kidskin, very realistic chiffon roses and some with gold braid and button accent. These have high but comfortable heels, gracefully shaped to accent the decorative appearance of the slipper.

Last but not least are the neatest new flannel models designed to wear with tailored flannel or wool robes . . . these have the crossed straps flashing with bright nailhead trim. Dark colors such as wine and carbon blue and brown are featured.

Wesley Service Club Holds Meeting at Hospital Today

The Wesley Service club's first monthly meeting in the new hospital will be held at 2 o'clock today in the staffroom. Final plans will be made for a gift shop to be opened by the first of the year. A board meeting at 12:30 o'clock will precede the gathering.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Heimbeck of West 102d street announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverlie, to Dr. Arthur W. Biber, son of Dr. and Mrs. Reginald E. Biber of Spartanburg, S. C. The wedding will take place early next spring. Miss Heimbeck was graduated from the Fredric Mizen Academy of Art. Dr. Biber studied at Wofford college in South Carolina and was graduated from the Northern Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Osberg of West Lawrence avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn Revelle Merlin, to Benjamin F. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Davis of North Springfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Kaspers of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Joseph Roy Matlack, son of Mrs. J. Roy Matlack of Chicago. The wedding is planned for June.

$1,000,000 Chicago's Quota in Infantile Paralysis Campaign

Herbert J. Lorber, chairman of the Cook county chapter for Infantile Paralysis, yesterday announced that Chicago's net quota in the annual President's birthday drive to raise funds for infantile paralysis will be $1,000,000 and that outlying towns will be expected to provide $28,000.

Mr. Lorber set these figures before more than 100 town chairmen for the drive at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

"The President's birthday ball here on Jan. 30 will be given for the workers in the drive only and it will be free of charge," he stated. "The reason for this is that we expect our workers to raise more funds in their towns thn they have done in the past. The health problem today is one of the most important to be considered by our government if we are going to win this war."

Dr. Edward A. Piszczek, health officer for the Cook county public health unit, explained that there were 53 cases of infantile paralysis this year in the towns of Cook county outside of Chicago, Evanston, and Winnetka.

Where Once the Ghosts Walked.

In case you ever wonder why Lincoln park contains two graves —the mausoleum of Ira Couch and the grave of David Kennison, survivor of the Boston Tea Party, it may interest you to know that once it was a cemetery. In the early 1800s the land was a grant for a federal canal, but in 1847, when a third of rugged little Chicago died in a cholera epidemic, it became a cemetery. After the Civil war a movement was started to convert part of the canal lands into a park, and after much agitation the city decided to move the cemetery. At a cost of $8 a body, the bodies were transferred to three new cemeteries — Oak Woods, Rosehill, and Calvary— but for some reason two were left. Thru the years they have continued to resist successfully all encroachments, even that of the fine hand of the WPA when it carved the park into a labyrinth of vehicular terror.

Alert.

The Chicago Public library in all its many ramifications is able to cope with all contingencies. The American declaration of war was barely made when two excellent exhibits of books on the crisis were on display at a north side branch. One, The Enemy, carried the admonition that "wars are not won by hatred but by a knowledge of the strengths and weaknesses of one's opponents."

Twerp.

In the light of current events, the new attire of Twerp, the toy bull which Myron Routt carries around in his overcoat pocket, may seem trivial, but if you have seen Twerp, you will realize that it is impressive. She has a new Persian lamb coat, a leopard coat, and a French angora sweater, and will take all with her to Sun Valley for her master's three week vacation.

Wheel Chair Is Needed by Crippled Girl

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Once again we ask our readers' assistance for a needy, handicapped child. A case worker in a south side hospital sends the following request:

"Dear Miss Brown: You have been so helpful in other cases that we wonder if you can aid us in getting a wheel chair for one of our patients.

"She is a little crippled girl, 11 years old, who needs a chair badly and whose family is unable to purchase one for her. Altho she has full use of her arms, she cannot walk, even in her own room.

"Since last February she has not been in school because there is no way for the youngster to get to the street corner where the school bus could pick her up. With the aid of a chair, her family could see that she was taken to the bus, and she would be able to get to regular classes, and the added pleasure of being able to move about in her own home would help to make her life interesting.

"We shall appreciate your coöperation, for this seems to be the only way to help this child accomplish her greatest ambition—that of getting back to school. P. G."

The worker will arrange transportation if any reader has a chair to donate.

Weddings

The marriage of Miss Celia Seiden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben R. Seiden of Jarvis avenue, formerly of Wilmette, to Jack Grass of Chicago, formerly of Los Angeles, Cal., will take place on Dec. 16. Mr. and Mrs. Grass will make their home in Chicago.

The marriage of Miss Mabel Forde of Prairie du Chien, Wis., to Henry S. Cobb of Chicago, formerly of Evanston, will take place on Dec. 20 in the First Presbyterian church of Evanston. They will live in Minneapolis, Minn. Miss Forde attended the University of Wisconsin, and Mr. Cobb received his degree from Northwestern.

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Lois Lindauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lindauer of Harper avenue, to Martin From of Chillicothe, Mo., will take place at 2 o'clock Monday. A small dinner will follow at the Windermere East hotel. Mr. From, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry From, will take his bride to Chillicothe to live.

Annual Yule Party.

The annual Christmas party of the American Medical Women's association, branch No. 2, will be held at 6:30 o'clock this evening at Dr. Iva Lee Grant's home, 2640 Prairie avenue. Women residents, interns, and senior medical students will be guests.

Draper-Adler Duo Mixes Art with Cabaret

BY CECIL SMITH.

Paul Draper and Larry Adler, who constitute one of the strangest teams in the concert field, pooled their talents in a joint recital of ballet-tap dancing and harmonica playing at the Civic theater last night. The program followed the pattern of their first experimental fling a year ago—alternating groups of prevailingly serious character in the first half, and more popular and improvisatory material after the intermission.

Mr. Draper and Mr. Adler are, of course, both graduates of the night clubs, and much of their coöperative endeavor should be classed as entertainment rather than art. When Mr. Draper dances a beautifully designed solo to a Toccata by Paradies, it is art. But when he seizes a gratuitous opportunity to introduce "Mr. Paradies" as a composer of 190 years ago, for no better apparent reason than to capitalize upon the great charm of his stuttering speech, it is cabaret.

Similarly, when Mr. Adler plays a Vivaldi violin concerto on the harmonica he intends it to be art, tho it is not; when he presents effusive, distorted and hokum-filled versions of Debussy's "The Girl with the Flaxen Hair" or Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," it is vaudeville.

Altho I must confess that I had a fairly good time at so unusual an event, I simply cannot understand what the performers' aims may be. Is the art to be taken as entertainment, or is the entertainment to be taken as art? Certainly both Mr. Draper and Mr. Adler do a good deal to disqualify themselves as artists, and yet some of their material evidently seeks to rise above the level of popular diversion.

By now there is no need to point out again the stylistic aristocracy, the admirable composition, and the miraculous execution of Mr. Draper's unique emulsion of ballet and tap dancing. But I am inclined to suspect that he does not fully believe in his own potentialities. He needs to amplify his style and broaden his scope, and it is not constructive for him to ally himself with Mr. Adler, whose instrument is limited, and whose playing, despite its expert trickery, is devoid of musical insight and often of genuineness altogether.

"Justice Deferred"

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1941: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Waugh, who, when a small boy, saw his father ambushed and murdered in Santa Rita, returns there 20 years later determined to bring the murderers to justice. He rescues Mary Lane from a holdup and possible kidnaping, and finds she is the stepdaughter of Corbett Carey, his father's friend. But Abner Clinton III., grandson of old Ab Clinton who instigated the Waugh murder, is Mary's suitor, and since the murder, most of the Clinton tribe have become law abiding and prominent. The unscrupulous member, besides old Ab is his son Brad who manages the Clinton ranch altho his father still owns controlling interest. Carey's son, Carl, tells Jack that Jim Fallon, now employed by Brad, was the first to arrive on the scene of the murder. Jack questions Fallon, but is interrupted by two of Clinton's men, Warren Tracy and Ike Parker. Tracy starts a fight trying to take Fallon away, but Jack gives Tracy a terrific beating. Jack hires Fallon to protect him from Brad and his men. Fallon tells Jack he saw Tracy and Brad leave the scene of the murder and Jack learns that old Ab was seen taking his father's money belt. A bullet narrowly misses Jack and he thinks Tracy fired at him. He encounters Ike Parker and Clem Peake, another one of Brad's men, and Jack recognizes them to be the men who held up Mary. He notifies young Abner, who investigates and finds it is true. Summoning his grandfather to the ranch, young Abner recommends they turn Parker and Peake over to the police. Old Ab pretends to agree but instead offers Parker $500 to get rid of Jack. A note, supposedly from Carl Carey, summons Jack to the Carey ranch. En route, Jack rescues a man who, being mistaken for Jack, was attacked from the ambush. He sends the man back to town by Fallon, and alone he trails the attackers. He finds they are Tracy, Parker, and Peake, and bluffs them into surrendering.

INSTALMENT XXVII.
IDENTIFICATION.

Peake protested that his feet were killing him. He was wearing high heeled cowboy boots, not made for walking long distances. Why couldn't he fork one of the broncs and ride?

Jack shook his head. "No, Clem, that wouldn't do. The other boys would feel I was playing favorites. Keep inching along. Your feet will get a long rest from traveling after you are taken to the penitentiary."

They turned into the cut-off. To while away the time Waugh lifted his voice in one of his favorite melodies:

"If I live, Sangaree,
"Till next fall, Sangaree,
"I ain't gonna plant, Sangaree,
"No cotton at all . . ."

"Don't worry about what will happen in the fall," Tracy snarled, slewing his ugly head around. "You'll be under the daisies before then. Right now I wouldn't insure yore life for a plugged nickel."

"You're a little peeved about this trip we're taking, Mr. Tracy," the man on horseback explained. "You just don't like me tonight. But cheer up. We're almost at our journey's end. I see the ranch lights ahead of us."

Presently he halted his little cavalcade and raised his voice to shout. "Hello the house!" he called.

While Mary arranged her cards she said to her step-brother with careful casualness, "Your friend is taking his time to get here."

"Didn't he say he would be right over?" Corbett Carey asked.

"Jim Fallon said they would," Carl answered. "They might have been delayed."

Corbett was a little worried, but he did not want to show it. "Might give them a call if they don't show up in half an hour," he suggested. "It's your bid, Agnes."

Mrs. Carey nodded. "Yes, I know. One heart. It's not late yet."

At the end of the rubber Carl rose. "Reckon I had better call the hotel," he said. "Perhaps they have decided not to come tonight."

"Good idea," his father approved. He looked at his watch. "Nine o'clock. They have had better than two hours."

All of them were disturbed. They felt that Jack Waugh took too many chances. No doubt his enemies were keeping a check on his movements. The telephone conversation might have been reported to them, and he might have been waylaid.

The clerk at the hotel was not able to reassure Carl.

"There's been a little trouble," he explained. "A fellow was wounded on the road and Jim Fallon brought him in to the doctor about an hour and a half ago."

"Who was wounded?" Carl asked urgently. "Was it Mr. Waugh?"

Mary's heart turned over at her brother's words. She waited, breath suspended. His next words released the life in her.

"A traveling salesman, you say. Are you quite sure it isn't Waugh?"

The clerk told him what he knew.

"Hold the phone a minute," Carl said, and turned to his father. "A man named Jenkins has been shot. Jack and Jim Fallon found him in his car and Jim brought him back to town. The clerk doesn't know where Waugh is."

"Tell him to get Fallon and put him on the wire," Corbett said.

After what seemed to Mary an interminable delay, Fallon's voice came to Carl. He told the story of the interrupted ambush. Waugh had set out to intercept the ruffians and had not been heard from since.

"I'm scared stiff for fear they got him," Fallon confessed. "How would it do for me to drive out to your place? We could take a party out to help him. I can't sit here and do nothing. If two-three of your men will volunteer we can save him, maybe, wouldn't you think?"

At that moment a gay and cheerful voice sang out from the quadrangle in front of the porch, "Hello to the house!"

"It's Jack Waugh," Mary cried joyfully, and ran out of the room. A moment later her voice, high with excitement, came back to Carl. "We've been so worried about you. We thought—we didn't know——"

Young Carey told Jim that Waugh had just arrived. He hung up and hurried to the porch. Jack was still in the saddle, the moonlight flooding down on him. He looked at Mary, laughter in his reckless eyes, and swept a hand to indicate his dusty, weary prisoners.

"I rounded up some scrubs out of the brush," he told her. "This one with the ugly phiz is the bully of the Sweetwater valley. He's a mite tuckered out just now on account of having been out for a stroll with his friends. The other two are old acquaintances of both you and me. We met them on Waterloo boulevard one evening."

"That's a damned lie," Peake growled. But there was no spirit in his denial. The long trudge and humiliation at this defeat had left him too dejected.

"He's the cop with the bad manners," Waugh informed the girl. "Do you recognize him?"

Mary took a long look at the heavy sulky face. "Yes, I do," she replied.

"The other gent calls himself Parker. He is the one who was driving the sedan. As soon as I can locate the sheriff I'll turn the three beauties over to him."

"The sheriff is over at the A C ranch," Carl said. "He stopped here on the way over this evening. A deputy was with him. They ran out from town to pick up Parker and Peake. I'll phone him to come over."

"Why put him to so much trouble?" In Jack's eyes there was a gleam of impish mirth. He wanted to see the astonishment of the Clintons when he arrived with three of their bold bad warriors in tow. "I'll deliver the gents."

Tracy ripped out an oath. "If I ever get another crack at you, fellow."

His captor did not pay the least attention to him. "Like to borrow a car from you, Carl. The boys are some frazzled from their walk. I'll let them ride this time."

"Your going to take them back to the A C ranch," Mary said.

"That's the idea. Returned with care. Compliments of J. Waugh."

"Okay," Carl spoke up. "I'll go with you."

His father put a hand on the young man's shoulder. "That makes two of the family going," Corbett mentioned.

Agnes Carey said, in a low voice, "Do you think you had better, dear?"

"I'm sure of it," her husband answered. There was an unaccustomed blitheness in his voice. To be brought into the orbit of Waugh increased his zest for life. He felt as if he had sloughed 30 years. It was good to shake a fist at the Clintons again. In his time he had put up with a good deal from them. "Now is the time for all good men and true to come to the aid of the party. These scoundrels attacked a member of my family. I'm shoving chips into the game."

"Don't include me in that, Corbett," Tracy growled.

Carey looked into his angry eyes. "No, I won't, Warren. All you have done to me as far as I know is let your men tear down my fences and drive your stock on to my fields to eat up the crops and bully my riders."

Carl asked his foreman, Sam Argo, to have the prisoners guarded until they were ready to take off. "Probably the knots have worked loose on their wrists. Tie up this man Peake too. We'll travel in two cars."

"I'd better go along with you," Argo suggested. "Two will have to drive, and we'll need one in each car to drive."

"That's right," Carl agreed.

Argo hesitated, then put a question. He did not forget that Tracy was a man of importance in the neighborhood, the foreman of the biggest ranch within 50 miles, and that he had a surly revengeful disposition. "What about untying Tracy?"

"He'll go back to the ranch hogtied like the others," Carl snapped.

Cream of celery soup is a good answer to your wondering about what to do with all the celery tops. Celery tops belong in soup. It would be a shame to discard those tender, flavorful leaves. You can make soup with leaves alone, and onion to supplement the flavor, but it will be better to include some of the celery stalks, too, if you haven't eaten them all stuffed with cheese or as celery hearts.

Cream of Celery Soup.

[Serves five.]
1 small onion, minced
2 cups chopped celery and leaves
3 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper
1 quart milk

Sauté onion in butter until yellow. Cook celery and leaves in 1 cup water until tender. Add flour to onions and butter, and stir to blend. Add celery and liquid in which it was cooked. Add milk and seasonings. Heat to the boiling point and serve. A bouillon cube may be added to the soup, in which case it won't be necessary to add a great deal of salt.

If you go for "different" soups, try this good celery soup with olives. It's delicious!

Cream of Celery and Olive Soup.

[Serves six.]
2 cups diced celery and chopped leaves
1 small onion, minced
2 cups water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup green olives, chopped
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk

Cook celery and onion until tender in the 2 cups of water with the salt. Cook chopped olives in butter for 5 minutes. Stir in flour. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Add to celery and onion. Cook until thickened, about 20 minutes, stirring constantly.

When I make this soup I use some of the liquid drained from the olives as part of the water. Gives grand flavor!

Banana Spice Cake.

[2 layers.]
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
2 eggs
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¾ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 cup mashed bananas
¼ cup sour milk

Cream butter until light. Sift sugar and beat into butter gradually, mixing until very light. Beat in eggs one at a time. Sift flour three times with baking powder, soda, salt, and spices. Add sour milk to bananas. Alternately add sifted dry ingredients and banana mixture to the butter and sugar, beating batter smooth after each addition. Bake in two greased 9 inch layer pans at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes. Put cake together and frost with seven minute frosting. Or dust with confectioners' sugar and serve with whipped cream.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

This light, even textured fruit bread with an ever-so-good flavor wins a $5 prize for Mrs. Olga Johnson, 6949 30th place, Berwyn. Make it for Christmas parties, teas, and open house refreshments.

And send in your own very best recipe for the judges to consider. There'll be a prize winner every day. Address Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Festive Holiday Bread.

[Two loaves.]
2 cups scalded milk
½ cup shortening
⅔ cup sugar
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon crushed cardamom seed
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 cakes compressed yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
2 beaten eggs
8 cups sifted flour
1 cup white raisins
½ cup shredded citron
1 cup chopped maraschino cherries

Combine milk, shortening, sugar, salt, cardamom, and cinnamon. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast softened in lukewarm water. Add eggs. Mix well. Add half the flour and beat well. Add fruits and remaining flour. Let rise until double in bulk. Punch down and knead lightly. Shape into two loaves or braids. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 45 minutes. Brush with butter while still warm.

Softly Tailored Dresses

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCKS.

"Tailored in the soft manner" describes the two patterns today. Deep V neckline, lingerie touches, and deftly shirred skirts characterize both models.

Style No. 3204 is designed for sizes 12, 14, and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires 2⅛ yards of 54 inch material for jumper; 2 yards of 39 inch for blouse.

Style No. 3350 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for dress; 1¼ yards for dickey.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

The bidding philosophy of the responder must be far different from that of the opening bidder. Not all players realize this, and consequently their responsive bidding is not nearly as good as when they hold the master hand. Consider South's lack of enterprise in the following deal:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K Q 10 9 2
♥ A K Q 6 4 3
♦ 10

WEST
♥ J 7 5 2
♦ K J 4 3
♣ K Q J 2

EAST
♥ 10

♣ A 9 6 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A J 7 4 3
♦ A 9 6
♣ 10 7 5

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously, there was nothing to the play. The hand was a laydown for six spades and, if West had not opened a club, declarer could easily have made 13 tricks. The following colloquy then took place:

South: Gee, you had a terrific hand, partner! We certainly should have reached a slam.

North: I quite agree with you! But what kind of a hand did you think I had, when I raised one spade to four?

South: Well, you certainly couldn't expect me to bid any more, with three losing clubs and a flock of other losers. How could I know about your singleton club, for instance?

North: You couldn't, but you certainly could, and should, have known that I wasn't expecting two aces in your hand. My bid announced that you would have an excellent play for game if you had nothing except a spade suit. Couldn't you have told me about how much over "nothing" you held?

And there we have the crux of the situation. North's last question was well taken. It was South's duty to announce the fact that he held much better than a minimum one-over-one response. North's bidding could not have been different. Opening with one heart [his six card suit] he then had jumped all the way to game in spades. Such a jump raise of a response is in no sense a shut-out bid. It is stronger than a raise to three spades, which merely urges partner to go on. North did not have the values for the Culbertson Four No Trump Convention, and might have jeopardized a game in spades by bidding the Blackwood four no trump; that is to say, South might have had something like ♠ J x x x x x ♥ x ♦ K Q x ♣ K Q x. In this case, there would be three aces off the hand.

The entire point is that South, with two aces about which his partner could know nothing, should have taken forward action on his own account. If he wanted to be conservative, a mere five spade bid would, at least, have been something. But, actually, he should have jumped directly to a slam.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The Housewife

Each year Christmas candles appear in lovelier styles. Remember the big ones that burn for so many hours? This year you can get them in pastel shades of pink, blue or green dotted in white. They are enchanting. Another charming candle [red, green or white] is shaped like a Christmas tree and has its own little silver metal holder. Still another is a very tall, hand made, rope twisted candle, exceedingly handsome. It comes in crimson and in ivory. Then there are the big star shaped ones, quite tall. A five pointed star candle is in white; an eight pointed one in deep green. Boxed bayberry candles are perennial favorites and make welcome remembrances. Edith Weigle.

Is there something I have skipped in the recent articles on the in-between, which is troubling you especially in connection with your son or daughter of eight or ten, or somewhere around those ages? On looking back I see one or two gaps I might fill up today.

School troubles often rear their heads at this time, and coming day after day their effect is what you might call slightly nagging to parents. The cause might be one of several. Suppose you check over these possibilities.

Failing in school work due to poor teaching or being graded too high, disagreements with teacher over conduct or lessons with possible fault on either side; or inability to get on with children. Possible remedies: Go to visit classes; talk with teacher in friendly desire for help as to child's work, or personality, or conduct; encourage association with children in the class out of school and invite them to the house.

Also in this in-between age range, but chiefly in the earlier part of it, comes the issue of "bad words," a term covering a multitude of "sins," from swearing to overheard obscene terms. The reason for the fascination of these terms is more innocent than the echo of the words would indicate. It may be due to novelty, which is always intriguing to a child; a sense of vigor that accompanies certain expressions; a feeling of being grownup; a desire to shock some one, which is exciting; and in most cases a very real ignorance of why certain expressions are objectionable. Try a general policy of ignoring and of never being shocked. Children soon outgrow this.

Another rather baffling, and often annoying, trait that appears early in these half dozen years is a certain questioning of your authority or, at least, a tendency to argue each point as it arises. Instead of "seeing red" or turning dictator, try looking for the possible cause. It may be development of your children's power to think for themselves instead of just accepting the opinion or word of grownups as they did in babyhood; desire for independence and dislike of restraint. To meet this, don't try to keep yourself on a pedestal, as you are more helpful to them and much nearer when you admit [tacitly] that you're not a superior being. Avoid excess of authority and don't give commands as commands.

How may a child be taught obedience? Should children be permitted freedom of the house? You will find answers to these and other problems in "You and Your Young Child." Pope Pius Elevates Three Church Officials in U. S.

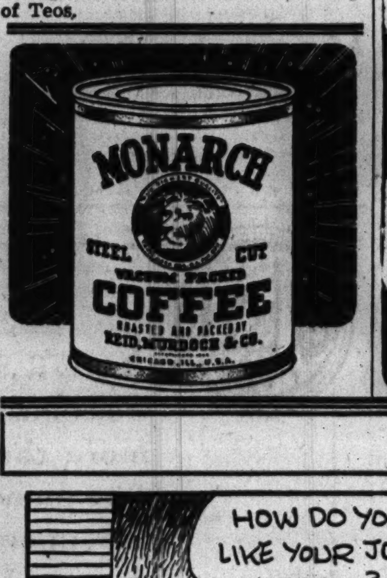
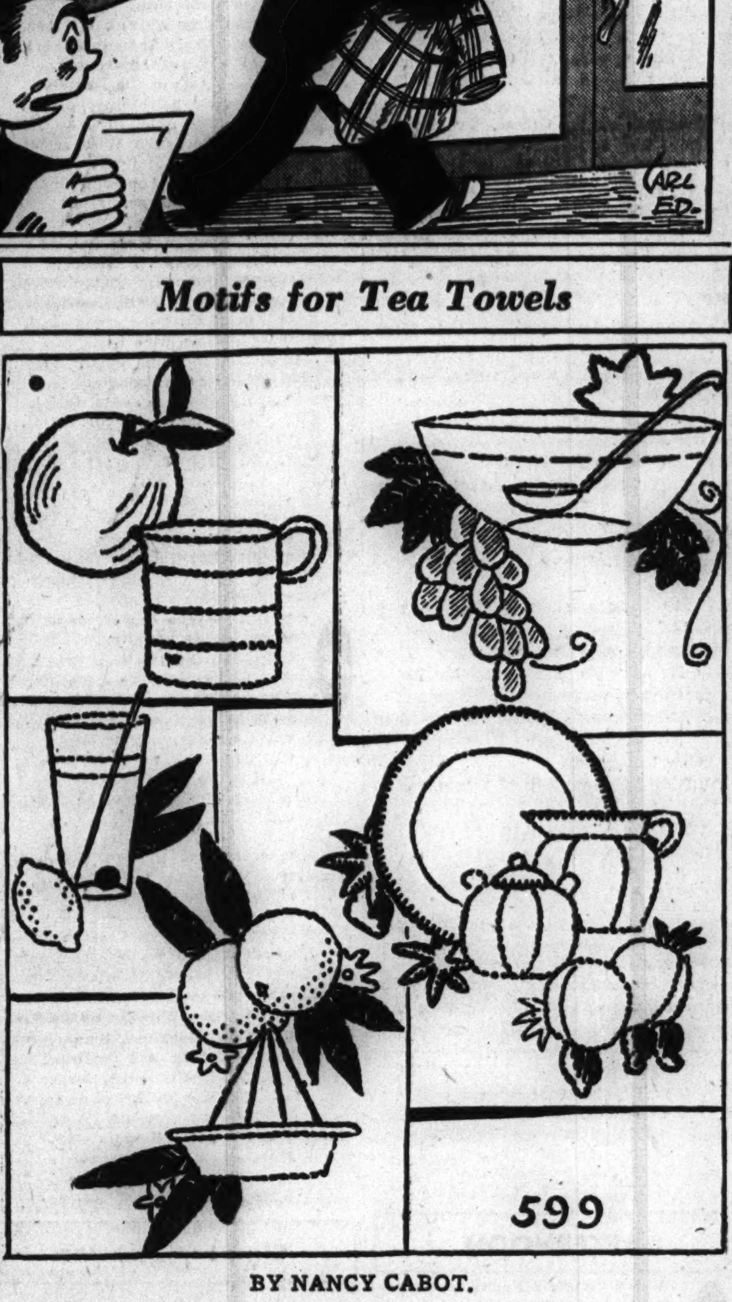
VATICAN CITY, Dec. 9 (AP).—Pope Pius XII. today made the following appointments: Msgr. Peter W. Bartholme of Rochester, Minn., bishop coadjutor of St. Cloud, Minn., with right to succeed bishop [also named titular bishop of Lete]; Msgr. Joseph C. Willging, vicar general of Helena, Mont., as bishop of the new diocese of Pueblo, Colo., and Msgr. Edward G. Hettinger, chancellor of the diocese of Columbus, O., to be auxiliary bishop of Columbus and titular bishop of Teos.



Motifs for Tea Towels



BY NANCY CABOT.

For quick and easy needlework gifts, try making these good looking glass towels. These designs require very little time to execute, since they are worked in a simple outline stitch. Both linen by the yard and ready-made towels are improved in appearance by means of dainty handwork. The hot iron transfer pattern includes an illustration of stitches.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the fruit motifs for tea towels, No. 599, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

North Western Choral Club to Give Concert

The Chicago and North Western Railway Choral club will present its annual program of Christmas music at 8:30 p. m. tomorrow in the school hall of Our Lady of Lourdes church, 4641 North Ashland avenue. The choir of 65 voices, all employés or former employés of the railway company, will sing carols and portions of Handel's "Messiah," under the direction of Harry Slater. Organized 15 years ago, the choir has presented 350 concerts and participated in the Chicagoland Music festival for the last five years.

Loop Church Sanctuary to Be Open During War

The Rev. Dr. Iver M. Johnson, pastor of First Methodist church, Chicago temple, Clark and Washington streets, announced last night that the first floor sanctuary of the church will be open daily for prayer and meditation from 9 to 5 o'clock for the duration of the war.

Modern Woman Prefers Shoe That Is Plain

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"But I haven't jewel box feet," we were amused to hear a woman near by explain to the shoe salesman who'd come bearing a pair of shoes that looked as if they should be housed in a jewel case. He explained that he was only showing them to her, but could order them in her size if she wished.

The woman was resolute. She'd have none of those steel studded numbers sans toe and heel that automatically draw attention to feet.

"No. It's plain shoes for me," she protested. "Because of my large figure, I go in for the unadorned, conservative type of clothes, and I find that the same rule turns me out better shod. At least, no one comments on my having big feet, which I have."

However, the shoes the woman was wearing were definitely size-concealing and supported her theory that the less decor, the less noticeable the feet.

"It's this last that does it," she added. "This is the fourth pair of the same kind of shoe I have had, and I think the lasts today are simply marvelous in the way they provide comfort for your feet, good style, and neatness of shoe size."

That's the ultramodern woman's way with shoe purchases now. If she's conservative of dress, necessarily because of size or not, she follows the conservative shoe pattern. If she is more decorative by nature and design, she avails herself of the gay and pretty shoe numbers, but always she chooses shoes for comfort along with style.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

James Stewart's diffidence is real. His handwriting tells me so. Perhaps you know some one who is like Mr. Stewart and you would like to know how this shows up in handwriting. Well, it is a combination of traits which result in this slightly shy, withdrawal which is very charming in some people, and which Mr. Stewart has portrayed to perfection on the screen.

First we see that the writing slants slightly to the left instead of to the right. That in itself warns us that here is a person we have to draw out. The thoughts and feelings are not expressed spontaneously and objectively. Then look at the pen pressure and we find that it is light and not very firm.

Mr. Stewart's signature is slight and delicately written. So we know we are dealing with a sensitive person who expresses himself hesitantly. Then the size gives us another indication of shyness. The letters are small and simple. The ego is expressed with a diffidence which is almost apologetic.

For your own Handwriting Analysis send 10 cents (in coin) and a self-addressed envelope bearing a 3 cent stamp, together with a sample of handwriting, to Shirley Spencer, Box 116, General Postoffice, New York City. (IMPORTANT: Write 25 words and signature in ink.)

THE Kitchen Kibitzer
by MARIAN CARTER
A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

If you need half a cup of butter, use one of the quarters in your butter package. There are 2 cups of butter to the pound, so 2 of the 4 "sticks" in your carton weigh half a pound and measure 1 cup.

Yes, there are differences in baking powders, but you can ignore them and still be a good cook. The usual proportion of baking powder to flour in cakes is 1 teaspoon to the cup. More baking powder is required for muffins and biscuits, usually 1½ to 2 teaspoons per cup of flour.

What for dessert? Well, let's have gingerbread waffles, just for a change. Don't let the waffle baker get quite as hot as usual, because with molasses in the batter, the waffles 'll be easy to scorch. Serve 'em hot, with whipped cream. They're so good they'll almost make you swoon with delight!

It's bunk that orange juice will lose all its vitamin C if left standing for a few hours. It won't lose much even if it stands overnight, provided it is kept well covered. But there's not much point in letting it stand.

—$5.00 PRIZE KIBITZ—

"Caught short for snacks? Place salted crackers on cookie sheet. Dot generously with chili sauce in center of cracker and cover each with a small slice of American cheese. Pop into the oven for five minutes or until the cheese is slightly melted. Yum! Yum!"

COUNCIL WILL GET PLEA: CUT OUT 125 CITY WATER JOBS

Efficiency Committee Is to Make Recommendation.

Elimination of approximately 125 jobs in the city water department at an estimated saving of $350,000 is expected to be recommended to the council finance committee when it meets tomorrow to continue preparation of the 1942 city budget.

The recommendation, it was learned last night, will be in the report on the water department to be submitted by the budget survey committee. The committee is an efficiency group sponsored by the Civic federation and the Chicago Association of Commerce. Last year it studied the work of several city departments and this year has investigated the water department and law department.

Reduction in Collection Office.

The report is expected to recommend a cut of 20 men in the water bureau or collection office. A cut of 15 men is expected to be asked in the pumping station operation division. There the experts will recommend summer vacations be eliminated. The peak work of the stations is in summer.

The remainder of the cuts are mostly in the water pipe extension division. In 1941 water fund appropriations totaled $15,040,789. The city controler's estimate for 1942, upon which the aldermen base their budget work, is $15,727,578.

The finance committee yesterday referred to a subcommittee a request from the board of election commissioners to appropriate $48,000 next year for the distribution of printed explanations of a proposed constitutional amendment to be submitted to the voters which would give the general assembly power to exempt sales of food from the operation of the sales tax.

Plan Pay Cut Restoration.

Daniel Ryan, vice chairman of the county board finance committee, told representatives of a dozen unions at a hearing that the county plans to restore the 1941 pay cut of two weeks' payless vacations in drafting its 1942 budget.

This met with approval from the union officials, but some asked for other wage increases and hiring of additional men.

Patrick Sullivan, president of the Chicago Building Trades council, asked the county commissioners to authorize the hiring of additional building trades union members and to dispense with WPA work.

The elevator operators' union asked an increase in wages of 14 per cent and the window washers requested a boost of $20 a month to $200 a month.

DELAYED WAGES MAY BE PAID TO COUNTY WORKERS

The county board by a vote of 8 to 4 directed yesterday its finance committee to reconsider a recommendation that the county take an appeal from a Superior court mandamus ordering payment of $29,000 in wages to 344 employés in Assessor John S. Clark's office. The pay roll, covering two weeks' wages, was held up on the board's contention that Clark had not enforced the two weeks payless vacation as required by the board in the 1941 budget.

Yesterday's vote to reconsider was taken after the board received a telegram from Clark. The assessor asserted he had not been heard by the finance committee on the question. Clark, a Democrat, also declared that County Commissioners George A. Miller and William Busse, Republicans, were "biting" at his office and had threatened to "pull the assessor's budget apart" unless Clark granted them patronage in the form of "high priced jobs."

Busse and Miller denied this charge, but voted to go ahead with the appeal from the Superior court ruling. They contended the court may have erred and that the case should go to a higher court.

BRRR!! OL' MAN WINTER STARTING TO COME SOUTH

The coldest weather of the year was reported last night en route to Chicago from the Canadian northwest. Early morning temperatures, said Forecaster George Canaday, will be about 20 with a maximum of 23 to 25 degrees today, and 10 to 15 above zero tonight. He also predicted light intermittent snow. The cold weather is expected to continue tomorrow. Last night it spread over Minnesota and the Dakotas. Yesterday's minimum temperature was 24 degrees at 7 a. m.

Slaying Trial

Harvey Goldblatt (left), Mrs. David Goldblatt, and Attorney Harold Levy.

Efforts to introduce the purported confessions of David Goldblatt continued into the second day yesterday in his trial before Judge U. S. Schwartz and a jury in the Criminal court, on a charge of murdering Anton Gorczak, a cleaning house driver. Gorczak was beaten to death by goons in a war between rival cleaning houses last April. Goldblatt made an oral confession and an unsigned written one, both of which he repudiated later. He charged that the statement's were forced out of him by repeated beatings by state's attorney's police. Yesterday he reënacted his story of the alleged beatings.

AMATEUR RADIO MEN NEEDED IN ACTIVE SERVICE

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

An order issued Sunday suspending all amateur radio operation was transmitted yesterday by the chief signal corps officer of the war department in Washington, D. C., to Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, commanding the 6th corps area. The order is applicable also to the army amateur radio system.

More than 1,000 "hams" are affected in the metropolitan area; some 4,500 in the 18th district which includes Illinois, Indiana and portions of Iowa and Wisconsin. There are more than 50,000 amateur operators in the country.

While no explanation was given for the order, the shutdown was presumably ordered to prevent the transmission of information, including weather reports, of value to the enemy.

The communications act of 1934 gives the President complete control over radio. It provides that he may cause the closing of any radio station or that he may authorize the use or control or apparatus by any department of the government under regulations he may prescribe upon just compensation to the owners.

The order, affecting amateurs, contained an appeal for enlistment of amateur radio operators who qualify for military service.

Eligibles should apply for active service to the signal officer at headquarters of the 6th corps area in the postoffice.

The order also called on amateur operators who because of marital status, age, or slight physical defects are ineligible for active military service, to offer their services to the war dpartment in civilian capacities. Civilian radio operators, the order said, could release present enlisted men at army radio stations for other military duties.

REPORT DEMANDS MEANS TO CURB REDS IN SCHOOLS

Would Give Authority to Supervisory Heads.

New York, Dec. 9 [Special].—High school principals and presidents of tax supported colleges in New York City must be given full authority to prevent disorderly and subversive activities, a special legislative committee investigating communist penetration of the school system reported today.

In its third and final report, the committee charged that student Reds at Brooklyn college and the College of the City of New York have gained control of many undergraduate organizations and are in charge of four student newspapers.

The report credited young communists wit hhaving 15 presidents of American Student union chapters, 19 representatives to the student council, two house plan chairmen, seven student council presidents, 16 editors of college publications, and chairmanships of presidencies of many campus groups.

Student Union Evades Ban.

The communistic A. S. U. is officially banned in New York City high schools, but has continued to meet in them and have unofficial faculty advisers thru a trick rule.

Except for one paper during one term, the four undergraduate newspapers of city and Brooklyn colleges "consistently followed the communist party line on such issues as the Oxford oath, collective security, 'imperialist' war and collaboration with the soviet union" since 1936, the committee found.

Communist penetration of noncommunist campus activities extended to the point where a unit of young communists existed within the R. O. T. C. in one of the city colleges, the committee said.

Teachers Aid Communists.

Altho communist teachers were cautioned by the party not to deal with students under frankly communist auspices, the committee cited the case of one teacher who lectured at a young communist league training school.

The teachers union actively aided the A. S. U., the committee said, voting to support the A. S. U. after the board of education had banned it, authorizing collections for it, suggesting thru the union's executive board in 1936 that discussion of student strikes be approached "from the standpoint of class conflict, not old and young conflict."

K. of C. Christmas Party Will Be Held Tonight

Fourth degree members of the Knights of Columbus will hold their annual Christmas party in the Palmer House tonight. The chapter will open a drive for Christmas gifts and parties for 12,000 inmates of orphanages and old people's homes in Cook county.

HALLETT ALSO TRADED IN DEAL FOR .319 HITTER

Monty Stratton to Manage Lubbock.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The quest of James J. Dykes, White Sox manager, for something new in the way of outfielding talent for his 1942 combination came to a happy conclusion yesterday when his former teacher, Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics, handed him the services of Wallace Moses Jr.

In return for the favor the pupil turned over to the fatherly McGillicuddy property rights in the veteran flychaser, Mike Kreevich, and Pitcher Jack Hallett who served one season under Dykes' emblem.

Meantime the American leaguers in the first of their winter sessions in the Palmer House were quick to turn thumbs down on a seemingly fantastic proposal that would have moved the Browns out of St. Louis and established Los Angeles as their home base.

It Seems It Was on the Fire.

The Sox-Athletics transaction, the first consequential shift recorded in the winter market came so quickly after Mack's arrival from Philadelphia that Dykes had no choice other than to break down and admit the matter had been on the fire for several weeks.

No sooner was business concluded than Dykes donned a high hat, announcing he had ceased to pursue the St. Louis and Detroit club managers with whom he had desired to do business. The Sox boss remains willing to talk to either, but will not seek them. Now that he has one of the two outfielders he thinks will be required for the 1942 task he is independent. They'll have to come after him, and that's probably what one or both will do.

The Detroit swap, when discussed the last time on Monday, involved infielder Bill Knickerbocker and pitcher Buck Ross of the Sox for outfielder Bruce Campbell and pitcher Paul Trout.

Stratton to Pilot Lubbock.

Another piece of business handled by the Sox brought promotion to Monty Stratton whose pitching career ended at its height three years ago when he lost his right leg as the result of a hunting accident. Since then Stratton had served as a Sox coach, but now carries the title of manager of the Lubbock, Tex. team of the West Texas-New Mexico league. Lubbock has a working agreement with the Sox. Dykes said he hadn't made up his mind about a coaching successor for Stratton, but there were rumors that Bing Miller would be signed.

The proposal to alter the American league's circuit by removing the St. Louis franchise originated in Los Angeles, and was carried before the assembled owners by President Don Barnes of the Browns.

"Ready to Consider Any Proposal."

"Certain Los Angeles interests" explained Barnes, "have approached me with reference to the possibility of moving the Browns out there. While I have always been opposed to their removal from St. Louis, those interests have been informed that if the Browns were to be moved it seems to me that Los Angeles would be the most desirable city. Modern transportation now places major league baseball within the realm of possibility for the west coast."

"If the people of Los Angeles want major league baseball and proper arrangements can be made with responsible leaders and the consent of the Pacific Coast league can be obtained, they will find me ready to consider any proposal, subject, of course, to the approval of the American league."

Unanimously Against It.

The vote against the idea at this time was unanimous possibly because it frightened the owners after they had devoted a few moments of thought to the subject. To gain ter-

BILL WERBER, RED THIRD BASEMAN, SOLD TO GIANTS

Moore and Arnovich Sent to Indianapolis.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

General Manager Bill Terry and Manager Mel Ott, with the best wishes of Owner Horace Stoneham of the New York Giants, shortly before midnight last night bought Third Baseman Bill Werber from the Cincinnati Reds in a straight cash deal. The transaction followed on the heels of a deal which sent Joe Moore and Morrie Arnovich, veteran outfielders, from the Giants to the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association.

Thus the Giants continued to keep active in following up their pledge to give New York something better than a second division outfit. New York, the nation's largest city, was represented last year by a fifth place team, only one rung ahead of the team representing the country's second largest city, Chicago, if memory serves us accurately.

The Dodgers followed the Giants in acquiring a player for cash when they bought Johnny Rizzo, outfielder, from the Phillies for an undisclosed sum.

Giants Trying, Anyhow.

The Giants grabbed the spotlight in the minor league meetings in Jacksonville, Fla., last week by making Terry general manager and Ott his successor as field manager. The pair then prevailed upon Owner Stoneham to purchase Hank Leiber from the Cubs for cash and Bob Powman, a right handed pitcher. And here they have been the most active in at least trying to do something.

Even so, the Giants got no spring chicken when they purchased Werber. Bill was born June 20, 1908, and during his career has served with the Yankees, Red Sox, and the Athletics of the American league and has been with the Reds for the last three seasons. He generally was credited with being one of the key men in the Reds' winning of the National league pennant in 1939 and he hit .370 to help Cincinnati to the world championship in 1940.

Gabby, Arnovich Meet Again.

Moore was a perennial .300 plus hitter before he started to fade three seasons ago. He rated as a regular until last season, however. Accompanying Moore to Indianapolis, which will be managed by Gabby Hartnett for Donie Bush, will be Arnovich to remind observers that time passes rapidly in baseball.

In July, 1939, Hartnett was the National league manager in the All-Star game in Yankee stadium. Arnovich, then with the Phillies, was leading the National league and on the National league squad. Hartnett refused to use Arnovich on his team in the All-Star game, thus causing a great storm. And now Gabby is Morrie's boss in the minors.

The National league yesterday assured President Roosevelt it would help the United States win the war, but the circuit did nothing to help

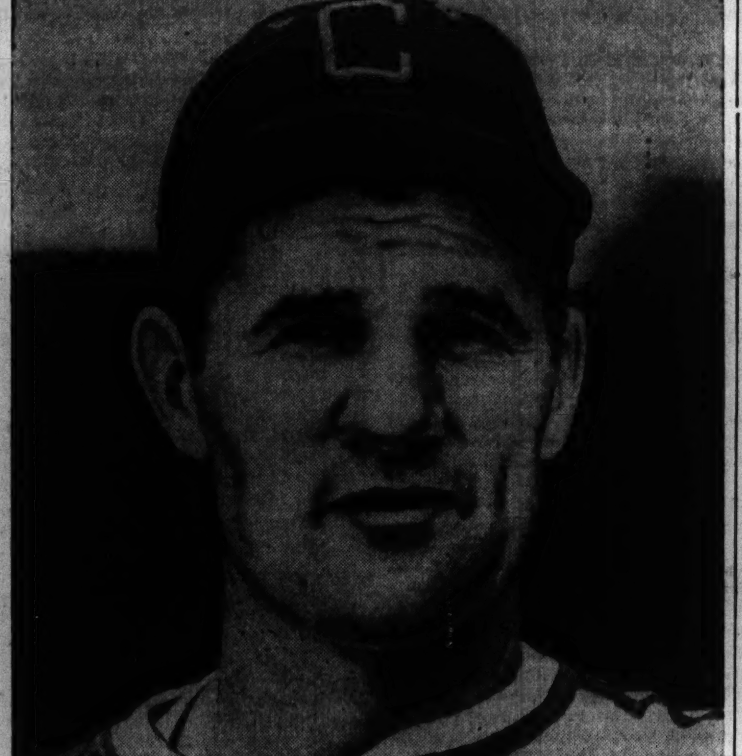
So Long, Mike—Hello, Wally!



Mike Kreevich, White Sox outfielder, who yesterday was sent to the Philadelphia Athletics in a deal which brings Outfielder Wally Moses to Chicago. Pitcher Jack Hallett was included in the trade by the Sox. Kreevich came up from Kansas City at the close of the 1935 season.

Moses has spent seven seasons with the Athletics and has a lifetime batting average of .319. His lowest year was last season when he hit .301.

Boston Ties Hawks, 2 to 2; Leads League

Boston, Mass., Dec. 9 (AP).—The Boston Bruins regained top place in the National Hockey league by coming from behind for a 2 to 2 overtime tie with Chicago's speedy Blackhawks tonight before 10,000 at the Boston Garden.

The championship Bruins, unable to defeat the Blackhawks in two starts against them this season, gained an early lead when Red Hamill caged a tricky pass that Bill Cowley fired from behind the Chicago net late in the first period.

Hawks Hold Brief Lead.

Max Bentley put the visitors on even terms early in the second period, with the veteran Mush March's assistance. The Hawks pulled into the lead during the 16th minute when Bill Carse polished off a combination play with Bill Thoms and George Allen by beating Goalie Frankie Brimsek with a rebound.

The Blackhawks, however, had to surrender their advantage almost immediately for Woody Dumart drove a blistering 50 footer thru Sam Lo Presti after Flash Hollett had fed him from a corner.

During the remainder of the play, the Bruins tried to apply heavy pressure with a sustained five man attack but the Blackhawks refused to crack. During the late stages, little Eddie Wiseman had four close-up tries but Lo Presti handled them with ease.

Only One Penalty.

Altho both sides battled in determined fashion during the entire 70 minutes, only one penalty was called. Woody Dumart was sent off for high sticking March a few seconds after he had deadlocked the action.

The game was halted after the second period and President Roosevelt's address to the nation was put on the loudspeakers.

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 9 [Special].—Illinois staved off a desperate Marquette rally to win its opening basketball game, 45 to 43, tonight. The Hilltoppers came from a five point deficit to within a single point in the last 10 minutes. Illinois led at the half, 23 to 18.

With Marquette fighting for the ball over every inch of the floor, Illinois took advantage of repeated fouling late in the game to score a single point by Andy Phillip and make secure its two point victory.

Sophomore Lineup Starts.

Illinois put a starting lineup of three sophomores, a junior, and a senior on the floor. Marquette's starting lineup contained four sophomores and a senior.

Pacing Illinois in its victory was Kenneth Menke with four baskets and a free throw. Top man for the Hilltoppers was John Dentinger, who accounted for 13 points with six baskets and a free throw. Raymond Kuffel made nine points for Marquette. Lineup:

LOYOLA VS. CHICAGO

The University of Chicago basketball team will meet Loyola in the Midway fieldhouse tonight. Chicago's record consists of a victory over Illinois Tech, 43 to 29, in the season opener last week. Loyola's Ramblers won their second game of the season with a 64 to 19 victory over Arkansas State Monday night. Previously they had beaten Franklin college, 52 to 31.

Chicago will depend for its offensive punch on veterans Jack Fons and Ed Nelson, but the Maroons' primary task, for which sophomores will be called into service, will be stopping Mickey Rottner, who has scored 17 baskets in the two Loyola games this season.

Sudden thought: What this country needs more than anything else at the moment is a telephone extension cord that won't twist itself into more knots than that "human frog" we used to see in vaudeville. Remember vaudeville?

They're now making cigarets with crimson tips so they won't show the imprint of lipsticks on them. Yeh, but isn't that going to be sort o' tough on the boys that write those murder mystery scenarios for the movies?

Ernie Kretz claims he walked into a Dubuque department store in search of a snack of his favorite cheese. "I would like some Liederkranz," he said to a clerk, obviously new. "I'm sorry," replied the girl brightly, "but we don't have a music department here."

(Scores on page 35.)

Three Detroit bowlers occupied the first three places among the 70 all-stars competing in the national tournament at the Coliseum after 15 of the 20 games of the four-day assignment had been completed last night.

At the top again was Johnny Crimmins, the veteran who caused more than a ripple of excitement among fans Sunday when he hit 1,006 in the first five games ever bowled on the alleys on which he competed. Johnny had an aggregate of 3,083 pins. Monday he had rolled 1,014 and yesterday he went out and got himself a 1,063 count, which was not only second high series for the day but second high of the tournament. All of which means Mr. Crimmins was not only at the top of the heap, but deserved to be there, having gained his spot the hard way.

Norris Is Second.

Second was Joe Norris, who today definitely moved into contention and thereby transferred temporarily to Chicago the rivalry that he and Crimmins have maintained in Detroit. Norris rolled the high five-game series of the day and tournament, 1,070, and shoved his total up to 3,013.

Ernie Soest, late of Hollywood and now of Detroit, was third. Ernie, a tall, dignified young man who seemed to lack color but nevertheless demonstrated in 15 games that he has the "working" ball he was reputed to have when Douglas Aircraft moved him from the coast to Detroit, boasted a total of 2,979. Ernie started badly, but was in seventh place with 1,947 Monday. Yesterday he rolled 1,032, including a 241 game, that put him among the leaders.

But Chicago, whose star bowlers have been determined to bring the right to challenge for the match game title to Chicago, weren't at all out of the picture. Joe Sinke of the Pabsts and Bill Hargadon of the Budweisers were tied for the third spot with 2,964. Sinke had led at the end of the first day with 1,030 and dropped to third with 1,971 Monday. Hargadon, who had got 952 Sunday and added 999 Monday, shot 1,031 yesterday.

Continue Action Tonight.

Eddie Botten of Union City, N. J., was sixth with 2,961, but he was only two pins ahead of Hargadon's teammate and captain, Joe Wilman, who piled in a 1,050 series yesterday after having been in 14th place with 1,908 Monday night.

All of these stars and a few more were good bets to be among the 11 high men who will continue in the tournament after tonight. These 11 will join with Lowell Jackson of St. Louis, who is competing with Ned Day for the national match game championship in a 12 man round robin starting tomorrow and running thru Sunday. The winner of the round robin become challenger for the title which Day has held since 1938 and is certain to possess after he and Jackson bowl the last ten games of their 160 game cross-country assignment tonight.

Day Far Ahead.

Day is far ahead now, but Jackson is giving him a battle in their 40

MARSHALL FIVE CAPTURES 40TH IN JUNIOR PLAY

City Champions Defeat Senn, 44 to 30.

Marshall High school's junior basketball squad, champion of the Public School league, yesterday showed signs that it has notion's of retaining its title this winter. The west side quintet scored its 40th consecutive victory, defeating Senn, 44 to 30, in Senn's gymnasium. Isreal Acker, who collected 450 points in Marshall's campaign last season, led the attack against Senn with 10 field goals and three free throws. Senn, however, won the senior game from Marshall, 31 to 24. It was the second defeat of the season for Marshall's seniors.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Falconiere, $19.60 straight, $9.40 place, $3.40 show; Darting Star, $11.40 place, $4.80 show; Spectator, $2.20 show.

FALCONIERE, rated early when in close quarters, rallied when asked and won going away. DARTING STAR could not keep up early, responded when placed to drive, and closed with good energy. SPECTATOR alternated in setting pace while hard used and stopped in final stages. WALTER HAIGHT, forced to be taken up when in jam going into first turn, came out for racing room, and closed with bold rush. HARD TELLING went to front early, was used up running with SPECTATOR and faltered. CATAROCK had early speed.

SECOND RACE—Purse $600. Three year olds and up. Charles Town course. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 2:02. At post ½ minute. Winner, ch. g., 4, by High Quest-Rebuff, by Snow II. Owner, E. Lind. Trainer, H. Huff. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 1:16 2-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Questre, $57.20 straight, $17.40 place, $11.00 show; Honeymaid, $6.80 place, $4.20 show; Man at Arms, $5.60 show.

QUESTRE sprinted to front going into first turn, drew clear, was not threatened, and won easily. HONEYMAID, hard ridden while close up, held on with good energy. MAN AT ARMS, always forward factor, moved up menacingly approaching stretch and was tiring gradually at end. CATHODE was hustled early trying to get to leaders and could not improve position. GROUCHY GIRL had some early speed.

THIRD RACE—Purse $500. Three year olds and up which have not won a race since Sept. 13. About seven furlongs. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 2:32. At post ½ minute. Winner, b. f., 4, by Chance Play-Galocorsica, by Sir Galahad III. Owner, J. Dobbs. Trainer, C. P. Miles. Net value to winner, $350; second, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 1:26 2-5.

IVONIA	112	8	3	$2^{1½}$	4hd	$6^{½}$	8	C.Wright	33.90-1

Two dollar mutuels paid: Corsica, $7.00 straight, $4.20 place, $2.80 show; Stadium, $5.40 place, $4.20 show; Mintsitka, $2.80 show.

CORSICA, steadied going to first turn and rated after improving position on backstretch, disposed of COMMANDERESS when placed to drive, and won easily. STADIUM could not keep up early, circled horses leaving backstretch, and hung in final stages. MINTSITKA, shut off by COMMANDERESS leaving gate, improved position on inside, then weakened. MACK'S HOPE closed some ground. COMMANDERESS bore over on MINTSITKA leaving gate, took long lead, and faltered badly in final sixteenth. FORTUNATE BOOP and IVONIA had early speed.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $600. Three year olds and up. About four and a half furlongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:03. At post ½ minute. Winner, b. g., 3, by Balko-Ovalette, by Chicle. Owner-trainer, G. C. Waugh Jr. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, :50.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Last Bet, $8.00 straight, $4.20 place, $3.20 show; Vendor's Lien, $4.60 place, $3.20 show; Fair Hero, $2.40 show.

LAST BET forged to front in opening furlong, drew out, but had to be kept to pressure to end. VENDOR'S LIEN, probably best, was impeded early and had to be taken up when pinched off along rail nearing finish. FAIR HERO was closest to pace to midstretch and was weakening at close. ZYLOXXIE had a rough trip. PINES ART closed ground.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $800. Three year olds and up. Mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:31. Off at 3:31¼. Winner, br. g., 4, by Rhinock-Chiz, by Wrack. Owner, R. B. Hall. Trainer, D. P. Veneziano. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 1:46 2-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Residue, $21.40 straight, $6.80 place, $4.00 show; My One, $4.00 place, $3.00 show; Wire Me, $3.40 show.

RESIDUE, sent to contention in opening furlong, wore down MY ONE when placed to strong hand ride and drew out in closing stages. MY ONE, rated while setting early pace, could not stay with winner when placed to pressure. WIRE ME improved position with bold rush on backstretch and hung in closing drive. SCOUT ABOUT had early speed, dropped back and was tiring at end. DOMINAL moved up on inside on backstretch and tired thereafter. LOVE MARK stopped. YELLOW DRAGON was thru early.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $600. Three year olds and up. Mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:01½. Off at 4:02½. Winner, ch. f., 4, by Groucher-Double On, by On Watch. Owner-trainer, H. B. Langdon. Net value to winner, $425; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 1:47 2-5.

SECOND BEST	108	5	5	$5^{1½}$	7hd	8	8	J.C.Collins	97.50-1

Two dollar mutuels paid: Grouchy, $18.20 straight, $5.20 place, $2.80 show; Alamode, $3.00 place, $2.40 show; Sir S., $2.80 show.

GROUCHY, allowed to settle into best stride, rallied gamely when put to drive while on outside and wore down leaders to hold on with good energy. ALAMODE trailed for half, responded when shaken up and closed gamely. SIR S. shook off ACCIDENTAL while setting pace but could not stay there. ACCIDENTAL forced early pace, then weakened in final sixteenth. JOAN ASBESTOS went evenly. LORTON had early speed. PRINCESS LADY stopped. SECOND BEST was thru early.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $500. Four year olds and up. Mile and an eighth. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:32. At post ½ minute. Winner, ch. g., 7, by Vito-Princess Adele, by Brown Prince II. Owner, L. Lauer. Trainer, C. Heincke. Net value to winner, $350; second, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25. Time, 1:54 3-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Officiate, $9.00 straight, $4.20 place, $3.60 show; June Date, $10.20 place, $5.60 show; Blox, $6.40 show.

OFFICIATE, steadied in early stages, came to outside while improving position and lugged in during stretch run. JUNE DATE, in trouble early, went wide to get to front, saved ground thereafter, and appeared to lack racing room at close. BLOX disposed of HOFFBERG to take command but weakened after three-quarters. PACK SADDLE moved up menacingly on inside leaving backstretch, then faltered. HOFFBERG stopped. ALIMONY KID had no excuse.

LEO ROLLS OVER CALUMET, 62-30; JUNIORS WIN, TOO

Seniors Pile Up One of Year's Big Scores.

Leo's Lions, preseason favorites to repeat as senior basketball champions of the Catholic High School league, yesterday added Calumet to their list of victims. The Lions compiled one of the largest scores of the season as they overwhelmed Calumet, 62 to 30, in Leo gymnasium. The Leo juniors, with Babe Baranowski in their lineup, also triumphed, opening the two game program by handing the Calumet juniors a 39 to 20 setback. Lineups:

Attention, Green Bay—Bears Mean Business

Two veteran and two young Chicago Bear linemen going thru their paces yesterday under close scrutiny of Line Coach Hunk Anderson as the champions opened drills for Sunday's western division title game with the Green Bay Packers in Wrigley field. Left to right, Anderson, Danny Fortmann, George Musso, John Federovitch, and Ed Kolman. The latter two are tackles. Fortmann in his sixth season, and Musso in his ninth, are guards and co-captains.

Bears Count on Standlee as No. 1 Full Back

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The football players are stirred by this war, too. Yesterday morning, the Bears were taking turns venting their wrath on the Japanese when Bob Swisher quietly cut in with:

"Me, I hate Don Hutson!"

This broke up the war meeting and set the National Football league champions' thoughts back in another channel. After all, there will be time enough for some of the Bears to do something about the Japanese after next Sunday, or after Dec. 21 at the latest, which is the date of the title game between the eastern and western champions. The Bears are playing the Green Bay Packers and Mr. Hutson, their pass catching end, Sunday in Wrigley field for the western title and if they get it will meet the New York Giants the following Sunday in the same spot.

Photographers Are Annoyed.

Before the Bears were allowed to trot out on Wrigley field to start their week's first practice, they were under lock and key in the clubhouse from 9:30 to 11 a. m. This was a bit annoying to photographers, who had a 9:30 date to snap pictures and the 30 degree temperature didn't help the cameramen's tempers any, either.

Every one was in uniform except Bill Osmanski and Harry Clark. Both, tho, declared they were all right and Osmanski especially was insistent. But the suspicion grows that most of the Bears' full backing Sunday will be done by Norm Standlee, the 235 pounder from Stanford who already is being likened to Bronko Nagurski. Osmanski has a pulled muscle in his thigh and Clark has a damaged knee.

During the practice session, held in the right field section of the park, Standlee was given the ball a generous number of times. In Sunday's 34 to 24 victory over the Cardinals, big Norm carried the ball 18 times for ninety-one yards, or a five yard average.

He May Have Mentioned Fumbles.

Owner-Coach George Halas would not release the text of his clubhouse speech, but it is certain that it included a mention of the seven fumbles his team made against the Cardinals. This gave the Bears 37 fumbles for the season, the lead in that department, and who knows, perhaps their twelfth league record of the year.

"We're not planning anything startling for the Green Bay game," said Halas. "Just the same old stuff." This is just what any coach would be expected to say. Rival teams never stop trying to figure how Hutson can be stopped. He has made only one touchdown in two games with the Bears this year, which is below par for Don. So it's a cinch new ideas are being mulled over in the "how to stop Hutson" meetings.

Halas professes to be not too worried about his team's fumbles. He pointed out that last year the two finalists, Bears and Redskins, led the league in fumbles. Questioned, he gave the opinion the quick handling and delicate timing used in the modern T formation invites more fumbles than the other systems.

Chance to Wipe Out Defeat.

George McAfee seemed to express the Bears' sentiments when he declared they wanted to be in a better frame of mind Sunday than when they were beaten by the Packers on Nov. 2, 16 to 14. The scoringest Bear thought the pressure of continuing a winning streak led to their downfall. Now the Bears have a chance to wipe out that defeat on the same gridiron before the exact number of fans and once they get an idea they are pretty stubborn about it.

Five thousand bleacher seats will go on sale at the Hub at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, and half an hour later at Wrigley field. They are $1, tax included. This will complete the sellout of 46,484.

Bears Shatter Eight National League Records

The National Football league announced last night that the Chicago Bears broke eight team records during the regular 1941 season. The Packers cracked one. These new marks were set by the Bears:

Most first downs, 181. [Formerly 154 by the Packers in 1940].

Most yards gained, 4,265. [Formerly 3,988 by the Bears in 1939].

Most yards gained passing, 2,002. [Formerly 1,965 by the Bears in 1939].

Most touchdowns, 56. [Formerly 42 by the Bears in 1939].

Most touchdowns rushing, 37. [Formerly 26 by Detroit in 1939].

Most points after touchdowns, 45. [Formerly 32 by the Bears in 1934].

Most points in one season, 396 in 11 games. [Formerly 308 in 17 games by the Giants in 1927].

Most yards penalized, 676.5. [Formerly 605 by the Bears in 1940].

The Packers had a passing efficiency of 52.6 per cent, breaking Cleveland's mark of 50.1 in 1939. Sunday's playoff game between the Bears and Packers will not affect the 1941 individual and team figures since it is not a regularly scheduled game.

SCHLITZ, PABST BOWLING TEAMS CLASH TONIGHT

Schlitz against Pabst for first place features in tonight's matches in the Wednesday division of the Classic Bowling league at Park Manor Recreation, 75th street and Michigan avenue, at 9 o'clock. Schlitz holds a two game lead.

The Pabst chances are brighter because of the absence of Paul Krumske from the anchor position on the Schlitz team. Krumske, who leads the Wednesday division with an average of 206, will be bowling in The Tribune All-Star eliminations at the Coliseum.

Monarch and Blatz, tied for third place, bowl second division teams tonight — Koenig Brau and National Bowling. The fourth match is Ambrosia against Washington Shirts. Standings:

	W.	L.	Avg.		W.	L.	Avg.
Schlitz	29	13	980	Ambrosia	21	21	939
Pabst	27	15	964	Koenig Brau	19	23	950
Monarch	22	20	969	National	15	27	937
Blatz	22	20	964	Washington	13	29	933

Individual averages—Paul Krumske, 206; Stanley Rudcki, 199; Jack Bishop, 199; Jake Lenzen, 198; Julius Sowa, 197; Joe Puccinelli, 197.

De Paul to Play Arkansas State Tonight

Southside fans will get an introduction to De Paul university's 1941-'42 basketball team when the Demons play Arkansas State at the St. Sabina community center, 78th and Racine avenue tonight.

Leo High school, 1941 national interscholastic champions will meet De Paul academy in the preliminary game at 8:00 p. m. Barney Varnes, former coach at St. Patrick's, will make his debut as coach of the Lions squad. Ral Adams, former De La Salle coach, is coaching De Paul academy.

INDIANA PLAYS WABASH

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 9 [Special].—Indiana university's basketball team will open its schedule here to norrow night against Wabash and then entertain the Great Lakes squad the following evening.

Wabash, with two victories in three games, will bring a veteran squad here, featured by the offensive threat of Ray Greve, who has averaged 19 points per game. Two former Indiana stars, Ernest Andres and Bill Menke, will be in the Great Lakes lineup opposing the Hoosiers.

Altho Indiana has won all but one of the "modern series" games, the 17 game record of Indiana-Wabash basketball contests now stands at nine Hoosier victories and eight triumphs for the Little Giants.

Probable starting lineup:

WABASH.		INDIANA.
Greve	F	Logan
Montgomery	F	Lewis or Hamilton
Kelley	C	Zimmer [c]
Ingram	G	Swanson
Dowd	G	Denton

Referee—Glenn Adams [De Pauw]. Umpire—Dale Robinson [Indiana].

Halas Gets Out of Bounds and Pays $100 Fine

It cost George Halas $100 for all the ground he gained in the vicinity of the Bears' bench Sunday in Comiskey park when his team won a thriller from the Cardinals, 34 to 24.

Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football, announced this assessment last night against the Bear coach for straying out of the coaching box. This sector is defined as being from the bench to the sideline between the two 40 yard lines.

Another Bear, Ray Bray, was fined $50 for slugging a Cardinal player after the Bears had scored their second touchdown in the second quarter.

Lou De Filippo, New York Giants' center, and Jim Sivell, Brooklyn Dodgers' guard, were fined $50 each for engaging in a slugging match in Sunday's game in New York.

BAUMAN LEADS VOTE ON BIG NINE MOST VALUABLE

Graf of Ohio State Is 2d to Northwestern Tackle.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

With seven ballots now received from the list of 21 electors who will name the most valuable football player in the Big Nine, Alf Bauman, Northwestern's senior tackle, leads with a total of six points. Six of the nine most valuable candidates, named by their team mates, have received votes.

Each of the 21 voters will name a first and second choice as the most valuable player in the conference. First place scores two points; second place, one point. At the present time Jack Graf, Ohio State full back, is second with 5 points. Billy Hillenbrand, Indiana university sophomore half back, has four points, while Bill Diehl, Iowa center; Reuben Kelto, Michigan tackle, and Pat Harder, Wisconsin full back, each have two points.

One-Third of Votes Cast.

The other most valuable players are Nate Johnson, Illinois tackle; Bill Combs, Purdue end, and Bob Sweiger, Minnesota back. Altho one-third of the vote has been cast, it is apparent that any one of the nine football men still can be the winner of the actual size silver football which will be presented this year by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for the 18th time.

Bauman took the lead by virtue of receiving three votes for first place. The seven ballots now in hand have come from four of the conference football coaches and three of the nine conference officials. Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics of the Big Nine; Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and the writer also will vote.

Individual Ballots Confidential.

While the combined vote will be announced, the individual ballots are confidential. One of the football officials, in casting his ballot, explained it as follows:

"Inclosed you will find my selections, first and second choice, for THE TRIBUNE's 18th annual award to the Western conference player of greatest value to his team for the season of 1941. As always, it is most difficult to make this selection. They're all grand football players and boys.

"I might add that Jack Graf of Ohio State is my first selection because I believe that, aside from his ability as a player, he contributed largely to the morale of this team."

Leo Five, Led by Baranowski, Enters St. George Tournament

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Henry [Babe] Baranowski, Chicago's prep football player of the year, will slip into his winter rôle as a basketball hero when he leads Leo's Lions in the annual St. Gegore tournament opening on Dec. 19 in St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman avenue, Evanston. Announcement that the Lions have entered the meet was made yesterday by Brother Bernard, director of St. George, and Jack Tierney, basketball coach.

Joliet Catholic, defending champion, St. Philip, and St. George also have accepted invitations to compete. The field will be composed of 16 Catholic quintets from the Chicago district. Leo, led by Baranowski, last season won the Catholic league title and then captured the national Catholic tournament at Loyola university.

Du Sable, the tall colored quintet which won the University of Chicago tournament last winter, will open defense of its title against Kelvyn Park in the Maroon fieldhouse on Dec. 27. Pairings for the meet, 24th under the auspices of the Maroons, were announced yesterday. The honor of starting the tournament will go to Lake View and Parker, which will play in the opening game at 1 o'clock.

Lane Tech has been the only two-time winner since the meet was reduced to a local affair in 1931. Lane Tech triumphed in 1933 and 1934, Farragut in 1935, Calumet in 1936, Parker in 1937, Crane in 1938, and Austin in 1939. The tournament will be under the direction of Nelson H. Norgren, University of Chicago basketball coach.

Dwight Eddleman, Centralia's great basketball and football star, has an autographed program from Gov. Dwight H. Green reading, "To Dwight Eddleman with all good wishes. . . . Dwight H. Green, governor of Illinois. . . . We Dwights must stick together." . . . Leo, Chicago football champion, and St. Bede, downstate Catholic title holder, may meet on Sept. 11, 1942. . . . Members of Downers Grove High's athletic teams were honored last night at a banquet in the school dining room by the Downers Grove Fathers' club. . . . Champaign and Urbana will begin play in the Big Twelve conference Friday night. . . . Champaign will travel to Mattoon and Urbana will play at Danville.

A THOMA GIVES BROTHER TOUCH TO PIN TOURNEY

All-Star and Kin Noted in Game for 30 Years.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Espinosas, the Dutras, the Mangrums, and the Frys are famed as golf's best known brother teams, but the cast of the All-Star bowling tournament, now in progress in the Coliseum, includes a representative of what is the outstanding fraternal combination of the pin game.

That would be Sykes Thoma, one of the four Thoma brothers, who have distinguished themselves in national competition for 30 years. Sykes is the only member of the foursome competing in the current tourney, but he is assisting a couple of other alternates in proving that the extra men who gained admission to the big show because of the withdrawal of original qualifiers are still to be reckoned with. Frank Mataya of St. Louis, who entered the third round with the second highest total in the field, is an alternate, as is Edgar Winchester of Philadelphia, whose 1,037 Monday was the highest round of the tournament until yesterday.

They're from Des Plaines.

The Thoma brothers are natives of Des Plaines, Ill. They moved to Chicago in 1915 and operated alleys in the Madison-Crawford area until 1932. Despite the fact that Sykes is the third oldest of the quartet, he was the first to crash into ABC records. He did such a thoro job of it in the ABC meet of 1916 at Toledo that he figured in two victories, quite a feat for a young man then only 21 years old. He collaborated with Hank Marino in capturing the doubles championship with a score of 1,279 and then took the all-events medal by himself with 1,929.

Fred, who now manages the Turner Recreation alleys on the south side, was the next to add his name to the roll of ABC champions, teaming with the veteran Harry Steers in 1918 at Cincinnati to take the doubles of that year. Clarence and Harry, the other brothers, then decided to make it an all-Thoma affair, winning the doubles title at the Madison street armory in 1924 with 1,380, a record which stood for 10 years.

He Likes Sinke's Chances.

Sykes' choice in the current meet is Joe Sinke, who rolled in the same squad with him yesterday afternoon. Sinke, he thinks, has the most effective ball for the new alleys, throwing more of a straight ball than the pronounced hooks of many of his rivals.

L. O. Kelsven of Minot, N. D., at 59 years, is the oldest competitor in the tournament. The baby of the party is 22 year old Gerry Anderson of Moline, Ill., who rolled 1,906 in his first two rounds.

Charles Lausche of Cleveland, brother of that city's mayor, went into the third round well up among the leaders. Lausche last fall finished second in elimination tournament held in St. Louis to determine the challenger for Ned Day's match play championship.

The Peterson point scoring system, which will be used in the round robin opening tomorrow night among the Day-Lowell Jackson match winner and the eleven high men in the qualifying test, has puzzled a number of novice spectators at the tournament, but it is quite simple. A point can be earned in three ways. One is collected for each game of the five game blocks won, and another point is awarded for each 50 pins a bowler topples. The third method of scoring awards a point to the winner of the lesser number of games when his total of pins for a match is greater than that of his opponent.

The eleven finalists and Jackson all will wear special uniforms during the match play competition opening tomorrow night and continuing thru Sunday.

JOS. GILLS GET 3,423 PINS; BUT LOSE ONE GAME

The Joseph L. Gills, leaders in the Gold Coast Major league, shot a mountainous total of 3,423 pins last night, but won only two games from the Gold Coast Recreation team on the latter's drives. The Gills, getting 1,098 in their second game, lost it to their opponents' 1,108. The losers accounted for 3,025 pins. Mike Kass with 733 and Rudy Habetler with 709 were high scorers. BRUCE SMITH OF MINNESOTA GETS HEISMAN TROPHY

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—Bruce Smith, captain and left half back of the University of Minnesota football team, Western conference champion, was given the Heisman trophy tonight at a banquet attended by 500 coaches, sports figures and Gopher alumni.

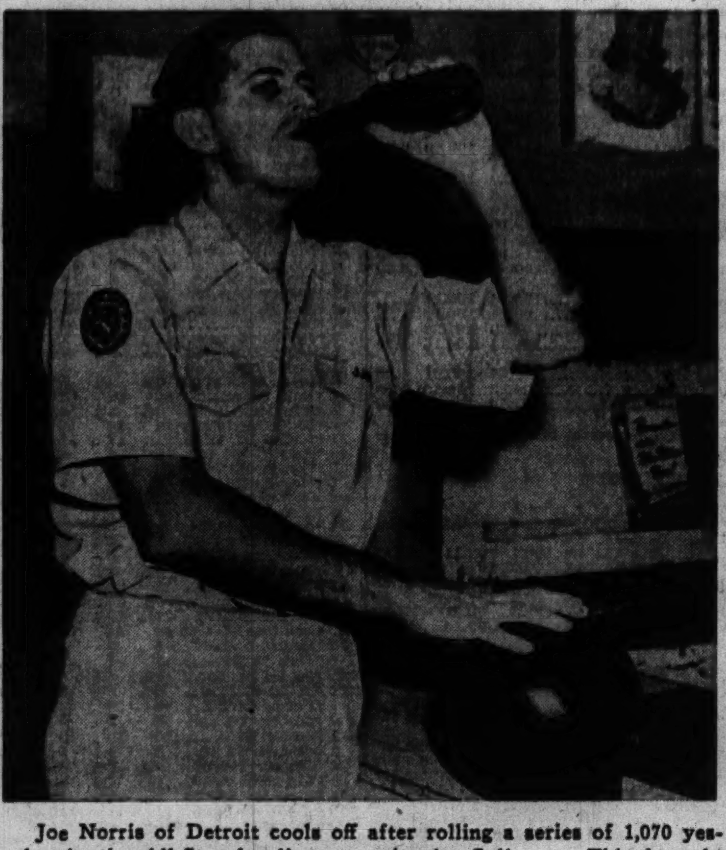
Tom Harmon of Michigan, was the winner a year ago. The trophy is given annually to the player judged the best in the nation by sports writers.

MUSTO LOSES TO KATZ; SUFFERS A BROKEN JAW

Brooklyn, N. Y., Dec. 9 (AP).—Tony Musto, who went nine rounds with Champion Joe Louis earlier this year, suffered a broken jaw tonight in his fight with Herbie Katz.

Musto went down for a nine count from a right midway in the second round and it is believed the jaw was broken at that time. Katz, weighing 176¾ to 205¼ for Musto, won the eight round decision easily.

An All-Star Sharpshooter Cools Off



Joe Norris of Detroit cools off after rolling a series of 1,070 yesterday in the All-Star bowling meet in the Coliseum. This brought his total to 3,013 and earned him a brief lead, which he relinquished when John Crimmins, another Detroiter, came up with 3,083 in the evening. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Crimmins of Detroit Holds Bowling Lead

games being bowled in Chicago. Regardless of the outcome he will receive a $1,500 purse tonight and Jackson $750, the same to be presented by Jimmy Blouin, first match game champion and holder of the title from 1922 thru 1926.

Jackson beat Day last night to score his second victory in three 10 game blocks in Chicago. He rolled 1,988 pins to Day's 1,922, scored 45.38 points to Day's 42.22, and won six of the ten games. Both bowlers had difficulty solving alley 7, but likewise had little trouble on No. 8. Jackson's final game of 234 was high for the night. Day now has scored 700.25 points, Jackson 635.14. The scores:

JACKSON—198, 193, 201, 194, 220, 191, 212, 184, 164, 234—1,988.

Actually the difficult part of the All-Star tournament still remains ahead for those of the bowlers who survive the preliminary test. They have bowled five games a day for four days, but during the four days starting tomorrow will roll 55 games, each man meeting every other man in the field in a five game match. The winner of that competition will win $500 and the honor of meeting Day for the title in 1942. All of the other men in the field also will win cash prizes.

The tournament is being sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' association of America. To the thousands of fans who have attended it it has been one of the outstanding events in bowling. Conditions have been difficult for the all-stars, but they have been equal for all.

the Cubs get out of sixth place in 1942.

Ford C. Frick, the league president, got off a wire to the White House as the first act of the baseball convention now in progress [if you want to call it progress] in the Palmer House. It was the several National league presidents and managers who failed to help the Cubs to a loftier life than they enjoyed in 1941.

Mr. Frick's wire to Washington read as follows:

"As the first order of business, at its annual meeting today, the National League of Professional Baseball clubs, authorizes me to offer you in their behalf their complete cooperation and assistance in this time of national crisis. Individually and collectively we are yours to command."

Camilli to Yanks?

The efforts of the Cubs to strengthen, if there have been such efforts this mild December, were hamstrung somewhat by the fact Owner P. K. Wrigley and General Manager James T. Gallagher spent most of the day in the National league meeting. Here, it was said, the delegates spent their time passing amendments. Passing amendments, tho in the second guess department, had nothing to do with the barter and sale of ball players.

The hottest National league rumor of the convention, that one about Dolph Camilli leaving the Dodgers and Johnny Mize of the Cardinals going to the Dodgers, took on a stronger inter-league flavor yesterday thru freshening of the rumor that Camilli may go to the Yankees. That one, if completed, will set a new record for kicking the waiver rule around thru the famous "gentlemen's agreement" device.

And What Humiliation!

If Camilli went to the Yankees the picture would be that of the league's most valuable player, leading home run socker and run batter inner, a standout member of the league's championship team, going to the world champions who socked the Dodgers in the world series a short eight weeks ago.

For Camilli it would be a case of escaping the Dodger doghouse straight into baseball's throneroom. Horrible experience for Dolph, to realize he could be waived out of the National. Think of the humiliation of having to join the Yankees, and perhaps face the Dodger bench jockeys in the 1942 world series while helping the Yankees administer another polishing to the Brooklyns. The boys probably would break Dolph's heart hissing nasty cracks that Mr. Larry MacPhail would think up and place in their naive minds.

The whole matter seems very, very screwy, of course. But there are some who long have considered baseball a screwy business.

What Could They Be Cooking Up?

Bucky Harris (left), manager of the Washington Senators, and Del Baker, Detroit Tigers' skipper, could use some new players for 1942, and they may be trying to do something about it. They were photographed yesterday at the Palmer House, where the major league baseball meetings are in session.

AMERICAN LEAGUE ACCEPTS BID TO ALL-STAR GAME

Among the announcements made by the American league after a four hour session was that it had accepted an invitation from the National league to participate in the All-Star game to be played at Brooklyn in July of next season. The exact date will be named in the regular schedules which now are being drawn up.

The American league's official paid attendance last season was 4,911,956, a decline of .09 per cent from 1940, which was tops in the league's history, and 15 per cent over 1939, a normal year.

Clark Griffith, president-owner of the Washington club, was reëlected vice president of the American league. The Chicago, Cleveland, New York, and Boston clubs were named directors.

The news hounds claimed to have uncovered a clue that the Phillies had sold Infielder Emmet Mueller to the Dodgers.

Robert Moses [Lefty] Grove's American League career was closed yesterday at his own request. The Boston Red Sox, for whom he worked eight seasons after nine years with the Athletics, gave the 41 year old Lonaconing [Md.] Express his unconditional release. Grove was purchased by Connie Mack from Baltimore for $105,000 late in 1924 and on Dec. 12, 1933 was sent to Boston along with Max Bishop and George [Rube] Walberg for Hal Warstler, Robert Kline, and $125,000. Grove won seven games last season, just enough to hoist his big league total to 300 decisions.

Sox Get Moses from A's in Kreevich Deal

ritorial rights the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs would have to be compensated for their holdings. The two parks alone represent approximately 1⅓ million dollars. Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Hollywood club, said that so far as he knew nobody in the Coast league had been consulted.

Kreevich Slumps in 1940-'41.

When Kreevich's name was officially scratched from the Sox roster it marked finis to a Chicago career which extended over seven seasons in Comiskey flannels. He came up from Kansas City at the close of the 1935 season, later turning out to be one of the league's better center fielders as well as a hitter of importance. His bat was dwarfed in 1940 and the slump continued thru 1941, in which he batted only .229. He'll reach his 32d birthday next June.

Moses, a 30 year old stepper who, barring additional changes by Dykes, will take over Kreevich's center field job, served seven seasons with the Athletics. He has a lifetime average of .319, his lowest being .301 last season. He bats and throws left handed.

Lake Forest Quintet Beats Illinois Tech, 46 to 39

Lake Forest college last night won its second basketball game of the season in Lake Forest, defeating Illinois Tech, 46 to 39. Bob Patterson was high point man for Lake Forest with 14 points.

NEW YORK BOARD REFUSES TO BAN RAY ROBINSON

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—The New York state athletic commission today denied a request by Commissioner Leon Rains of Pennsylvania that Ray Robinson, the Negro welterweight, be prevented from going thru with a scheduled bout here Jan. 16 against Young Kid McCoy.

Commissioner Rains charged that Robinson had broken a verbal agreement to fight Marty Servo in Philadelphia, and asked that the New York body support the Pennsylvania commission in its suspension of Robinson.

Chairman John J. Phelan of the New York commission replied that the Pennsylvania commission recently ignored a request by him that it suspend Robinson for a similar offense against a local boxing club.

Angered by Phelan's decision, Rains announced that the Philadelphia commission was breaking off relations with the New York body. Boxing in New York, he said feelingly, "has gone back 20 years."

Pirates Add One Year to Contract of Pilot Frisch

Frank Frisch's contract as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday was extended an additional year to include the 1943 season.

Frisch was signed to a two year contract when he replaced Harold [Pie] Traynor after the 1939 season and yesterday's action by President Bill Benswanger was the second time it has been extended a year before expiration. No announcement of salary was made by Benswanger who is in the city for the baseball meetings.

SAVOY FIGHTERS WIN EASILY OVER MILWAUKEE, 7-1

Score 1st League Victory Before 900.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

The Savoy Athletic club scored its first victory in Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league competition by beating Milwaukee representatives, 7 to 1, in Savoy arena last night. More than 900 spectators cheered when Charles Rogers, lightweight, and James Calhoun, featherweight, put the Savoy club ahead, 2 to 0, by winning the first two matches, but they roared just as loudly when Tommy Lemmon, junior welterweight, scored Milwaukee's first and only point in the third fight by conquering Albert Walker.

Sammy Davis, Savoy welterweight, then defeated Joey Krulitz in a hard battle of three rounds to make it 3 to 1 for his team. Krulitz might have won the decision except for two knockdowns he suffered, one in the first round and the other in the third. This was Milwaukee's finish since it lost the other four bouts by default decisions.

Results:

Robert Satterfield, Savoy A. C., won by default from Lloyd [Rusty] Redden, Milwaukee, 160.
Johnny Johnson, Savoy A. C., won by default from John Peranich, Milwaukee, 155.
Clayton Worlds, Savoy A. C., won by default from Al Lach, Milwaukee, heavyweights.
Alvin Bevil, Savoy A. C., won by default from Johnny Vukovich, Milwaukee, 132.
Charles Rogers, Savoy A. C., beat Al Laudon, Milwaukee [3], 138.
James Calhoun, Savoy A. C., beat Robert Waterman, Milwaukee [3], 128.
Tommy Lemmon, Milwaukee, beat Albert Walker, Savoy A. C. [3], 140.
Sammy Davis, Savoy A. C., beat Joe Krulitz, Milwaukee [3], 145.

Two Shows Tonight.

Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league shows will be held in two centers tonight. Fort Sheridan boxers, who fought a 4 to 4 draw with the Illinois Athletic club last week, and Catholic Youth organization representatives, who also battled to a 4 to 4 deadlock with the Savoy Athletic club in their last appearance, will meet in CYO center gymnasiums, 31 East Congress street.

Clem La Buhn.

In the other event Madison Athletic club fighters will attempt to better their No. 7 position in the league standings at the expense of Ashland A. C. standard bearers in Social Turner hall, Belmont avenue and Paulina street.

Jack Biggerstaff, Madison A. C. coach, and Charles Lavine, director of the Ashland club, have indicated contests will be arranged as follows:

Art Boyd, Madison A. C., vs. Bob Davis, Ashland A. C., 115.
John Mezzano, Madison A. C., vs. Jesse Robinson, Ashland A. C., 116.
Matt Walton, Madison A. C., vs. Eddie Baka, Ashland A. C., 126.
Lou Leonetti, Madison A. C., vs. Lou Davis, Ashland A. C., 135.
Jimmy Baratta, Madison A. C., vs. Joe Manfarrez, Ashland A. C., and Pat Maloney, Madison A. C., vs. Joe Baldassano, Ashland A. C., all 147.
Pete Blouir, Madison A. C., vs. Joe Jawgiel, Ashland A. C., 175.

Alternates for the Madison club include Matt Slobotnik, middleweight. Among those standing by for the Ashland A. C. will be Gene Kenworthy, bantamweight, and Harold Lang, heavyweight.

Lineup in CYO Show.

Pairings for the show in CYO center:

George McLaughlin, Fort Sheridan, vs. Ray Murray, CYO, 112.
James Holliday, Fort Sheridan, vs. Don Gallardio, CYO, 121.
Jack McClintock, Fort Sheridan, vs. Melvin Johnson, CYO, 136.
Clem La Buhn, Fort Sheridan, vs. Harry Stephens, CYO, 175.

One of the outstanding contests will be between La Buhn and Stephens. Stephens, 1940 CYO middleweight finalist, is a rugged, hard puncher who recently scored a first round knockout over Fred Peeler of the Savoy club. La Buhn, 1939 Detroit sectional Golden Gloves 175 pound finalist, stopped Bill Powers of the Illinois Athletic club and Zanno Gailus of the Madison Athletic club in recent matches.

La Buhn's a Veteran.

La Buhn, who is 23 years old, has been fighting off and on for the last four years. In the army 11 months, he had expected to be released by next Feb. 24, but now he doesn't know when he'll be mustered out, and he doesn't care. He is a member of the 210th coast artillery unit from Detroit. In 14 contests La Buhn has scored 10 victories. He has never been knocked down or out.

Another league program will be offered in Camp Grant Friday between boxers representing the IAC and Camp Grant. Nonleague shows will be presented tonight in Kenwood hall, 47th street and Lake Park avenue, and Cicero stadium, 19th street and 52d avenue. Joey Pierone, IAC lightweight, will appear on the Kenwood hall program, while West Suburban club color bearers will face a team from Springfield in the Cicero arena.

CYO SHOW CONTINUES

Two boxers reached the third round as the annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament continued CYO center gymnasium last night. Robert Wooley, 147 pounds, won from Matt Kane in his first bout and stopped Joseph Ciccio in the second round of the second. He was joined by Joseph Klecka, 160 pounds, who beat Francis Kehoe in his opening bout and then eliminated Harry McElvoy. Twelve bouts were held. Fighting in the open class of the tournament will be held Monday and Tuesday nights. Results:

First Round.

126 POUNDS—Dave Hernandez beat John Considine [3].
160 POUNDS—Johnny Klecka beat Francis Kehoe [3]; Harry McElvoy beat Cleophas Johnson [3]; Alvin Spearman stopped Johnny Brennan [1].

Second Round.

147 POUNDS—Wooley stopped Ciccio [2].
1[illegible] POUNDS—Klecka beat McElvoy [3].

Bill-Board for Bards.

The striving would-be poets who insist
On delving in the past for words now dead
With which to ply their art, are lost. The mist
Of prejudice prevents their being read.
The living language used in prose and speech,
Conveying deep emotions unexpressed,
Has power in it to touch all hearts and reach
Responsive echoes in each human breast.
Thru every age the truly deathless poet
Rode word-vehicles of his day and time;
And modern bards, if wise enough to know it,
Will do the same when they compose a rhyme.
For now, as then, the harps of language play
On simple words we use the most each day.

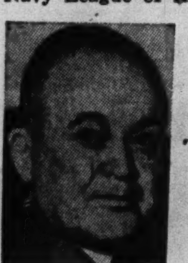
Sportsmen to Honor Sheldon Clark Tonight

Sheldon Clark, president of the Navy League of America and chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, will be the honored guest at the first annual sports celebrities dinner in the Morrison hotel tonight. Lieut. Comm. Gene Tunney, retired undefeated heavyweight champion, will be the principal speaker. Weymouth Kirkland will be toastmaster. Others at the speakers' table will include Gov. Dwight Green, Mayor Edward J. Kelly, the Most Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, the Rev. Dr. John W. Thompson, and Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.



Sheldon Clark.

More than 400 civic and business leaders and representatives of 55 sports are sponsoring the banquet, at which Commodore Clark will be awarded an illuminated scroll listing his achievements in the furtherance of sports in the last 30 years.

Mal Elward, athletic director of Purdue university; Tony Zale, middleweight boxing champion, and Irving Schoenwald, Chicago promoter, will be among the 1,100 who will attend.

Booker Beckwith, Gary light heavyweight, has canceled his scheduled bout with Bill Nichy of Pittsburgh in Gary Monday. He will make his next appearance in Chicago Stadium Jan. 9 against a suitable foe, Matchmaker John Strachan said yesterday. Sailor Tommy Tucker, his proposed opponent, will not be available because of inability to obtain a furlough from his duties at the naval base in Pensacola, Fla. . . . Lem Franklin, Cleveland heavyweight, has refused an offer to meet Bob Pastor in the Stadium Jan. 23. Jack Hurley, manager of Franklin, said if Lem fights in this city Irving Schoenwald will be the promoter. He indicated Franklin may clash with Pastor in Cleveland in January or February.

MACK PLANS TO KEEP A'S CAMP IN CALIFORNIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 9 (AP).—Connie Mack today complacently went ahead with spring training plans for his Athletics in California.

CUBA EXPECTED TO REJECT BID FOR SUGAR CROP

Prefers to 'Take Chance' in Open Market.

BY GUSTAVO RENO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba., Dec. 9.—Cuba will reject the formal offer made by the United States to purchase all of the republic's 1942 sugar output at a fixed price of 2.65 cents a pound, according to officials of the Cuban national association of mill owners and cane planters. Cuba, it is understood, will take a chance and sell its sugar in the open market at prices she believes will be far above that offered by Washington officials.

In support of this statement, a government spokesman said that "for the time being the government will stand pat on its refusal to enter into any negotiation with American or English buyers of the 1942 sugar at the proposed top price, and wait future developments in the world market for that product."

Resumption of Parley Uncertain.

Asked when the Cuban sugar delegates would return to Washington to continue the negotiations, he said, "The delegates, after a detailed report to President Batista, have been instructed to remain here for the Christmas holidays, and it is problematical when they will resume negotiations, if they do."

Cuba seeks the following arrangements:

1. That the United States and Great Britain agree to purchase yearly 4,500,000 tons of Cuban sugar for 1942, 1943, 1944, and 1945.

2. That the price of 4 cents FOB Havana be paid for the 1942 output; prices for the next three years to be determined later.

3. A reduction be made in the tariff affecting imports of Cuban raw sugar by the United States from nine-tenths of a cent to three-fourths cent a pound.

Requests Lower Duties.

4. That before Dec. 30, 1942, a supplementary reciprocity commercial agreement be signed to grant Cuba a substantial reduction in the American duty affecting the importation of Cuban pineapples, bananas, oranges, grapefruit, alligator pears, precious woods, sponges, vegetables, and tobacco.

Cuban exports of sugar from Jan. 1 to Dec. 6 this year increased to 2,967,224 tons from 2,001,943 tons in the corresponding 1940 period, according to Havana sources.

Merck & Co. Preferred Stock Offered to Public

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—Goldman, Sachs & Co., and Lehman Brothers today headed a group of security dealers who offered to the public 53,690 shares of new Merck & Co. 4½ per cent cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value, at $105 a share. The proposed offering of 30,000 shares of already outstanding common stock was postponed.

PAYMENTS ON ARREARS.

What payments has the A. M. Byers company made on its 7 per cent preferred stock this year and what is the amount of accumulations per share? What about common dividends? Have earnings been improving?—A. E. S.

Answer: The A. M. Byers company, largest domestic producer of wrought iron, made nine payments of $1.75 and interest each toward arrears on its 7 per cent participating preferred stock this year. A 10th distribution of the same amount is payable Dec. 29 and will leave accumulations at $19.25 plus interest a share. Interest on the dividends declared in 1941 amounts to approximately $3.15 a share. Preferred dividends declared and unpaid are entitled to 5 per cent interest a year. Nothing has been paid on the common stock since 1924 and nothing can be paid until preferred arrears are cleared.

Recent earnings have made a favorable recovery and in the 1941 fiscal year were more than double those in 1940. Results for years ended Sept. 30 follow:

	Sales.	Net income.	Per com. shr.

*Loss. †Not available.

There also were losses from 1932 thru 1936. The company has 56,744 shares of preferred and 264,635 shares of common outstanding. There is no funded debt. The principal product is wrought iron pipe. Plants are in Pittsburgh and Economy, Pa.

ACCIDENT AND HEALTH.

What information do you have on the Sterling Insurance company, Chicago? Was this company originally organized under another name?—B. M. S.

Answer: The Sterling Insurance company writes accident and health policies. It was licensed in 1939 as the Beacon Insurance company but changed its title and absorbed the Sterling Insurance company, an assessment association organized in 1929. The company employs no agents but obtains all its business thru direct mail, radio and other forms of advertising.

Sterling's assets were $554,000 at the end of 1940. Policyholders surplus amounted to $183,000 and loss reserves were $67,000. Net premiums written last year totaled $888,000. Total income was $902,000 and total disbursements, including underwriting expenses of $610,000, were $826,000. Claims paid amounted to $181,000.

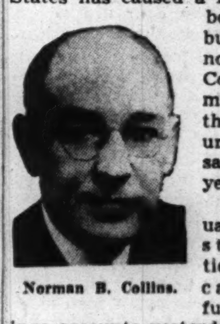
ATTACK BY JAPS BOOSTS SALE OF DEFENSE BONDS

Some Banks Report Heavy Wave of Buying.

The Japanese attack on the United States has caused a rush of defense bond and stamp buying in Illinois, Norman B. Collins, state administrator of the federal treasury's defense saving staff, said yesterday.



Norman B. Collins.

Many individuals in downstate communities and in Chicago withdrew funds from savings accounts yesterday and Monday and purchased bonds, Collins was informed by bankers. Some of the smaller banks said the demand was so heavy that their staff had little time for other business.

Heavy Sales at Bloomington.

Grover C. Helm, president of the National Bank of Bloomington, telegraphed this message to Collins at his office in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago:

"All day our people have kept our defense bond officials busy issuing bonds. The response to the bombing of Honolulu is tremendous."

W. P. Harper, cashier of the Anna State bank, Anna, Ill., reported by telephone to Collins:

"We are selling bonds galore."

Similar reports were made by several outlying banks in Chicago.

Collins said numerous women and men have called at his office in the last two days to volunteer their services without pay.

Morgenthau Urges Action.

Collins received from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. a telegram urging all local bond sale committees to redouble their activities and "conduct a sales campaign which by its response will demonstrate to our enemies that America to a man is behind our greatest national test."

"It is suggested that pay roll allotment participation be increased, that each locality push the bank draft plans, stamp banks, school programs, and other plans to secure increased consistent purchasing," Morgenthau said.

STOCKS DROP TO LOWEST LEVEL SINCE 1938 IN WAVE OF SELLING

Slump 1 to 6 Points; Trade Exceeds 2½ Million Shares.

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—War nervousness gripped the stock market again today and toppled leading issues to the lowest levels since 1938. Losses at the weakest time ranged from 1 to 7 points, but many bellwethers met support in the final few minutes and closed above the bottoms. At that, net declines ran to as much as 6 points in some instances. Trading increased to 2,555,200 shares, largest since last May. It was the broadest market since May 21, 1940, with 1,006 issues traded.

The list took on mild recovery tendencies at the start, but these soon faded and, near midday, an avalanche of offerings hit the market with such force the ticker tape, for a brief interval, fell several minutes behind actual floor transactions. There was a subsequent slowdown, then another slide, and a moderate comeback at the last.

Attributed to Jap Attacks.

Early extensions of Monday's relapse was attributed partly to talk of the Japanese blast at Hawaii and other American possessions being much more serious, in the way of casualties, than first indicated. Also there were reports Germany was about to declare war on the United States. A lot of margin calls also contributed to the unsettlement.

Quotations were at their lows, however, when reports were broadcast that enemy planes were approaching the east coast. Whether all the "raid" excitement was due to what some termed a "dress rehearsal" or the "real thing" was a matter of debate long after the conclusion of the session in which millions of dollars had been trimmed from the market's quoted values.

Average Declines 1.4 Points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.4 points at 36.7, lowest mark for this barometer since April 7, 1938. It was well under the figure recorded when the British retreated to Dunkirk in May, 1940.

Timid bidding in the forenoon was credited mainly to the thought of statistical observers that prices may have fallen far enough to have discounted even the United States-Japanese conflict and other international developments. Restraints, tho, still were seen in the belief that the American program of an all-out smash at Japan would entail huge costs and a much bigger tax bill than had been contemplated.

Prominent decliners were Douglas Aircraft, off 6; American Telephone, 4⅝; Johns-Manville, 4¼; J. I. Case, 5; Union Pacific, 3¾; Sears-Roebuck, 2⅝, and Bethlehem Steel, 2¼.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices were forced into further retreat on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on the largest volume of selling of the year, 83,000 shares. Of the 155 issues which appeared on the tape, only 2 closed higher, 125 recorded declines, and 28 ended at Monday's final levels.

Midland United preferred registered the largest relative decline among the active issues and large percentage amounts were shaved from the market values of other low priced issues. The Midland issue closed down a full point at 2½.

Commonwealth Edison, Middle West, Libby, and Armour eased fractions. Small gains and losses were about equally divided in the half hour of Chicago trading after the New York market's close.

BONDS BREAK SEVERELY

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—The bond market was severely unsettled by a series of war "scares" around noon today and prices toppled 1 to 5 points before the selling was checked. Prior to reports that hostile aircraft were headed for New York quotations were generally within close range of Monday's final prices.

Every major group in the list was hit. The rails and industrials used in the Associated Press averages dropped to a new 1941 low at 58.4 and 103.5, respectively, down 1.9 points and .9 of a point. The utilities gave up 1.4, the low yields dropped a full point, and the foreign group lost .8 of a point.

The government list stood up under the shock much better than on Monday. Altho nearly all issues sold at lower prices, declines were generally less than ½ point. Dealers said the big institutional investors who swarmed the decline on Monday by placing large buying orders slightly under going quotations, let their inquiries stand for the day with the result that offerings were scarce.

Heaviest losers in the corporate groups—1 to 5 or more points—included International Telephone 5s at 41, Delaware and Hudson refunding 4s at 47, Armour 4s at 101, American and Foreign Power 5s at 60⅛; Portland General Electric 4½s at 78½, Bangor and Aroostook 4s at 45, and Brooklyn Edison 3¼s at 108.

MIDLAND UNITED FIGHTS CLAIM OF OPERATING UNITS

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 9 (AP).—Midland United company, Chicago, presented defense today against approximately 6 million dollars in claims filed by creditors in bankruptcy proceedings here.

The company, which with its subsidiary, Midland Utilities, was once a top member of the Insull utilities chain, argued that it was "dominated and controled" by Chicago operating companies, principal creditors, and therefore their claims should come last.

Claims of preferred stockholders should receive priority, counsel for United declared.

BAN TRADING IN 3 STAPLES; PRICES OF OTHERS DROP

Trading in coffee, black pepper, and cocoa futures was suspended yesterday on the New York Coffee and Sugar and Produce exchanges "until further notice." Earlier a request for a one day suspension had been made by the Office of Price Administration to exchange officials.

The OPA office said it made the request to prevent speculation in these import commodities while price control measures were under consideration. Cocoa futures advanced 0.21 to 0.34 cent a pound Monday to the highest levels in four years. Coffee was up about 0.25 cent a pound and pepper advanced 0.75 cent a pound.

Cotton and Wool Tumble.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson's request for a more stringent price control bill sent most other commodity futures tumbling, cotton prices falling $1.60 to $1.90 a bale at New York. Wool futures, up sharply Monday, lost 3.2 to 3.9 cents a pound on the announcement that a ceiling price would go into effect soon.

At New York importers were said to have stocked their warehouses with plentiful supplies of tea, spices, tapioca and other products from the far east in anticipation of a shipping shortage as a result of hostilities in the Pacific.

A check of dealers yesterday indicated that in some cases the nation has enough supplies to last two years, altho stocks of some products are equal to only a few months consumption at normal rates.

Have Six Months Tea Supply.

The United States gets most of its tea from Ceylon, Sumatra, Java and India and has brought into the country nearly 100 million pounds this year. On the basis of this figure six months' supply of 48 million pounds should be on hand at the end of the year, it was said.

Suspension of trading in cocoa, coffee and pepper adds three more commodities to the list of those which have been banned at the request of the OPA.

Previously trading in silk and copper futures was suspended. In addition ceilings were clamped on tin, rubber, and sugar. Lead trading, altho fairly inactive, has been closely watched by government price officials.

Other commodity futures to feel the impact of Henderson's request yesterday were cottonseed oil, down 0.10 and 0.17 cent a pound, and world sugar, which lost 0.01½ to 0.02½ cent a pound.

OPM TRAIN GETS PLEA FOR BURLAP BAGS FOR NAVY

An urgent call for an increased supply of burlap bags with which the navy can make sandbags was received in Joliet yesterday by officials in charge of the red, white, and blue special train of the Office of Production Management which halted there for the day on its tour of the middle west.

The train is one of three visiting cities thruout the nation to acquaint small business men with armament items suitable for manufacture in their plants. Officers of the army, navy, maritime commission, the OPM, the treasury, and other federal agencies, and representatives of the railroads are holding meetings with manufacturers on the trains.

Between 400 and 500 business men visited the train at Joliet. Many of the visitors were from nearby towns and some were from Chicago and suburbs, OPM officials said.

WAR RISK CLAUSE WILL BE INVOKED BY MUTUAL LIFE

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—The Mutual Life Insurance company will invoke war risk clauses on certain new business accepted after Dec. 15, applying to various groups of individuals whose risks are greatly increased by war conditions.

The clause exempts the company from liability in event of death in military or naval services and under certain other conditions and will be applied to new policies written on members of the varied armed units of the nation. New insurance also will be limited to $25,000.

The company said the purpose of the war clauses was to avoid subjecting present policyholders to the inclusion of unwarranted risks on new business taken during the war period.

BUILDERS ASKED TO LIST NEEDED CHANGES IN CODE

Chicago architectural, mortgage banking, and real estate interest were asked yesterday to develop specific recommendations for amending the city's building code to facilitate construction within recently established federal limits.

Gerhardt F. Mayne, on behalf of the Chicago Association of Commerce, requested a study to determine the practicability of reducing costs thru stringent building provisions and use of substitute materials barred in the present code.

The Supply Priorities and Allocations board has set a limit of $6,000 on cost of land and building and a maximum of $50 a month rental.

Grain Traders Warned: Curb False Rumors

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade met in special session last night to consider war emergency measures following yesterday's market actions. Prices had fluctuated nervously, sometimes widely, as buying of wheat futures attained substantial volume.

Out of the meeting came a note of warning to members of the big grain exchange concerning the issuance of crop and marketing information and the announcement that soy bean prices would be frozen again within yesterday's limits for today's trading session.

The directors called attention of traders to the Commodity Exchange act section which provides fines and imprisonment for issuance of false or misleading crop and marketing information.

Warn Against Rumors.

"No member should repeat any rumors or 'news' unless he is prepared and willing to disclose the source of his information," they warned.

The directors decided to lift the restrictions imposed on wheat prices but retained soy beans price limits for today at the request of the Commodity Exchange administration. With the restrictions lifted, wheat may rise or fall as much as 5 cents a bushel from yesterday's closing levels.

Corn, oats, and rye traveled over a wide range and wheat and soy beans dipped sharply at times as conflicting "news" reports and rumors swept the grain pits.

After ranging down as much as 2⅛ cents a bushel, wheat for December delivery closed unchanged at the established ceiling, while May and July contracts were fractionally lower. Wheat for delivery next May closed at $1.26⅝ a bushel.

Oats and Rye Break.

Oats and rye fell to or within fractions of the full range permitted in one day's trading. Oats closed 1⅛ to 1⅞ cents lower after moving over a 5 cent range, with final sales for may delivery at 55½ cents.

Rye futures ranged more than a cent higher and as much as 5 cents lower than the close of the preceding day with final sales 2⅛ to 2⅝ cents lower.

First indication of the probable size of the 1942 winter wheat crop came from the estimates made yesterday by statisticians for some of the larger grain houses. Predictions based on planting reports placed the crop between 539 million and 589 million bushels with the average 564 million. Production in 1941 totaled 685 million bushels while the average crop of the last 10 years has been 569 million.

Bankruptcies Continue Upward, Dun Reports

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—Business failures last week numbered 212 compared with 203 the week before, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported. The rise continued the gradual increase in weekly failures which was interrupted by the recent holidays.

COURSE OF BUSINESS WILL BE DETERMINED BY WAR, SAYS AYRES

New York, Dec. 9 [Special].—Brig. Gen. Leonard P. Ayres, chief statistical officer of the war department, today predicted that the future course of business in the United States will not be determined by the working out of normal economic forces, but by battles yet to be fought on land, sea, and air, in and around Europe, Asia, and Africa, and perhaps elsewhere. Gen. Ayres' warning was contained in his 20th annual business forecast released by the Cleveland Trust company, which has granted him a leave of absence as vice president.

"The most important task ahead of us," he said, "is to make sure that American business decides now the outcome of battles that have not yet been fought. These are times in which battles are won or lost by business many months before they are fought out by soldiers.

"It now seems probable that a business boom will be under way in this country thruout 1942. It will be a 'spotty boom, and quite unlike the periods of peacetime prosperity we have experienced so many times before. The very magnitude and urgency of our effort to make all ships and munitions we can in the least possible time will produce hardships and unemployment in the midst of boom and prosperity."

NATIONAL TEA CO. SALES TOP YEAR AGO 23 PER CENT

Sales of the National Tea company increased 23.44 per cent over the 1940 level during the four weeks ended Nov. 29, a company statement showed yesterday. The totals were $6,117,959 for the 1941 period and $4,955,959 for the 1940 period.

The company, directed from headquarters in Chicago, had 1,026 stores in operation on Nov. 29, compared with 1,062 a year earlier.

J. C. Penney company announced November sales of $40,415,635, an increase of 19.7 per cent over last year. Last month's retail volume of the Melville Shoe corporation was $3,960,742, or 14.9 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Stineway Drug's Employes to Get Cash Christmas Gift

A Christmas cash distribution to the 500 employés of the Stineway Drug company will be made about Dec. 15, Henry A. Stine, president, announced yesterday. Employés who have been with the company a year or longer will receive a week's salary. Others will receive proportionate amounts. The gifts are in addition to the bonuses paid employés at the end of the company's fiscal year.

Live Stock at 4 Year Peak; Production of Meat Soars

Hogs Up 50 Cents

Live costs of meat animals soared to the highest average levels since the summer of 1937 and to the highest December levels in 13 years at the stock yards yesterday. War news and a sharp curtailment of available supplies as many farmers decided to hold back shipments pending further developments of the "war markets," were responsible.

The three principal classes of meat animals—steers, hogs, and lambs—together averaged $11.75 a 100 pounds, which was $2.85 or 32 per cent higher than on the same day last year, and $3.15 or 36 per cent higher than two years ago. The largest gains were in pork. Live hogs yesterday averaged 72 per cent higher than in 1940, and 100 per cent over the same day in 1939.

Farmers shipped only 77,000 hogs to the 11 main packing centers yesterday, compared with 107,000 a week earlier, and 138,000 a year ago. Prices jumped 35 to 50 cents at the start of trading, with top loads rising to $10.80, compared with $10.45 at the close Monday and $10.15 Monday morning. Part of the gain was wiped out later.

Slaughter lambs rose 25 to 35 cents to the highest December levels since 1929.

Steers and yearlings were bought at slightly higher prices.

Second Only to 1940

Meat production in the United States last month was the second largest for November in history, data on butchering over the entire country as released by the department of agriculture disclosed yesterday. Packers under federal inspection during the month slaughtered a total of 7,401,718 cattles, calves, hogs, and sheep.

This huge volume represented a total output of approximately 1,401,464,000 pounds of meat, second in size for November only to last year's total of 1,441,698,000 pounds. Last month's total consisted of 798,140,000 pounds of pork and lard, 489,268,000 of beef, 57,084,000 of veal, and 56,972,000 of lamb and mutton.

Live stock killed in plants under federal inspection compared as follows:

STRONGER PRICE MEASURE ASKED BY HENDERSON

Tells Senate to Put 'Teeth' in Bill.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—Leon Henderson, government price administrator, asked senators to put real teeth in price control legislation today as he testified that recent price rises might add 13 to 50 billion dollars to war and defense costs.

He told the senate banking committee that the price control measure passed by the house, prior to war with Japan, would not prove effective in curbing "runaway prices or inflation." At the same time he said price control could not be accomplished by a proposal of Senator Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.] for a system of "enforced savings" under which the government would take 10 to 15 per cent of all wages and incomes in an effort to remove excess purchasing power.

Urges Realistic Control.

Henderson testified that realistic control over prices was just as necessary in a war program as a draft act, appropriations for the army and navy, and priorities.

National income has reached a rate of about 8 billion dollars monthly, he testified, and may rise to 9 billions next year.

He added that military spending reached 2 billions this month and would increase to 2 billion 700 millions monthly next year under present plans with a possible increase to 4 billions under an enlarged armament program known as the "victory program."

National income should reach 97 billions for this year and may mount to 110 or 120 billions in 1942, Henderson said.

Asks "Stop-Gap" Powers.

The price administrator asked:

Definite authority to pay "marginal producers" a higher price for needed commodities and the right to buy or sell these products.

A "stop-gap" authority to fix price ceilings for 60 days on any commodity by "freezing" existing prices until a hearing is held to set permanent ceilings under terms of the measure.

A provision stating that farm price ceilings shall not be lower than 100 per cent of parity, or prevailing prices on Oct. 1 of this year.

Elimination of a house provision for a price administration board of five members and concentration of these powers in a single administrator.

Authority to license sellers of commodities and power to revoke such licenses, subject to appeals and court reviews. The house deleted this power from the administration's bill.

CAPITAL STOCK ASSESSMENT IN COUNTY REDUCED

The 1941 capital stock assessment on 4,000 corporations in Cook county totals $48,434,324, a decrease of 2.6 per cent from the 1940 total of $49,719,340, the Illinois state tax commission announced yesterday. The capital stock valuation is an appraisal of the intangible or going value of a business, based on asset appraisals, earnings, and prices of bonds and stocks when available.

Comparative figures for the commission's assessment on Chicago utilities for 1941 and last year follow:

	1941.	1940.
Chicago Surf. Lines	$ 540,793	$ 519,500
Chicago Mot. Coach.	1,539,995	1,470,000
Comwlth Edison	14,934,670	13,656,200
Illinois Bell Tel.	241,850	168,350
Peoples Gas	1,249,500	1,023,400
Pub. Svc. of N. Ill.	9,940,134	9,625,000

Commission officials said there were approximately 300 fewer assessments this year. Most of these concerns were out of business but had not previously been removed from the rolls. The assessments will be certified today to County Clerk Michael J. Flynn who uses the property valuations in Cook county to compute the 1941 tax rates.

AUTO RADIO BAN LIFTED, COMPANY OFFICIALS SAY

Automobiles to be built after Jan. 1 will continue to be equipped with radios if the customers desire, automobile company officials said yesterday. Authorities at Washington earlier had indicated that radios would be forbidden as automobile equipment, but since then have made an indefinite extension of time during which auto radios may be installed.

One automobile company executive said that it is believed in Washington that an auto radio may be valuable equipment during the period of the national emergency, enabling authorities to communicate with car drivers.

Bright metal work, used for decorative purposes on cars, is scheduled to come off the autos produced after Jan. 1 to conserve metals for armaments.

Rail Express Agency Ordered to Accept Wage Boost Finding

As the threat of a strike of 42,000 employés of the Railway Express agency for higher wages appeared closer last night, Wayne Lyman Morse, chairman of the president's fact finding board, said in Chicago that he had been authorized by the White House to say the express agency "must accept" the board's recommendations for settlement of the dispute.

Morse's statement followed one made earlier by George M. Harrison, president of the AFL railway clerks' union, who said that unless some procedure were worked out for the union to become a party to the board's settlement the union would have no recourse but to strike.

Notice to Head of Agency.

Morse said he was attempting to reach L. O. Head, president of the express agency, in New York to notify him that "immediate and complete compliance will be expected before morning."

Harrison said he expected to talk by telephone with Head this morning.

The fact finding board recommended in its first report that the express employés be given wage increases of 7½ cents an hour. In its second report the board recommended an increase of 10 cents an hour. The express agency, which is owned by the railroads, has offered 8½ cents.

Morse is scheduled to meet at the Stevens hotel this morning with representatives of the 14 nonoperating unions and the railroads on the vacation question. The railways and the workers have agreed in principle to vacations with pay—based on length of service—but have been unable to agree on certain methods for making the vacations operative.

The 14 unions have refused to sign formal wage agreements with the railroads until the vacation question has been settled.

Peoria Road Tied Up.

Meanwhile traffic on the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad was halted yesterday because of labor trouble. No trains were operated over the road despite postponement of a strike which had been called for 11 a. m. yesterday. Officials of the road had cleared all freight from the line which spans the state from Hamilton, Ill., to Effner, Ind.

A conference between union and officials of the railroad is scheduled for 10 a. m. this morning in Washington. The brotherhoods are demanding that their members be given the same wage increases as were granted on other railroads in the recent recommendations of the fact finding board. About 100 employés are involved.

RAIL PROFITS CLIMB.

Reports of 137 class one steam railroads to the Interstate Commerce commission yesterday showed an aggregate net income for September of $59,324,070 after taxes and fixed charges compared with $31,139,331 in the same 1940 month. For the nine months ended Sept. 30 aggregate net income was $359,710,614, against $60,713,743 in the 1940 period.

FILM INDUSTRY SEEKS PEACE IN ALL ITS FIELDS

The motion picture industry yesterday took its first step toward establishing harmony between its producing, distributing, and exhibiting branches at a meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

A program committee of nine was appointed by Jack Kirsch, president of Allied Theaters of Illinois, Inc., and acting chairman of the joint conference of almost 100 representatives of various interests in the industry. The committee was instructed to develop a plan for presentation at a general meeting today by which the different branches will be unified and disputes settled.

The conference was sponsored by the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors representing independent theaters.

Friction between exhibitors and producers in the past arose from various trade practices such as block booking, which required exhibitors to buy for a year all films they had contracted for in advance without seeing them. Five leading film producers were restrained from these practices under a consent decree which ended anti-trust proceedings by the department of justice.

People and Events

A series of five weekly conferences on priorities and allocations conducted by the Central YMCA college school of commerce will start tonight. Malcolm R. Macdonald, district manager of the priorities field service of the Office of Production Management, and Lieut. Ormand Frieley of the army and navy munitions board will speak. The session will begin at 7 p. m. at 19 South La Salle street.

Willis G. Lipscomb has been named general sales manager of American Air Lines, Inc.

The meeting of the Economic club of Chicago, scheduled tomorrow night, was postponed indefinitely when word was received from Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney that the war situation will keep him in Washington. The senator was to have been the principal speaker.

Walter J. Cummings, chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Chicago, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Western Union Telegraph company.

George Emlen Roosevelt has been elected chairman of the board of directors of Investors Management company. He was one of the organizers of the company in 1924.

ASK 7,000 ILLINOIS MANUFACTURERS TO REGISTER FACILITIES

In a move to mobilize all available plant capacity in Illinois for the manufacture of armaments, Thomas S. McEwan, state manager of the Office of Production Management contract distribution division, yesterday sent requests to 7,000 manufacturing concerns in Illinois that they register their facilities.

"There are many plants in the state which previously did not file a schedule of their facilities with our office because they were operating on a business as usual basis," he said. "However, now that we are on a war footing we will need all available machines and skilled workers."

Floyd B. Odlum, director of the contract distribution division, was reported to have wired all state managers to accelerate efforts to uncover all machine capacity in their areas in anticipation of the unleashing of the largest war time production of arms in American history. The Illinois office with headquarters in Chicago already has 3,200 plants registered.

RESERVE BANKER SAYS BANKS ARE IN GOOD POSITION

Banks in the five state 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district have 676 million dollars of excess reserves and are in an unusually strong cash position to handle any banking situation that may arise as a result of the war, Clifford S. Young, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, said yesterday.

With the banks amply supplied with funds, there is little likelihood that they will take advantage of the reserve banks' standing offer to advance funds on United States government securities at par to all banks, he said.

National Boulevard Bank Is 20 Years Old Today

The National Boulevard Bank of Chicago is celebrating the 20th anniversary of its founding today. When organized the bank had a capital and surplus of $250,000, and total deposits of $1,132,694. Today its capital and surplus are 1 million dollars and total assets are $22,966,855.

RAILS WILL ASK MILLION DAILY MORE REVENUE

Seek Higher Fares, Freight Rates.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The railroads will seek about a million dollars a day in additional revenues to offset increased labor costs resulting from the recent wage boosts, it was announced yesterday at the fall meeting of the Association of American Railroads in the Stevens hotel.

John J. Pelley, president of the association, said petitions will be filed shortly with the Interstate Commerce commission asking authority to increase passenger fares 10 per cent and to put a flat percentage increase in effect on freight rates except for certain commodities. The larger part of the increased revenues to offset the higher labor costs—estimated at about 350 million dollars—will have to come from the freight revenues.

Seek Boosts as of Jan. 1.

Pelley declined to say what the percentage of increase in freight rates would be, but it was reported in railroad circles that the increase asked will approximate 10 per cent. Special commodities, such as coal, will be handled separately.

The railroads want the increases to be made effective as of Jan. 1, 1942. They will not seek to recover 1941 costs of the wage increases which were made retroactive to Sept. 1, 1941. This year's additional cost is estimated at 85 million dollars.

Increases sought in passenger fares will cover both coach and Pullman travel and also excursions and special trips. They will not be asked for military furlough tickets or for the extra fares charged on a few de luxe trains, such as the Super Chief and the Twentieth Century Limited.

Cost About 2 Mills a Mile.

A. F. Cleveland, traffic vice president of the association, estimated that the increased cost of passenger travel would amount to 2 mills a mile in coaches and 3 mills a mile in Pullmans.

Pelley also disclosed that the members of the association are placing orders for an extra 26,000 freight cars of various types for delivery before Oct. 1, 1942. This will place the number of freight cars on order for 1942 delivery at 113,000. The railroads will increase the number of locomotives on order by 304, bringing the total sought for 1942 delivery to 975. He said that the railroads have been experiencing delay in getting delivery on freight cars ordered, but hopes that materials will be made available to end this situation.

"With this additional equipment," he said, "we should be able to handle 19 per cent more business than this year and that's all the new business we can see ahead."

Elect 3 New Directors.

The association elected three new directors: C. E. Denney, president of the Northern Pacific; Wilson McCarthy, trustee, Denver and Rio Grande Western, and H. A. Scandrett, trustee, Milwaukee road.

It was announced that J. Carter Fort, who was attorney for the railroads in the recent wage dispute, has been made general counsel of the association to succeed R. V. Fletcher, who will retire from that position on Jan. 1. Fletcher will continue as a vice president of the association, however. J. M. Souby was named general solicitor for the association.

ISN'T THIS logical?

Putting sentiment entirely aside, and taking a strictly objective view of the present situation, investors should now make their decisions on these two fundamental questions:

1. Will the democracies win the war?
2. Will capitalism survive?

If the answer to either question is "no," what possible reason is there for assuming that wealth in one form ... even cash ... is safer than wealth in any other form?

Does it not follow logically that, by basing their decisions on the assumption of victory in the war and a survival of capitalism, investors are following the course likely to lead to conservation of purchasing power?

If to this realistic analysis is added even a modicum of faith and courage, a study of investments available at current markets should suggest interesting possibilities.

BIGGER YEAR-END PAYMENTS VOTED BY CORPORATIONS

Bliss & Laughlin Raises 1941 Total to $2.

Year-end dividends declared yesterday boosted the 1941 total for many corporations above last year's payments. In some instances dividends were substantially increased over preceding disturbances.

Directors of Bliss & Laughlin, Inc., Harvey, Ill., manufacturer of steel products, declared a dividend of $1.25, compared with three preceding quarterly payments of 25 cents each. Dividends this year total $2, against $1.50 in 1940. The regular quarterly payment of 37½ cents on the 5 per cent cumulative preferred shares also was authorized.

The Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, Chicago, declared a dividend of 25 cents payable Jan. 30. The company previously authorized a 20 cent dividend which is payable Dec. 20. The quarterly payment of $1.25 on the 5 per cent cumulative preferred shares also was authorized.

Dividends declared yesterday included the following:

AMERICAN FARM BUREAU PLEDGES ALL AID IN WAR

The American Farm Bureau federation pledged full support to President Roosevelt at its 23d annual convention in the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Edward A. O'Neal, president, declared that the nation's farmers will meet their responsibilities fully, knowing that food is "a weapon of war and an instrument of peace."

The convention was addressed last night by Assistant Secretary of State Breckenridge Long, who declared that Japan's attack on this country "instantaneously united the nation," and by Sen. John H. Bankhead [D., Ala.].

Earlier the federation heard Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard make a radio plea urging farmers to even greater production in 1942.

TIME PAYMENT CONCERNS SLOW IN REGISTERING

Must Acquire Licenses by End of Year.

More than 50,000 dealers and firms in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district will have to acquire licenses to continue in the instalment sales and instalment loan businesses after Jan. 1, but relatively few have registered, officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

At the same time the bank invited commercial banks and trade associations in Illinois and other states partly in the 7th district to send to the reserve bank or branch in their district for blank registration forms to distribute to customers or members.

Licenses Are Free.

"The blanks and the licenses themselves are free," J. H. Dillard, vice president of the reserve bank in charge of the licensing, said. He also invited business men to write individually to the bank for the form on which registration statements are filed.

The licenses are required under regulation W of the federal reserve board. In August, President Roosevelt issued an executive order empowering the board to regulate instalment sales and lending as part of the program for curbing inflation and credit. The regulation took effect Sept. 1, but all businesses continued to operate under a blanket license which will expire Dec. 31.

Regulation Explained.

Regulation W is the one under which the consumer was allowed not more than 18 months to pay for 24 general types of goods, including radios, automobiles, refrigerators, furniture, and similar items. The rule applies to small loans and to retail instalment accounts involving two or more payments.

The 12 federal reserve banks took over the task of issuing the licenses. The law provides penalties for willful failure of any person or firm to which it applies to obtain a license.

NATION ENTERS WAR WITH CIRCULATION OF MONEY AT NEW HIGH

Washington, D. C., Dec. 9 (AP).—The United States entered the second World war with the largest circulating supply of coin and currency in its history.

The treasury estimated today that the money in circulation aggregated $10,637,647,137, or an average of $79.54 for every man, woman, and child in the country.

This was the total of all money outside of the treasury or the 12 federal reserve banks but included money in the vaults of commercial banks as well as individuals in business.

Money in circulation has been rising steadily for over a year, and federal reserve officials said that now the total exceeds even the abnormal period of the 1933 banking holiday. Most of it is paper money, coins accounting for about one billion dollars.

BANK BOOSTS CAPITAL.

The capital stock of the State Bank of Clearing has been increased from $150,000 to $175,000, Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor of public accounts, announced.

DART VACANCY WITH WALGREEN TO BE UNFILLED

The general managership of the Walgreen company from which Justin W. Dart resigned Oct. 1, will be vacant when the directors elect officers for 1942 at the annual meeting today in the large drug store chain's offices at 744 Bowen avenue, it was learned yesterday. The stockholders' meeting will be held at 3 p. m.

Dart has joined the management of United Drug, Inc., to direct a study of that company's business. His position as general manager with Walgreen had been created for him, and will be discontinued, officials said.

COL. BOWDEN
Nationally Known Land Auctioneer,
Will Sell on the Property at PUBLIC AUCTION
Saturday, Dec. 20, at 2 P. M.
A 170 ACRE McHENRY COUNTY FARM, Owned by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hill of Todd School, Woodstock, Illinois. This attractive farm is located 7 mi. East of Woodstock; 5¼ mi. N. W. of Crystal Lake; 5¼ mi. S. W. of McHenry; 50 mi. N. W. of Chicago; 20 mi. to Barrington. HOW TO REACH THIS grain, dairy and stock FARM: Drive on Route 14 Northwest, until you reach Route 31, turn right on Route 31, go 1½ mi. to Route 176, turn left and follow red arrows on Auction sign until you reach the property. STOP. The soil map shows this farm contains wonderful soil for growing of alfalfa, red clover, alsyke, also corn, wheat, and oats. There is 100 Acres of the above soil; about 40 Acres in handsome timber, a portion of which is seeded in blue grass. Throughout this wooded tract there are some of the most attractive sites for superior homes. About 20 Acres of permanent pasture; 6 Acres in two beautiful lakes, several valuable springs of pure water; 4 Acres where the buildings stand. Nowhere could you purchase a farm where the whole family would be more pleased—it's a glorious place to live.
BUILDINGS would if erected today cost more than this desirable farm will sell for. WELL CONSTRUCTED AND INSULATED 7 room Brick House, 3 baths, 2 showers, hot water heat, stoker. Everything modern. This splendid home must be seen to be appreciated. It's just what the average family is looking for. Basement, good drinking water. DAIRY BARN is about as good as new, 32x90, steel stanchions, cap. 50 head of cattle, mow cap. 130 T. A good barn is the farmers Bank; 170 T. concrete silo, crib house, and mach. shed.
NOTICE: The potential value of this farm is beyond comparison. Buy it, make it one of the best little stock farms in the State. Cattle make you money while you sleep. Here is an opportunity to raise a bull or heifer that someday will sell for $4,000 apiece. Other men and women have done it, so can you Mr. Purchaser.
TERMS AND CONDITIONS: 15% of the Purchase price is to be paid as soon as the property is bid off. Balance and final settlement in 60 days. A mortgage can be arranged.
INFORMATION: Col. Bowden, Box 386, Oak Park, Ill. Ph. Berwyn 7257. Chicago office, Central 4069. Or Phone Roger Hill, Todd School, Woodstock 95. Residence 352-M. Open for Inspection every day.
KNOWN AS TODD SCHOOL FARM.
SURROUNDED BY VALUABLE FARMS OWNED BY CHICAGO PEOPLE.

Winter Bills
Don't let winter expenses get you head over heels in debt. Ask the Commonwealth manager to help you. He will show you how to arrange small, convenient payments on any bills you now owe. He will also go over, with you, the numerous extra items of expense that are associated with the winter season and show you how to pay for those things with the very least effort and inconvenience. By providing you with the cash to buy what you need now, he can protect you against rising prices and thus save you much more than the cost of the loan. Why not stop in today, or better yet, phone for complete details.

USED AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE.

Entirely Different Kind of Automobiles
There are ordinary used cars and there are good used cars, but Community Motors have different kind of cars. These are known as "Community Renewed" cars.
From top to bottom, front to back, inside and outside, every "Community Renewed" car is completely checked and reconditioned by our exclusive check over system in our own shops under the supervision of trained mechanics. Not one car leaves until it performs as Community Motors says it will—that's why "Community Renewed" cars are better and have made more than 200,000 satisfied customers.
And, best of all—a "Community Renewed" car costs no more than the average used car. In fact, it costs less!
All "Community Renewed" cars carry Community Motors famous Good Will Used Car Bond—a guarantee written in plain English, and we cheerfully live up to it.
It will pay you to buy a "Community Renewed" car. Inspect our fine selection of cars in nearly all makes and models. Prices are attractively low. Your present car will undoubtedly more than cover the down payment. We have just the car you want at a price you would want to pay.

A New War Map of the Pacific and Far East

This new color map of the western Pacific and the Far East shows the locations of numerous groups of islands and mainland areas that may play an important part in the war between America and Japan. Readers are advised to retain this map, which is the second of a new series of war maps presented by The Tribune, for the purpose of following the progress of the conflict.
